GOVERNMENT OF BRIAND RESIGNS

A CONFIDENCE VOTE REFUSED BY CHAMBER

Premier Defeated In Chamber of Deputies On Question of Confidence In Connection With Full Powers Financial Bill--Minority of 43 Votes.

PARIS, July 17.—(By the Associated Press.)—Premier Briand's tenth government resigned today after suffering a defeat in the chamber of deputies on its full powers financial bill.

PARIS, July 17. — (By the Associated Press.) — The Briand government was defeated in the chamber of deputies today on a question of confidence in connection with its full powers finance bill. The government was forty-three votes in the minority.

The vote was on the question of passing to discussion of the government's bill, article by article, and had been made a question of confidence by Finance Minister Caillaux. The official vote was given as 245 in favor of the government and 288 against.

Made Confidence Question.

PARIS, July 17.—(By the Associated Press.)—The full powers bill authorizing the French government to decree emergency measures to cope with the financial crisis was made a question of confidence by Finance Minister Caillaux in the chamber of deputies this afternoon.

An unofficial vote on the question of passing to the discussion of the bill, article by article, indicated a governmental minority of about fifty.

Briand and Herriot Clash.

PARIS, July 17.—(By the Associated Press.)—Premier Briand and Edouard Herriot, the radical leader, locked horns in one of the most memorable oratorical duels in the history of the republic this afternoon in the opening of debate on the government's bill demanding full power to settle the financial crisis by the issuance of decrees.

The debate began before a feverish house, which was treated to the unusual spectacle of the president of the chamber (Herriot) deserting his chair and mounting the rostrum to attack the government, as leader of his party group.

The action of the president of the chamber in leaving his post as impartial arbiter of the debate and resuming his place among the members of the radical-socialist group came as a surprise to many.

Search Pushed For Slayers Of a Canton, Ohio, Publisher.

Simple Services For Gunmen's Victim—Burial In Indiana.

CANTON, O., July 17.—(By the Associated Press.)—James M. Cox, former governor of Ohio and head of the News league of Ohio, at noon today posted a $5,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of "those responsible" for murder of Don R. Mellett and county commissioners posted a similar reward of $2,000 and the Cleveland News $1,000. Rewards offered now total $20,450.

No Clues Found.

CANTON, O., July 17.—(INS)—Although more than thirty hours have elapsed since the assassination of Don R. Mellett, 36, crusading publisher of the Canton News no clue has yet been turned up leading to the slayers.

The funeral of the slain publisher was to be held at noon today. Simple services were to be conducted at the home, by Rev. Richard F. Brundage, pastor of the Calvary Presbyterian church. The remains will then be taken by train to Indianapolis where services will be held on Monday with burial in an Indianapolis cemetery.

Mellett was opposed to display of any kind and his widow decided to

SOLDIERS FIGHT FOREST FLAMES

U. S. Army Called Upon to Combat Blazes In Washington and Montana.

Twelve Lives Lost In Fires Which Continue To Sweep Timberlands.

SEATTLE, July 17.—(By the Associated Press.)—Fires which have destroyed thousands of acres of Pacific northwest forest in the last week and taken twelve lives, today continued to sweep virgin stands of timber in eastern Washington, Montana and Idaho. Most blazes in western Washington and British Columbia were reported under control.

The United States army has been called upon to combat blazes in Kaniksu national forest in eastern Washington, it was reported from Spokane.

Prediction was made by officials at Missoula, Mont., that one-fourth of the Kaniksu forest, which covers 657,000 acres, would be razed if rain did not come soon. In the Pend Oreille forest near Bayview, Ida., ranch house were endangered and Sand Point, Ida., said its water supply was threatened by approaching flames.

Soldiers from Missoula are fighting fires in the Blackfeet national forest of Montana, near Glacier national park, where one blaze has covered more than 6,000 acres of timber. Throughout Idaho, Montana and eastern Washington the situation was declared steadily becoming worse.

Western British Columbia fires were extinguished or controlled with one exception—a blaze which defied a hundred fighters near Stillwater, B. C. Nelson, in eastern British Columbia, advised that of 267 fires which had broken out within a week 103 continued.

Many Claimed By Landslide

VIENNA, July 17.—(AP)—Reports from Belgrade say that between eighty and 100 persons were killed when a landslide buried a railroad train near Serajo, Bosnia.

The reports stated that a huge mass of earth loosened by recent heavy rains slid down upon the train and buried nearly all the coaches, smothering the passengers.

LOSE TRAIL OF BANK BANDITS

Three Robbers Force Officers and Customers Of Dorchester Institution To Lie On Floor and Carry Away $3,000.

BANDITS THOUGHT TO HAVE COME FROM IOWA

Answer Description Of Men Who Blew Standard Oil Filling Station Safe and Escaped In Stolen Chrysler Coach.

(Special to The Star)

DORCHESTER, Neb., July 17.—Three men driving a blue-gray Chrysler coach held up the Bank of Dorchester shortly after 3 o'clock Friday afternoon and escaped with about $3,000 in coin and currency.

Three officers of the bank and two customers were forced to lie on the floor while two of the bandits looted the cash drawers and safe. They then locked the five men in the vault and escaped in the car which was waiting for them outside the bank. The third member of the bandit trio remained in the car while the other two robbed the place.

Officers throughout southeastern Nebraska were on watch for the bandits during the afternoon and night but up to this morning no trace of them had been found.

The robbery seemed to have been staged in expert fashion except for the fact that in their haste to make a get-away the two bandits overlooked $5,000 which was lying in plain sight on one of the counters and in the vault.

Shortly after 3 o'clock the two men, dressed in overalls, entered the bank. They immediately ordered President J. W. Byers, Cashier E. H. Stech, Clerk Roy Crays and a customer, H. H. Henningson, to stick up their hands. One of the men climbed over a high counter and jumped into the cage while the other entered through the door. They made the men lie on their backs on the floor. One of the bandits covered them with a gun while the other rifled the safe and cash drawers. The money was put in the legs of overalls which had apparently been brought along by the robbers for the purpose.

Forced Into Vault.

The four men on the floor were told that they would not be hurt unless they made a noise. Just as the money had been gathered up, John Hubbard, a Dorchester youth,

PARENTS TRYING TO REGAIN CHILD

Would Have Two-Year Old Son Taken From Custody Of Grandmother.

Defendant Argues Home Environment Would Not Be Desirable.

A young mother who at first didn't want to take care of her baby son fought at her husband's side in District Judge Wheeler's court Saturday morning in a habeas corpus action brought against her mother to recover possession of the child.

The action was brought by Manfred L. Gorman, 23, and his wife, Diamond Gorman, against Mrs. Frances Semenec, asking that the court direct her to turn their child, Joseph, about 2 years old, to their custody.

Mrs. Gorman testified that when the baby first came she didn't want to care for it.

"I didn't know much about babies," she said, "and it was all new to me."

Now Wants Her Baby.

Later she said, this feeling changed and she now wants to take care of her own child. With a half-defiant smile she declared that she believed she was competent to do so.

Her mother came to live with the young couple about two weeks after the baby was born, she said, and with the exception of two weeks has lived with them continuously ever since, until this action was started.

The grandmother didn't want her daughter to take charge of the child, the latter testified, because she didn't know enough about such care.

Gorman testified that he had told his wife that until her mother left he would stay away from the home.

He has averaged about $20 a week in wages since they have been married, he said, although out of work a considerable part of the time. He now has a job with a construction company which pays him thirty-five cents an hour and he desires to establish a home, he stated.

The "whole trouble" Gorman de-

MARSHALL AGAIN FREED ON BOND

Cashier Of Papillion Bank At Liberty Until Last Of July.

PAPILLION, Neb., July 17.—(AP)—Charles E. Marshall, cashier of the state bank of Papillion, was released from custody here shortly before noon today on an $8,000 surety bond supplied by the General Casualty and Surety company of Detroit.

Marshall had been in custody since last Tuesday when his former bondsmen failed to renew his bond after his preliminary examination on charges of aiding in the bank's discrepancies had been continued. The present bond insures Marshall's liberty until July 30.

County Attorney Collins today said the state guaranty fund commission had considered offering a $200 reward for the capture of Edward C. Goerke, missing president of the bank who was reported last seen at Joplin, Mo.

No Trace of Balis.

PAPILLION, Neb., July 17—(AP)—Both Sarpy and Bellevue counties are "too poor" to offer a reward for the apprehension of Arthur Balis who is wanted here on a charge of forgery, County Attorney Collins said today.

Mrs. Balis said she had not heard from her husband since he disappeared.

SAM REYNOLDS VICTORY SEEN

Omaha Veteran Golfer Appears Likely Winner In State Tournament.

OMAHA FIELD CLUB, OMAHA, July 17.—(By the Associated Press.)—Sam Reynolds, Omaha Field club star and holder of the Nebraska golf championship six times, today appeared certain of annexing his seventh championship.

Playing in the finals of the 1926 state tourney, "Par Sam" had his youthful opponent, Jack Pollard, member of Omaha's famous "kid threesome," 3 down at the end of the morning's eighteenth hole play. Eighteen more holes will be played this afternoon, but with Sam living up to his reputation, shooting a steady par game, odds were piled up against Pollard.

The morning cards.

Reynolds experience in tournament play was very noticeable in this morning's play. Both men had good drives, but when it came to the treacherous greens Pollard appeared nervous and missed several apparently easy shots. The veteran Sam, however sailed along, playing a conservative game, pitching and sinking his putts with clock-like regularity.

Governor Will Vote In Person At Home Town

Governor McMullen expects to vote in person at his home town, Beatrice, on Primary day, August 10, instead of sending his vote by mail as state officials sometimes do. Because of this, he may not be in Lincoln to introduce United States Senator R. B. Howell before an Epworth assembly audience at 2:30 p. m. An invitation has reached the governor to present Mr. Howell.

"It would be a pleasure for me to introduce the senator to his audience," said Mr. McMullen, "but I may want to leave for Beatrice before the time set for him to speak. I campaigned with Mr. Howell two years ago, and he was very cordial in endorsing my candidacy."

The governor will probably accept an invitation to visit Orleans and speak at the old settlers' reunion there on August 5. He has these other dates scheduled:

Central City—August 11, at Merrick county homecoming celebration.

Diller—August 12. 30th annual community picnic.

Liberty—August 20, annual homecoming celebration.

Mr. McMullen owns several farms near Liberty, which he will visit and inspect when he goes there.

CALL ISSUED FOR DEMO CONVENTION IN GRAND ISLAND

Provision Made For 1,103 Delegates to Attend Meeting September 2.

Statement Shows Representation To Which Each County Entitled.

Grand Island, where a number of democratic state conventions that helped to make Nebraska history have been held during the past 16 years, will again be the meeting place of the bourbon hosts this year. A call for the gathering to take place in that city September 2, opening at 1 p. m., has been issued by Chairman T. S. Allen and Secretary S. C. Stoner of the democratic state committee.

Provision is made for 1,103 delegates, allowing 1 for each 125 votes cast for John W. Davis, the presidential candidate of the party in 1924. Of that number 83 are allotted to Lancaster county and 149 to Douglas. Nine sparsely populated counties are given 1 delegate each without reference to the 1924 vote on president.

Formulating and promulgating a party platform, selecting a state central committee, and transaction of other business properly coming before the convention are the matters to which the convention will devote itself under the call.

STATE PURCHASES LAND AT FREMONT

Gets 156 Acres Including Sandpits Assured of Constant Water Supply.

What state officials expect and believe will become the most popular fishing, camping and recreation ground in eastern Nebraska, open to the general public, has just been acquired by the state agriculture department through purchase of a strip of land 4 miles west of Fremont, 165 acres in extent and containing 8 sandpit lakes with a total surface area of 100 acres.

The land fronts a paved section of the Lincoln highway on the north and is bordered on the south by tracks of the Northwestern railroad. The Platte river runs a mile or two south of it. The strip is a mile and a half long, varying in width from one-eighth to one-fourth of a mile. There are some trees on it, with shrubbery and young trees growing here and there. Additional forestration will be provided by the state.

The lakes are already stocked with bass, crappies, and sunfish

AN ECONOMIC "CRISIS" GOAL OF CHURCHES

National League For Defense of Religious Freedom In Mexico Prepares For Vigorous Campaign Against New Regulations--Nationwide Boycott Urged.

MEXICO CITY, July 17.—(By the Associated Press.)—The National League for Defense of Religious Freedom has announced plans for vigorous campaign throughout Mexico against the new religious regulations when they become effective July 31.

It is declared the league intends to produce an "intense economic crisis," thus forcing the government to cease enforcement of the regulations.

A circular issued by the executive committee of the league appeals to all "liberty loving" Mexican people to open a campaign beginning July 31, to "create a grave situation, paralyzing as much as possible the economic and social life of the country."

The circular urges Mexican citizens to carry out a joint boycott by refusing to buy or advertise in newspapers supporting the league.

To Avoid Luxuries.

The people also are called upon to avoid luxuries, buying only necessities and these in the smallest possible quantities and avoid use of automobiles and other vehicles, refrain from attending private and public amusements, use the least possible amount of electricity, refuse to send their children to the public school and become active propagandists for the boycott, punishing those who attempt to break or weaken the campaign.

STORMS AND HEAT CLAIM HEAVY TOLL

Tornadoes, Hail Storms and Record Heat Account For Seven Known Deaths and Injuries To Scores In Minnesota and Wisconsin.

TEMPERATURE RECORDS IN NORTHWEST BROKEN

Twister Kills Three Persons And Does Heavy Property Damage, One Town Of 300 Virtually Demolished By Wind's Fury.

ST. PAUL, Minn., July 17.—(By the Associated Press.)—Tornadoes, hail storms and record heat claimed seven known dead and two score or more injured in Minnesota and northern Wisconsin yesterday.

Three persons perished in a tornado that swept across the northwestern tip of Wisconsin. Two persons were drowned near Minneapolis and another drowned in St. Paul, while a man died from effects of the heat in Minneapolis.

The tornado dead were Mabel Johnson, 15, Julia Johnson, 22, sister of Mabel, and Irvine Anderson, 12, all of Ashland, Wis.

Albert Hegert, 13, of St. Paul drowned in a lake here while swimming. Howard Haeg, 22, of Richfield, Minn., and A. Wilker, 25, of Maxwell Bay were drowned in Lake Minnetonka, near Minneapolis. Arthur Pfiffer, 70, Minneapolis, died there from heart disease aggravated by the heat.

Heat records for twenty-five years or more were broken throughout the northwest, with the average temperature yesterday well over the 100 mark.

Windom, Minn., reported an unofficial mark of 110, with Lamberton, Minn., a close second with 108. In the Twin Cities it was 102.3. Mitchell, S. D., reported 104, and Huron had 102.

Tornado Loss Big.

ASHLAND, Wis., July 17.—(AP)—A check up of casualties following the tornado which tore through this district last night showed three dead and eleven injured, many farm buildings demolished, a steel railroad bridge torn up and the buildings of one town of 300 a mass of wreckage. The amount of property damage is unestimated.

A large truck driven by C. A. Hufferman of Emerald collided with the car driven by C. P. Gallagher, 1102 E street, about 6:30 p. m. Friday badly damaging the Gallagher car and slightly injuring E. C. Stackman, 2142 South Fourteenth street.

Mr. Gallagher was driving west on South street when the truck came out from a driveway at Fifth street and crashed into the lighter car. Mr. Stackman who was riding in the car with Gallagher was taken to the home of his daughter, Mrs. D. A. Wilcox, 623 South street. His foot and side were slightly injured in the collision.

CALL ANOTHER CORN MEETING

CHICAGO, July 17.—(By the Associated Press.)—Representatives of corn belt farmers will meet in Des Moines, Ia., Monday and Tuesday for the first time since congress adjourned without granting them the relief demanded at a meeting of agriculturists, bankers, manufacturers and others from eleven states there several months ago.

The twenty-six members of the corn belt committee, comprised of farmer organization leaders from North and South Dakota, Iowa, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, Illinois, Oklahoma and Kansas will meet Monday with the executive committee of the American Council of Agriculture, whose nineteen members are residents in each of the states named and Indiana and Michigan in addition, making eleven states represented. Six men are members of committees.

On Tuesday the thirty-nine members of those two committees will meet with the committee of twenty-two, formed at the last general meeting in Des Moines, to represent bankers, manufacturers and other businesses interested in the farmers' condition.

"The meeting should result in working out a definite relationship between all farm organization and said Chester Davis, member of the groups of representatives of those interested in the farmers' welfare," board of directors of the Illinois Agriculture association Friday.

IMPROVEMENT FOR 1925 SEEN AFTER SURVEY

Betterment During Past Twelve Months Over Preceding Three Years Shown By Department of Agriculture After Study In All Sections of U. S.

WASHINGTON, July 17.—(By the Associated Press.)—The department of agriculture's annual survey found "further improvement in the financial condition of farmers in 1925 over the preceding three years," it announced today.

Receipts from 15,300 farmers in all parts of the country show an average net return of $1,297 for those farms, it said. The average size of the farms was 304 acres, with an average investment of $17,149.

"Average gross receipts were $2,551, consisting of $993 from crop sales, $887 from sales of livestock, $585 from sales of livestock products and $76 from miscellaneous products.

"Average current cash expenses totalled $1,477, consisting of $386 for hired labor, $242 for livestock bought, $244 for feed bought, $69 for fertilizer, $47 for seed, $791 for taxes, $118 for new machinery and tools and $179 for miscellaneous items.

No Allowance for Labor.

"Receipts less cash expenses averaged $1,074, in addition to which the farmer used home grown food products valued at an average of $283. The value of fuel and house rent was not reported. On the other hand no allowance has been made in the expense items for the labor of the farmer and his family, which was estimated by the farmers at an average value of $782.

"The cash balance of $1,074 represented all the cash the average farm made available to the owner-operator to pay his living expenses, take care of debts and make improvements.

"The farmers reported an increase of $223 in inventory values, which figure, added to the cash balance of $1,074, made a farm net return of $1,297. Out of this amount $225 was paid as interest on indebtedness and $227 was spent for improvements.

"The farm net return of $1,297 for 1925 compared with $1,205 for 15,103 farms in 1924; $1,020 for 16,156 farms in 1923 and $917 for 6,094 farms in 1922. Both receipts and expenses have increased each year during the four year period."

RATE DECISION WELCOMED HERE

Outcome of the railroad 5 per cent freight rate case which has been pending for nearly a year before the interstate commerce commission is regarded by Chairman Browne of the Nebraska railway commission as a very substantial victory for the group of western states which opposed the request of the carriers.

The Nebraska commission donated the services of its rate expert, C. G. Powell and its special counsel, Hugh Lamaster, to the preparation of the states' testimony and exhibits combatting the increase.

"The decision is not a surprise as it was clearly shown that the railroads, generally speaking, did not need higher rates to enable them to make a fair return on their investments," Mr. Browne said. "Of course, there are a few weak ones that are not making money, but the average revenue was shown to be ample for their needs.

"There is no question that the situation of the western carriers has been rapidly improving in recent months. This is reflected by the market for their securities, as well as by their own statements of earnings.

"The Hoch-Smith inquiry initiated by congress looking toward a reduction of rates on agricultural products and some other commodities is not yet concluded. Even though nothing should come of it, the states and shippers have won an important victory by defeating the proposed 5 per cent advance in freight rates.

"This automatically disposes of applications which were filed by the carriers with the commissions of other states, asking to have rates increased 5 per cent within the states to correspond with the hoped-for increase on interstate rates."

VIENNA, July 17.—(AP)—Reports from Belgrade say that between eighty and 100 persons were killed when a landslide buried a railroad train near Serajo, Bosnia.

The reports stated that a huge mass of earth loosened by recent heavy rains, slid down upon the train and buried nearly all the coaches, smothering the passengers.

MARSHALL AGAIN FREED ON BOND

Cashier Of Papillion Bank At Liberty Until Last Of July.

PAPILLION, Neb., July 17—(AP)—Charles E. Marshall, cashier of the state bank of Papillion, was released from custody here shortly before noon today on an $8,000 surety bond supplied by the General Casualty and Surety company of Detroit.

Marshall had been in custody since last Tuesday when his former bondsmen failed to renew his bond after his preliminary examination on charges of aiding in the bank's discrepancies had been continued. The present bond insures Marshall's liberty until July 30.

County Attorney Collins today said the state guaranty fund commission had considered offering a $200 reward for the capture of Edward C. Goerke, missing president of the bank who was reported last seen at Joplin, Mo.

No Trace of Balis.

PAPILLION, Neb., July 17—(AP)—Both Sarpy and Bellevue counties are "too poor" to offer a reward for the apprehension of Arthur Balis who is wanted here on a charge of forgery, County Attorney Collins said today.

Mrs. Balis said she had not heard from her husband since he disappeared.

LOSE TRAIL OF BANK BANDITS

Three Robbers Force Officers and Customers Of Dorchester Institution To Lie On Floor and Carry Away $3,000.

BANDITS THOUGHT TO HAVE COME FROM IOWA

Answer Description Of Men Who Blew Standard Oil Filling Station Safe and Escaped In Stolen Chrysler Coach.

(Special to The Star.)

DORCHESTER, Neb., July 17.—Three men driving a blue-gray Chrysler coach held up the Bank of Dorchester shortly after 3 o'clock Friday afternoon and escaped with about $3,000 in coin and currency.

Three officers of the bank and two customers were forced to lie on the floor while two of the bandits looted the cash drawers and safe. They then locked the five men in the vault and escaped in the car which was waiting for them outside the bank. The third member of the bandit trio remained in the car while the other two robbed the place.

Officers throughout southeastern Nebraska were on watch for the bandits during the afternoon and night but up to this morning no trace of them had been found.

The robbery seemed to have been staged in expert fashion except for the fact that in their haste to make a get-aaway the two bandits overlooked $5,000 which was lying in plain sight on one of the counters and in the vault.

Shortly after 3 o'clock the two men, dressed in overalls, entered the bank. They immediately ordered President J. W. Byers, Cashier E. H. Stech, Clerk Roy Crays and a customer, H. H. Henningson, to stick up their hands. One of the men climbed over a high counter and jumped into the cage while the other entered through the door. They made the men lie on their backs on the floor. One of the bandits covered them with a gun while the other rifled the safe and cash drawers. The money was put in the legs of overalls which had apparently been brought along by the robbers for the purpose.

Forced Into Vault.

The four men on the floor were told that they would not be hurt unless they made a noise. Just as the money had been gathered up, John Hubbard, a Dorchester youth,

PARENTS TRYING TO REGAIN CHILD

Defendant Argues Home Environment Would Not Be Desirable.

A young mother who at first didn't want to take care of her baby son fought at her husband's side in District Judge Wheeler's court Saturday morning in a habeas corpus action brought against her mother to recover possession of the child.

The action was brought by Manfred L. Gorman 23, and his wife, Diamond Gorman, against Mrs. Frances Semenec, asking that the court direct her to turn their child, Joseph, about 2 years old, to their custody.

Mrs. Gorman testified that when the baby first came she didn't want to care for it.

"I didn't know much about babies," she said, "and it was all new to me."

Now Wants Her Baby.

Later she said, this feeling changed and she now wants to take care of her own child. With a half-defiant smile she declared that she believed she was competent to do so.

Her mother came to live with the young couple about two weeks after the baby was born, she said, and with the exception of two weeks has lived with them continuously ever since, until this action was started.

The grandmother didn't want her daughter to take charge of the child, the later testified, because she didn't know enough about such care.

Gorman testified that he had told his wife that until her mother left he would stay away from the home.

He has averaged about $20 a week in wages since they have been married, he said, although out of work a considerable part of the time. He now has a job with a construction company which pays him thirty-five cents an hour and he desires to establish a home, he stated.

SAM REYNOLDS VICTORY SEEN

Omaha Veteran Golfer Appears Likely Winner In State Tournament.

OMAHA FIELD CLUB, OMAHA, July 17.—(By the Associated Press.)—Sam Reynolds, Omaha Field club star and holder of the Nebraska golf championship six times, today appeared certain of annexing his seventh championship.

Playing in the finals of the 1926 state tourney, "Par Sam" had his youthful opponent, Jack Pollard, member of Omaha's famous "kid threesome," 3 down at the end of the morning's eighteenth hole play. Eighteen more holes will be played this afternoon, but with Sam living up to his reputation, shooting a steady par game, odds were piled up against Pollard.

The morning cards.

Reynolds	4	4	4	5	3	5	5	3	3—	36
Pollard	4	5	5	4	5	5	5	3	3—	39

Reynolds	4	4	3	4	6	3	4	5	4—	37—73
(Par.)
Pollard	6	4	4	4	4	4	5	5	4—	38—77

Reynolds' experience in tournament play was very noticeable in this morning's play. Both men had good drives, but when it came to the treacherous greens, Pollard appeared nervous and missed several apparently easy shots. The veteran Sam, however sailed along, playing a conservative game, pitching and sinking his putts with clock-like regularity.

Governor Will Vote In Person At Home Town

Governor McMullen expects to vote in person at his home town, Beatrice, on Primary day, August 10, instead of sending his vote by mail, as state officials sometimes do. Because of this, he may not be in Lincoln to introduce United States Senator R. B. Howell before an Epworth assembly audience at 2:30 p. m. An invitation has reached the governor to present Mr. Howell.

"It would be a pleasure for me to introduce the senator to his audience," said Mr. McMullen, "but I may want to leave for Beatrice before the time set for him to speak. I campaigned with Mr. Howell two years ago, and he was very cordial in endorsing my candidacy."

The governor will probably accept an invitation to visit Orleans and speak at the old settlers' reunion there on August 5. He has these other dates scheduled:

Central City—August 11, at Merrick county homecoming celebration.

Diller—August 12, 30th annual community picnic.

Liberty—August 20, annual homecoming celebration.

Mr. McMullen owns several farms near Liberty, which he will visit and inspect when he goes there.

CALL ISSUED FOR DEMO CONVENTION IN GRAND ISLAND

Provision Made For 1,103 Delegates to Attend Meeting September 2.

Statement Shows Representation To Which Each County Entitled.

Grand Island, where a number of democratic state conventions that helped to make Nebraska history have been held during the past 16 years, will again be the meeting place of the bourbon hosts this year. A call for the gathering to take place in that city September 2, opening at 1 p. m., has been issued by Chairman T. S. Allen and Secretary S. C. Stoner of the democratic state committee.

Provision is made for 1,103 delegates, allowing 1 for each 125 votes cast for John W. Davis, the presidential candidate of the party in 1922. Of that number, 93 are allotted to Lancaster county and 149 to Douglas. Nine sparsely populated counties are given 1 delegate each, without reference to the 1924 vote on president.

Formulating and promulgating a party platform, selecting a state central committee, and transaction of other business properly coming before the convention are the matters to which the convention will devote itself under the call.

Allen's Statement.

Gets 156 Acres Including Sandpits Assured of Constant Water Supply.

What state officials expect and believe will become the most popular fishing, camping and recreation ground in eastern Nebraska, open to the general public, has just been acquired by the state agriculture department through purchase of a strip of land 4 miles west of Fremont, 165 acres in extent and containing 8 sandpit lakes with a total surface area of 100 acres.

The land fronts a paved section of the Lincoln highway on the north and is bordered on the south by tracks of the Northwestern railroad. The Platte river runs a mile or two south of it. The strip is a mile and a half long, varying in width from one-eighth to one-fourth of a mile. There are some trees on it, with shrubbery and young trees growing here and there. Additional forestration will be provided by the state.

The lakes are already stocked with bass, crappies, and sunfish

National League For Defense of Religious Freedom In Mexico Prepares For Vigorous Campaign Against New Regulations--Nationwide Boycott Urged.

MEXICO CITY, July 17.—(By the Associated Press.)—The National League for Defense of Religious Freedom has announced plans for vigorous campaign throughout Mexico against the new religious regulations when they become effective July 31.

It is declared the league intends to produce an "intense economic crisis," thus forcing the government to cease enforcement of the regulations.

A circular issued by the executive committee of the league appeals to all "liberty loving" Mexican people to open a campaign beginning July 31, to "create a grave situation, paralyzing as much as possible the economic and social life of the country."

The circular urges Mexican citizens to carry out a joint boycott by refusing to buy or advertise in newspapers supporting the league.

To Avoid Luxuries.

The people also are called upon to avoid luxuries, buying only necessities and these in the smallest possible quantities and avoid use of automobiles and other vehicles, refrain from attending private and public amusements, use the least possible amount of electricity, refuse to send their children to the public school and become active propagandists for the boycott, punishing those who attempt to break or weaken the campaign.

STORMS AND HEAT CLAIM HEAVY TOLL

TEMPERATURE RECORDS IN NORTHWEST BROKEN

Twister Kills Three Persons And Does Heavy Property Damage, One Town Of 300 Virtually Demolished By Wind's Fury.

ST. PAUL, Minn., July 17.—(By the Associated Press.)—Tornadoes, hail storms and record heat claimed seven known dead and two score or more injured in Minnesota and northern Wisconsin yesterday.

Three persons perished in a tornado that swept across the northwestern tip of Wisconsin. Two persons were drowned near Minneapolis and another drowned in St. Paul, while a man died from effects of the heat in Minneapolis.

The tornado dead were Mabel Johnson, 18, Julia Johnson, 23, sister of Mabel, and Irvine Anderson, 12, all of Ashland, Wis.

Albert Hegert, 13, of St. Paul, drowned in a lake here while swimming. Howard Haeg, 22, of Richfield, Minn., and A. Wilker, 25, of Maxwell Bay, were drowned in Lake Minnetonka, near Minneapolis. Arthur Pfiffer, 70, Minneapolis, died there from heart disease aggravated by the heat.

Heat records for twenty-five years or more were broken throughout the northwest, with the average temperature yesterday well over the 100 mark.

Winndom, Minn., reported an unofficial mark of 116, with Lamberton, Minn., a close second with 108. In the Twin Cities it was 102.3. Mitchell, S. D., reported 104, and Huron had 102.

Tornado Loss Big.

ASHLAND, Wis., July 17.—(AP)—A check up of casualties following the tornado which tore through this district last night showed three dead and eleven injured, many farm buildings demolished, a steal railroad bridge torn up and the buildings of one town of 300 a mass of wreckage, the amount of property damage is unestimated.

One Occupant Is Hurt When Truck And Auto Collide

A large truck driven by C. A. Hufferman, of Emeraid collided with the car driven by C. P. Gallagher, 1102 H street, about 8:30 p. m. Friday badly damaging the Gallagher car and slightly injuring E. C. Stackman, 2142 South Fourteenth street.

Mr. Gallagher was driving west on South street when the truck came out from a driveway at Fifth street and crashed into the lighter car. Mr. Stackman who was riding in the car with Gallagher was taken to the home of his daughter, Mrs. D. A. Wilcox, 623 South street. His foot and side were slightly injured in the collision.

CALL ANOTHER CORN MEETING

CHICAGO, July 17.—(By the Associated Press.)—Representatives of corn belt farmers will meet in Des Moines, Ia., Monday and Tuesday for the first time since congress adjourned without granting them the relief demanded at a meeting of agriculturists, bankers, manufacturers and others from eleven states there several months ago.

The twenty-six members of the corn belt committee, comprised of farmer organization leaders from North and South Dakota, Iowa, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, Illinois, Oklahoma and Kansas will meet Monday with the executive committee of the American Council of Agriculture, whose nineteen members are residents in each of the states named and Indiana and Michigan in addition, making eleven states represented. Six men are members of committees.

On Tuesday the thirty-nine members of those two committees will meet with the committee of twenty-two, formed at the last general meeting in Des Moines, to represent bankers, manufacturers and other business interested in the farmers' condition.

"The meeting should result in working out a definite relationship between all farm organization and said Chester Davis, member of the groups of representatives of those interested in the farmers' welfare," board of directors of the Illinois Agriculture association Friday.

IMPROVEMENT FOR 1925 SEEN AFTER SURVEY

Betterment During Past Twelve Months Over Preceding Three Years Shown By Department of Agriculture After Study In All Sections of U. S.

WASHINGTON, July 17.—(By the Associated Press.)—The department of agriculture's annual survey found "further improvement in the financial condition of farmers in 1925 over the preceding three years," it announced today.

Receipts from 15,300 farmers in all parts of the country show an average net return of $1,297 for those farms, it said. The average size of the farms was 304 acres, with an average investment of $17,149.

"Average gross receipts were $2,551, consisting of $993 from crop sales, $897 from sales of livestock, $585 from sales of livestock products and $76 from miscellaneous products.

"Average current cash expenses totalled $1,477, consisting of $386 for hired labor, $242 for livestock bought, $244 for feed bought, $69 for fertilizer, $47 for seed, $191 for taxes, $118 for new machinery and tools and $179 for miscellaneous items.

No Allowance for Labor.

"Receipts less cash expenses averaged $1,074, in addition to which the farmer used home grown food products valued at an average of $282. The value of fuel and house rent was not reported. On the other hand no allowance has been made in the expense items for the labor of the farmer and his family, which was estimated by the farmers at an average value of $792.

"The cash balance of $1,074 represented all the cash the average farm made available to the owner-operator to pay his living expenses, take care of debts, and make improvements.

"The farmers reported an increase of $223 in inventory values, which figure, added to the cash balance of $1,074, made a farm net return of $1,297. Out of this amount $225 was paid as interest on indebtedness and $127 was spent for improvements.

"The farm net return of $1,297 for 1925 compared with $1,205 for 15,103 farms in 1924; $1,020 for 16,186 farms in 1923 and $917 for 6,094 farms in 1922. Both receipts and expenses have increased each year during the four year period."

RATE DECISION WELCOMED HERE

Outcome of the railroad 5 per cent freight rate case, which has been pending for nearly a year before the interstate commerce commission, is regarded by Chairman Browne of the Nebraska railway commission as a very substantial victory for the group of western western states which opposed the request of the carriers.

The Nebraska commission donated the services of its rate expert, L. G. Powell, and its special counsel, Hugh Lamaster, to the preparation of the states' testimony and exhibits combatting the increase.

"The decision is not a surprise, as it was clearly shown that the railroads, generally speaking, did not need higher rates to enable them to make a fair return on their investments," Mr. Browne said. "Of course, there are a few weak ones that are not making money, but the average revenue was shown to be ample for their needs.

"There is no question that the situation of the western carriers has been rapidly improving in recent months. This is reflected by the market for their securities, as well as by their own statements of earnings.

"The Hoch-Smith inquiry initiated by congress looking toward a reduction of rates on agricultural products and some other commodities is not yet concluded. Even though nothing should come of it, the states and shippers have won an important victory by defeating the proposed 5 per cent advance in freight rates.

"This automatically disposes of applications which were filed by the carriers with the commissions of other states, asking to have rates increased 5 per cent within the states to correspond with the hoped-for increase on interstate rates."

Dismisses Charge — Municipal Judge Chappell Saturday morning dismissed C. D. Ammon from a charge of passing an arterial stop button when Ammon's small son testified for his father. Ammon pleaded not guilty. Officer Gross testified that the defendant failed to come to a complete stop at a button at Twenty-seventh and South street. The small boy when asked by his father what they did when they came to the stop button, said, "We came to a complete stop and shifted gears into low."

Asks Modification — Ernest J. Ludi filed a petition in District court Saturday morning asking modification of the decree of divorce granted Daisy Ludi against him in December, 1923. He alleges that since that time she has married Karl Ruegnitz and is at present conducting a beauty shop in Denver. He is now paying $50 a month for the support of the two children, in her custody. The boy is now 17, the petition states, and is earning wages as a musician. He is willing to contribute $10 a month to the support of the daughter until she is 18. Ludi has also remarried.

Get Complaints On Pop Stands

Complaints against pop stands along the curbs were being made to the members of the city council Saturday from all sections of the city. In almost every instance requests were made that the stands be ordered removed.

It was said at the city hall that the stands have been permitted on condition that they are located far enough from the curb that they do not endanger traffic at intersections, and provided they are on the property of the person operating them.

So many complaints had been received Saturday that inspectors have been sent out to investigate whether the stands are complying with the regulations.

Deaths

Richard J. Thomas, 29, died at 8:35 a. m. Saturday at his home in the LaFayette apartments, 318 South Twelfth street. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Zelma Thomas, two sisters, Mrs. Albert Chamberlain, Eden, Mo., and Mar. Elmer Grainger, Chapel Hill, N. C., two brothers, Edward Thomas, Pittsfield, Ill., and Harold Thomas, Terre Haute, Ind. Mr. Thomas was a salesman for the Sherwin-Williams Paint Co. in the South Platte territory of this state. He is a member of the Elks lodge, No. 80. The body is being held at Wadlow's where funeral services will be held at 3.30 p. m. Sunday. The body will be taken on Monday to Quincy, Ill., for further services and burial on Tuesday. Rev. Ray E. Hunt will officiate at the local services.

The body of John Keller, former resident of Lincoln who died last Sunday in Seattle, will arrive in Lincoln Sunday noon and be held at Roberts funeral parlors pending arrangements. Burial will be in Calvary.

SAY CAMPAIGN AGAINST CRIME BROUGHT DEATH

Assassins Of Ohio Publisher Thought Vengeful For Editorials.

All Police Working On Case; Find No New Trace Of Murderers.

CANTON, O., July 17.—(By the Associated Press.)—Don R. Mellett, 36, publisher of the Canton News, was assassinated early Friday at his garage door presumably as the result of his editorial campaign against alleged crime and corruption in Canton. The slaying, it is generally believed, was committed by some one of the underworld. No one has been arrested yet.

Meanwhile federal, state, county and city agencies have stirred themselves in behalf of justice and the unravelling of the mystery.

From the offices of A. E. Bernsteen, United States attorney, Cleveland, it was learned that the federal government may take a hand inasmuch as Mellett had been a witness against men later convicted of peddling narcotics.

From Columbus, Gov. Vic Donahey has dispatched his personal representative, C. H. Sisson, to serve as an onlooker in the inquiry.

County and city officials met and decided yesterday that all information of the progress of the investigation shall be cloaked in severest secrecy.

Council Plans Reward.

The city council is ready to meet in special session for the purpose of offering a reward for capture and conviction of the slayers.

Already $11,000 reward has been offered in an attempt to bring the slayers to justice.

Practically every police officer in Canton has been assigned to the case.

But there is no more evidence, so far as can be learned, than when the publisher's body was found crumpled on the ground at the door of his garage after the fusillade of five shots had brought his wife and some friends to his side. One bullet, entering his skull, had killed him.

A neighbor said that he heard two men running up a side street just after the shots were fired. Another neighbor Thursday had seen a strange automobile, bearing a Pennsylvania license, on a nearby corner. It was a touring car with curtains, he said. The trail, for the present at least, ends there.

State Takes Hand.

COLUMBUS, O., July 17.—(By the Associated Press.)—The state took a hand in efforts to bring to justice the assassins of Don R. Mellett, publisher of the Canton Daily News, late Friday when the legislative office dispatched C. H. Sisson, Governor Donahey's personal investigator, to Canton to keep him informed of the progress being made to apprehend and prosecute the slayer.

Declaring the murdered publisher having been a "martyr to a great cause," Attorney General C. C. Crabbe last night issued a statement in which he said that Mellett had "given up his life fighting the lawless element, which if not destroyed will undermine our government."

It was revealed at the executive office yesterday that Mr. Mellett had conferred with Governor Donahey for more than an hour July 7 relative to crime conditions in Canton, against which he was conducting an unrelenting fight. He protested to the executive against release from state prison of Harry Turner and Harry Bouklias, who are serving time for perjury committed at a grand jury investigation of crime conditions there some two years ago.

First White Twins In Dodge County Living On Coast

(Special to The Star.)

FREMONT, Neb., July 17.—Mrs J. S. Copper of Portland, Ore., and Mrs. Robert B. Wilson of Oregon City, the first white twins ever born in Dodge county, Nebraska, are still alive and well, according to W. H. Fowler, who has just heard from them through Mrs. A. E. Littlechild, wife of a pioneer Fremont dentist. Mrs. Cooper and Mrs. Wilson are now 70 years of age. They were born in a cottage just west of Fremont, July 8, 1856. Their whereabouts has been unknown to their former Fremont friends for many years.

Native Nebraska Pioneer Is Called

BLAIR, Neb., July 17.—(AP)—James E. Maher 67, Nebraska pioneer, died Friday from heart disease. Mr. Maher was born at Cummins City, a few miles from Blair, October 27, 1858, and had lived here most of his life. His longest absence from the county was a period of six days.

Among the interesting events of Maher's life was his first trip to Omaha when, in 1858, he was taken there in an ox-cart to be baptized. The trip required five days.

His widow, four sons and three daughters survive.

Coolidge, of Course.

By Arthur Brisbane.

J. Clydesdale, "third rate butcher," jumped off the British ship Majestic and is dead. His job was taking care of the pet dogs of passengers. Every dog paid $10 a day board. The man that took care of these pets got $45 a month. Ten dollars a day for a dog's expenses, $45 a month for a man with a family. Passengers raised $1,500 for the man's wife and seven children. That's civilization.

If you have the right kind of stock, you may go to bed and forget your troubles. The American Telephone & Telegraph company is earning at the rate of 12 per cent not 16 per cent. Mr. Ellsworth wants you to know that.

Western Union is earning at the rate of 14 per cent.

The Baltimore & Ohio last year earned above 12 per cent, more than $12.00 a share on more than $151,000,000 of common stock, beside interest on preferred stock.

Why invest money in foreign bonds? Buy America first.

When an officer told him of some wonderful achievement, Napoleon would say: "Excellent. What did you do the next days?"

Helen Wills comes from Europe loaded with laurels and, next day, starts training on the nearest tennis court.

Nobile, fine Italian airman, returns from his trip over the North Pole and, next day, plans a flight from Italy to Argentina.

That's why Helen Wills is a champion and Nobile is a great flyer. Ceaseless energy is the mainspring to success.

Senator Cummins, to whom the whole world looks like that famous picture, "A Gray Lowery Day," predicts that President Coolidge will not run in 1928. Defeated in the senatorial primaries, Senator Cummins is gloomy about others.

President Coolidge is the natural candidate for the republican party in 1928, and will be nominated for his second elective term. Republicans of good judgment know that they will need him in 1928, particularly if a strong man like W. G. McAdoo or Governor Al Smith is nominated by the democrats.

Republicans will not forget when President Coolidge in 1924 carried New York state with a vote of 1,820,508. Governor Smith's vote was 1,627,111 beating Roosevelt, the republican candidate for governor by more than 100,000 votes. If Smith could do that, running for governor, with Coolidge on the republican ticket, what would he do at the head of the democratic ticket with Coolidge absent from the fight? The republicans will need in 1928 the man that got 1,820,508 New York votes in 1924.

New York's Tammany authorities are said to plan a tax on visitors from out of town, a sort of "cover charge" of ten cents a week on all hotel residents, to help pay the city's expenses.

That hardly seems worthy of the biggest, richest city in the biggest, richest country. It is probably only part of a plan to break gently the news that New York's five-cent fare is to be increased.

"A dry force of 150 will mop up New York." It must be a good, dry force, considering that, according to prohibition authorities, there are 15,000 speak-easies in New York City alone.

And millions of gallons of so-called "denatured" alcohol are made over every year into perfectly good and thoroughly poisonous bootleg whisky.

Foreign Stone To Still Be Used On Graves In France

WASHINGTON, July 17.—(AP)—Protests by domestic marble and granite producers against the use of foreign stones to permanently mark the graves of American soldiers buried in Europe were definitely rejected Friday by Secretary of War Davis, when he approved the contract which gives the award to Italian carrara marble bidders.

In making the award he followed the recommendations of the American battle monuments commission, headed by General Pershing. The commission decided that bids on the carrara marble were not only the lowest in point of cost, but would aid in expediting placement of the crosses in the cemeteries abroad. The Italian crosses will be delivered at the various cemeteries at a cost to the government of $14.50 each.

The secretary expressed the hope that the permanent markers could be set up over the graves in the larger cemeteries before the American Legion held its convention in Paris next September.

It was declared that had the award been given American producers the cost would have been increased approximately $2,000,000 and the delay in their preparation and transportation to Europe would have been at least a year.

Former New York Governor Heads Bar Association

DENVER, Colo., July 1 .—(AP)—The American Bar association closed its three day session here yesterday with unanimous election of former Governor Charles S. Whitman of New York, as the fiftieth president of the organization.

Frederick E. Wadhams of Albany N. Y., was re-elected treasurer of the association for the twenty-sixth consecutive time, and William McCracken of Chicago was re-elected secretary.

The election of former Governor Whitman upset pre-election predictions. Up to the hour the general counsel, which acts as a nominating committee, convened, George B. Wickersham, former United States attorney general, was conceded to be the leading candidate. His withdrawal came after a spirited fight during which it was pointed out that his elevation to the presidency of the bar association would give him two of the highest offices in the organization, since he already heads the American Law institute, an affiliated body. A third mentioned candidate —Jefferson P. Chandler of Los Angeles, was not nominated.

MRS. M'PHERSON STRIKES BACK AT HER ATTACKERS

Evangelist's Headquarters Announce Five Thousand Attend Revival.

Lawyer Introduces Affidavit That Blue Sedan Belonged to Another.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 17.—(By the Associated Press.)—Aimee Semple McPherson whose story of kidnaping, imprisonment and torture between May 18 and June 23, was attacked by five witnesses testifying at the grand jury investigation Thursday, struck back two ways at her attackers Friday.

One reply was religious, the other was legal. Angelus temple, the evangelist's headquarters, opened the day with the announcement that despite the hulabloo and controversy over their leader's kidnaping narrative, there had been more than five thousand persons at the McPherson revival meeting Thursday night and that 136 converts had yielded to the "altar call."

Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, mother of Mrs. McPherson, commented cryptically and Biblically on the adverse grand jury testimony of Thursday with the remark: "The fires of hell are burning and they must burn themselves out, but we are not afraid."

Only Statement Made.

This was the temple's only statement concerning Thursday's evidence that Mrs. McPherson had been seen in two places after she had been reported drown before she turned up at Agua Prieta, Mexico, with the tale that she was kidnaped and miprisoned.

The second and legal barrage came from Arthur Veitch, attorney for the evangelist, who produced an affidavit made by Mrs. G. R. Umphrey that her's was the "blue sedan" which newspaper men and police had traced along the Mexican border in the belief that Mrs. McPherson had travelled in it prior to her arrival at Douglas from points south in the Mexcian desert June 23.

Affidavit Attacked.

The affidavit immediately became the object of scrutiny and attack by newspaper investigators who had been on the "blue sedan" trail. They said the machine was not the same make which they had been seeking, that its license number did not tally with that of the "blue sedan" sought and that its movements, as reported by Mrs. Umphrey, did not correspond with the movements of the car which had excited suspicion along the international boundary.

Kenneth Ormiston, Mrs. McPherson's former radio operator and friend, whose name has been linked intermittently with the evangelists disappearance, still remained unlocated Friday. He was reported to be in North Carolina, but H. D. Hallenbeck, another of Mrs McPherson's friends and her former building superintendent, said that Ormiston was "not far away" and could be produced in time for resumption of the grand jury inquiry next Tuesday.

Superior Judge Arthur Keetch reiterated his declaration that the grand jury could make no report on its investigation unless it indicated the alleged kidnapers of the evangelist.

AL SMITH VISITS COOLIDGE'S CAMP

New York Governor And Wife Eat Trout Caught By President.

PAUL SMITH'S N. Y., July 17.—(By the Associated Press.)—With the formality attending ceremonies of state, Gov Alfred E. Smith of New York, and Mrs Smith were received at White Pine Camp, the summer white house, Friday to pay their respects and extend to the President and Mrs. Coolidge an invitation on behalf of the state to the Adironacks.

Escorted to the summer white house in the automobile of President Coolidge from Paul Smith's hotel, four miles away, by Capt. Wilson Brown, jr., naval aide to the president, in dress uniform, they were saluted at the entrance of the camp by the detachment of marines guarding the president, which was drawn up with guns at present.

The president and Mrs. Coolidge awaited them within the main cabin of the camp, the governor and Mrs Smith entering and being presented by Captain Brown. Then the four were left alone for a luncheon, the principal course of which was brook trout caught Thursday by Mr. Coolidge himself.

Nothing was permitted to disturb the seclusion of the camp during the luncheon, not even photographers being allowed, but later members of the family of Governor and Mrs. Smith, as well as friends who had come with them to Paul Smith's, were invited to the camp and paid their respects to the president and Mrs. Coolidge.

After the luncheon and before the arrival of the other guests, opportunity was afforded for the president and Mrs. Coolidge to take the governor and Mrs. Smith on a motor ride about Lake Osgood. The president pointed out to the governor good fishing spots.

WESTERN ROADS ARE REFUSED A RATE INCREASE

Commerce Commission Declares No Financial Emergency Exists.

Body Admits Many Inequalities In Rate Structures Needing Correction.

WASHINGTON, July 17.—(By the Associated Press.)—Declaring that no financial emergency exists in the western district as a whole, the interstate commerce commission today denied the application of the railroads in that territory for a blanket increase of 5 per cent in freight rates.

It also denied the petition of security holders of northwestern carriers for an additional 15 per cent horizontal increase in rates in western trunk line territory, and held the earnings of the roads in the west as a whole had not been such as to warrant at this time a general downward revision of rates on farm products, including livestock.

The commission admitted, however, that there are many inequalities in the rates structures in certain sections of the west which should be corrected, and said its conclusions, are without prejudice to the determination of issues in its general investigation of the country's freight rates as ordered by congress.

View of Commission.

While fuller information was said to be necessary before any action can be taken as to rates on agricultural products, which it was specifically reqquired to investigate under terms of the Hoch-Smith resolution, the commission suggested that the roads, in proposing rate changes to improve earnings or rectify inequalities, should ask no advances in rates on farm products except where particular charges need adjustment to remove inconsistencies or where it can be shown that the product is not affected by depression.

Carriers in the west, the commission said, appear to be both "financially and physically sound," although it was added that certain of the important carriers in the northwestern region and in western trunk line territory were not yielding 5.75 per cent, the figure held by it to be a fair return, upon any rate basis that could reasonably be adopted in advance of a final determination of present values for rate making purposes.

Improvement Seen.

The least favorable conditions, so far as carrier revenues are concerned, the commission said, appear to exist in western trunk-line territory. It was added, however, that in the entire western district conditions had recently shown an "improving tendency."

Provisions in section 15A of the transportation, act, directing the commission to initiate, modify, establish or adjust rates so that carriers may earn a fair return were described as not relieving the railroads from the primary duty of "initiating' 'rates. That function, the commission said, belongs to management and not to regulation.

"It is the right and the duty of the carriers," it asserted, "to take the steps necessary to correct improper rate relations as they may be found to exist, and to supply revenue deficiencies by initiating suitable changes in rates."

"Not only did the carriers fail to present evidence with respect to the need for changes in individual rates between particular points or on particular classes of traffic," it continued, "but no state commission, shipper, security holder, or other representative of the public or of particular interests who appeared offered any feasible suggestions of this character."

Cars Rushed To Handle Heaped Up Wheat Of Kansas

KANSAS CITY, July 17.—(AP)—With thousands of bushels of the 120,000,000 Kansas wheat crop piled in the open because of lack of transportation facilities, railroads are rushing trains of empty boxcars into the grain belt in an effort to prevent damage from sun and rain.

Harvesting of the bumper crop has exhausted storage facilities and as the piles of wheat increased along the railroad right of ways, farmers and bankers found the situation acute. Demands for cars deluged railroad officers already taxed by movement of grain from other states.

Reinforced with extra crews, railroad officials concentrated on speeding the unloading of wheat at terminals and prompt dispatching of cars to the production centers.

COMMANDER OF LEGION COMING

John R. McQuigg Will Speak At Chamber Of Commerce Monday.

Local Post's Welcoming Committee To Escort Guest to State Capitol.

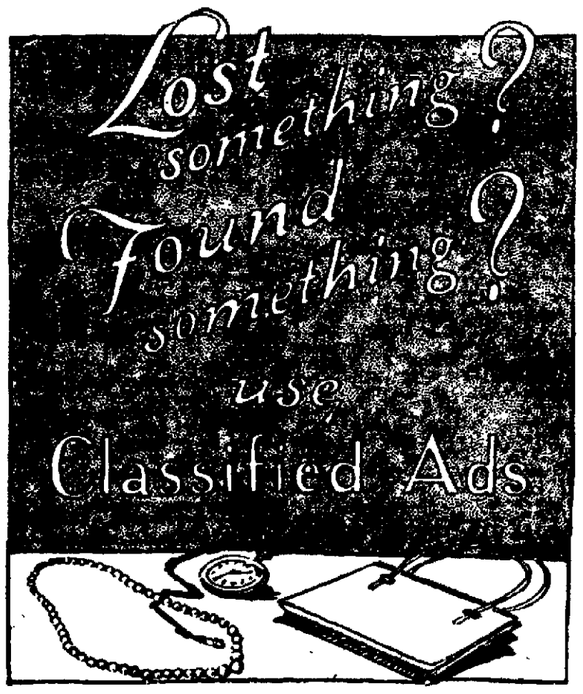

John R. McQuigg, national commander of the American Legion will arrive in Lincoln on the Burlington from Omaha at 9:40 a. m. Sentenced to Jail—Municipal Judge Chappell sentenced Ralph M. Gettman to thirty days in the county jail Saturday morning when the man pleaded guilty to a charge of passing a no-fund check for $8.50 at Fruide's pharmacy, Twelfth and M streets.

Bankruptcy Petition—Robert H. Van DeVenter, a laborer living in Lincoln, has filed a petition in bankruptcy in Federal court. He claims that his debts amount to $598 and that his assets total $920 of which $770 is in insurance. He asks exemption in the amount of $650.

To Appear Tuesday—Ted Wright and Albert Carr, who were arrested Friday night in a car with a third man who is said to have escaped were charged in municipal court Saturday with disturbing the peace, and their hearing set down for Tuesday. They pleaded not guilty. They furnished bonds of $200 each.

Sentence Deferred.—F. S. Drumm pleaded guilty to a charge of passing a no-fund check when he was arraigned in municipal court Saturday morning, and sentence was deferred until Tuesday. Drumm was released on $500 personal recognizance bond. The complaint charged drawing a bad check for $30.

Financial Statement—City Treasurer Gillespie Saturday filed with the city clerk his financial statement for June. The report shows funds on hand aggregating $374,987, deposited in Lincoln banks and with Kountz Bros. New York City. A balance of $32,200 is shown in the water and light department sinking fund of which $19,200 is carried in the water sinking fund. An overdraft of $6,077 is shown in the inspection fund.

Dismisses Charge — Municipal Judge Chappell Saturday morning dismissed C. D. Ammon from a charge of passing an arterial stop button when Ammon's small son testfied for his father. Ammon pleaded not guilty. Officer Gross testified that the defendant failed to come to a complete stop at a button at Twenty-seventh and South street. The small boy when asked by his father what they did when they came to the stop button, said, "We came to a complete stop and shifted gears into low."

Asks Modification — Ernest J. Ludi filed a petition in District court Saturday morning asking modification of the decree of divorce granted Daisy Ludi against him in December, 1923. He alleges that since that time she has married Karl Ruegnitz and is at present conducting a beauty shop in Denver. He is now paying $50 a month for the support of the two children, in her custody. The boy is now 17, the petition states, and is earning wages as a musician. He is willing to contribute $10 a month to the support of the daughter until she is 18. Ludi has also remarried.

Get Complaints On Pop Stands

Complaints against pop stands along the curbs were being made to the members of the city council Saturday from all sections of the city. In almost every instance requests were made that the stands be ordered removed.

It was said at the city hall that the stands have been permitted on condition that they are located far enough from the curb that they do not endanger traffic at intersections, and provided they are on the property of the person operating them.

So many complaints had been received Saturday that inspectors have been sent out to investigate whether the stands are complying with the regulations.

State Takes Hand.

COLUMBUS, O., July 17.—(By the Associated Press.)—The state took a hand in efforts to bring to justice the assassins of Don R. Mellett, publisher of the Canton Daily News, late Friday when the legislative office dispatched C. H. Sisson, Governor Donahey's personal investigator, to Canton to keep him informed of the progress being made to apprehend and prosecute the slayer.

Declaring the murdered publisher having been a "martyr to a great cause," Attorney General C. C. Crabbe last night issued a statement in which he said that Mellett had "given up his life fighting the lawless element, which if not destroyed will undermine our government."

It was revealed at the executive office yesterday that Mr. Mellett had conferred with Governor Donahey for more than an hour July 7 relative to crime conditions in Canton, against which he was conducting an unrelenting fight. He protested to the executive against release from state prison of Harry Turner and Harry Bouklias, who are serving time for perjury committed at a grand jury investigation of crime conditions there some two years ago.

First White Twins In Dodge County Living On Coast

(Special to The Star.)

FREMONT, Neb., July 17.—Mrs. J. S. Copper of Portland, Ore., and Mrs. Robert B. Wilson of Oregon City, the first white twins ever born in Dodge county, Nebraska, are still alive and well, according to W. H. Fowler, who has just heard from them through Mrs. A. E. Littlechild, wife of a pioneer Fremont dentist. Mrs. Cooper and Mrs. Wilson are now 70 years of age. They were born in a cottage just west of Fremont, July 8, 1856. Their whereabouts has been unknown to their former Fremont friends for many years.

Native Nebraska Pioneer Is Called

BLAIR, Neb., July 17.—(AP)—James E. Maher 67, Nebraska pioneer, died Friday from heart disease. Mr. Maher was born at Cummins City, a few miles from Blair, October 27, 1858, and had lived here most of his life. His longest absence from the county was a period of six days.

Among the interesting events of Maher's life was his first trip to Omaha when, in 1858, he was taken there in an ox-cart to be baptized. The trip required five days.

His widow, four sons and three daughters survive.

GRAVEL AT JANSEN.
(Special to The Star.)

BEATRICE, Neb., July 17.—The village board of Jansen has voted to gravel the main street of the town from the railroad tracks to the Goldenrod highway. Bids are being asked for the work.

Dogs and the Man.
Buy America First.
The Next Day.
Coolidge, of Course.

By Arthur Brisbane.

J. Clydesdale, "third rate butcher," jumped off the British ship Majestic and is dead. His job was taking care of the pet dogs of passengers. Every dog paid $10 a day board. The man that took care of these pets got $45 a month. Ten dollars a day for a dog's expenses, $45 a month for a man with a family. Passengers raised $1,500 for the man's wife and seven children. That's civilization.

If you have the right kind of stock, you may go to bed and forget your troubles. The American Telephone & Telegraph company is earning at the rate of 12 per cent not 16 per cent. Mr. Ellsworth wants you to know that.

Western Union is earning at the rate of 14 per cent.

The Baltimore & Ohio last year earned above 12 per cent, more than $12.00 a share on more than $151,000,000 of common stock, beside interest on preferred stock.

Why invest money in foreign bonds? Buy America first.

When an officer told him of some wonderful achievement, Napoleon would say: "Excellent. What did you do the next days?"

Helen Wills comes from Europe loaded with laurels and, next day, starts training on the nearest tennis court.

Nobile, fine Italian airman, returns from his trip over the North Pole and, next day, plans a flight from Italy to Argentina.

That's why Helen Wills is a champion and Nobile is a great flyer. Ceaseless energy is the mainspring to success.

Senator Cummins, to whom the whole world looks like that famous picture, "A Gray Lowery Day," predicts that President Coolidge will not run in 1928. Defeated in the senatorial primaries, Senator Cummins is gloomy about others.

President Coolidge is the natural candidate for the republican party in 1928, and will be nominated for his second elective term. Republicans of good judgment know that they will need him in 1928, particularly if a strong man like W. G. McAdoo or Governor Al Smith is nominated by the democrats.

Republicans will not forget when President Coolidge in 1924 carried New York state with a vote of 1,820,508. Governor Smith's vote was 1,627,111 beating Roosevelt, the republican candidate for governor by more than 100,000 votes. If Smith could do that, running for governor, with Coolidge on the republican ticket, what would he do at the head of the democratic ticket with Coolidge absent from the fight? The republicans will need in 1928 the man that got 1,820,508 New York votes in 1924.

New York's Tammany authorities are said to plan a tax on visitors from out of town, a sort of "cover charge" of ten cents a week on all hotel residents, to help pay the city's expenses.

That hardly seems worthy of the biggest, richest city in the biggest, richest country. It is probably only part of a plan to break gently the news that New York's five-cent fare is to be increased.

"A dry force of 150 will mop up New York." It must be a good, dry force, considering that, according to prohibition authorities, there are 15,000 speak-easies in New York City alone.

And millions of gallons of so-called "denatured" alcohol are made over every year into perfectly good and thoroughly poisonous bootleg whisky.

Foreign Stone To Still Be Used On Graves In France

WASHINGTON, July 17.—(AP)—Protests by domestic marble and granite producers against the use of foreign stones to permanently mark the graves of American soldiers buried in Europe were definitely rejected Friday by Secretary of War Davis, when he approved the contract which gives the award to Italian carrara marble bidders.

In making the award he followed the recommendations of the American battle monuments commission, headed by General Pershing. The commission decided that bids on the carrara marble were not only the lowest in point of cost, but would aid in expediting placement of the crosses in the cemeteries abroad. The Italian crosses will be delivered at the various cemeteries at a cost to the government of $14.50 each.

The secretary expressed the hope that the permanent markers could be set up over the graves in the larger cemeteries before the American Legion held its convention in Paris next September.

It was declared that had the award been given American producers the cost would have been increased approximately $2,000,000 and the delay in their preparation and transportation to Europe would have been at least a year.

Former New York Governor Heads Bar Association

DENVER, Colo., July 1 ,—(AP)—The American Bar association closed its three day session here yesterday with unanimous election of former Governor Charles S. Whitman of New York, as the fiftieth president of the organization.

Frederick E. Wadhams of Albany N. Y., was re-elected treasurer of the association for the twenty-sixth consecutive time, and William McCracken of Chicago was re-elected secretary.

The election of former Governor Whitman upset pre-election predictions. Up to the hour the general counsel, which acts as a nominating committee, convened, George B. Wickersham, former United States attorney general, was conceded to be the leading candidate. His withdrawal came after a spirited fight during which it was pointed out that his elevation to the presidency of the bar association would give him two of the highest offices in the organization, since he already heads the American Law institute, an affiliated body. A third mentioned candidate — Jefferson P. Chandler of Los Angeles, was not nominated.

MRS. M'PHERSON STRIKES BACK AT HER ATTACKERS

Evangelist's Headquarters Announce Five Thousand Attend Revival.

Lawyer Introduces Affidavit That Blue Sedan Belonged to Another.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 17.—(By the Associated Press.)—Aimee Semple McPherson whose story of kidnaping, imprisonment and torture between May 18 and June 23, was attacked by five witnesses testifying at the grand jury investigation Thursday, struck back two ways at her attackers Friday.

One reply was religious, the other was legal. Angelus temple, the evangelist's headquarters, opened the day with the announcement that despite the hulabloo and controversy over their leader's kidnaping narrative, there had been more than five thousand persons at the McPherson revival meeting Thursday night and that 138 converts had yielded to the "altar call."

Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, mother of Mrs. McPherson, commented cryptically and Biblically on the adverse grand jury testimony of Thursday with the remark: "The fires of hell are burning and they must burn themselves out, but we are not afraid."

Only Statement Made.

This was the temple's only statement concerning Thursday's evidence that Mrs. McPherson had been seen in two places after she had been reported drown before she turned up at Agua Prieta, Mexico, with the tale that she was kidnaped and miprisoned.

The second and legal barrage came from Arthur Veitch, attorney for the evangelist, who produced an affidavit made by Mrs. G. R. Umphrey that her's was the "blue sedan" which newspaper men and police had traced along the Mexican border in the belief that Mrs. McPherson had travelled in it prior to her arrival at Douglas from points south in the Mexcian desert June 23.

Affidavit Attacked.

The affidavit immediately became the object of scrutiny and attack by newspaper investigators who had been on the "blue sedan" trail. They said the machine was not the same make which they had been seeking, that its license number did not tally with that of the "blue sedan" sought and that its movements, as reported by Mrs. Umphrey, did not correspond with the movements of the car which had excited suspicion along the international boundary.

Kenneth Ormiston, Mrs. McPherson's former radio operator and friend, whose name has been linked intermittently with the evangelists disappearance, still remained unlocated Friday. He was reported to be in North Carolina, but H. D. Hallenbeck, another of Mrs. McPherson's friends and her former building superintendent, said that Ormiston was "not far away" and could be produced in time for resumption of the grand jury inquiry next Tuesday.

Superior Judge Arthur Keetch rieterated his declaration that the grand jury could make no report on its investigation unless it indicated the alleged kidnapers of the evangelist.

AL SMITH VISITS COOLIDGE'S CAMP

New York Governor And Wife Eat Trout Caught By President.

PAUL SMITH'S N. Y., July 17.—(By the Associated Press.)—With the formality attending ceremonies of state, Gov. Alfred E. Smith of New York, and Mrs. Smith were received at White Pine Camp, the summer white house, Friday to pay their respects and extend to the President and Mrs. Colidge an invitation on behalf of the state to the Adironacks.

Escorted to the summer white house in the automobile of President Coolidge from Paul Smith's hotel, four miles away, by Capt. Wilson Brown, jr., naval aide to the president, in dress uniform, they were saluted at the entrance of the camp by the detachment of marines guarding the president, which was drawn up with guns at present.

The president and Mrs. Coolidge awaited them within the main cabin of the camp, the governor and Mrs. Smith entering and being presented by Captain Brown. Then the four were left alone for a luncheon, the principal course of which was brook trout caught Thursday by Mr. Coolidge himself.

Nothing was permitted to disturb the seclusion of the camp during the luncheon, not even photographers being allowed, but later members of the family of Governor and Mrs. Smith, as well as friends who had come with them to Paul Smith's, were invited to the camp and paid their respects to the president and Mrs. Coolidge.

After the luncheon and before the arrival of the other guests, opportunity was afforded for the president and Mrs. Coolidge to take the governor and Mrs. Smith on a motor ride about Lake Osgood. The president pointed out to the governor good fishing spots.

WESTERN ROADS ARE REFUSED A RATE INCREASE

Commerce Commission Declares No Financial Emergency Exists.

Body Admits Many Inequalities In Rate Structures Needing Correction.

WASHINGTON, July 17.—(By the Associated Press.)—Declaring that no financial emergency exists in the western district as a whole, the interstate commerce commission today denied the application of the railroads in that territory for a blanket increase of 5 per cent in freight rates.

It also denied the petition of security holders of northwestern carriers for an additional 15 per cent horizontal increase in rates in western trunk line territory, and held the earnings of the roads in the west as a whole had not been such as to warrant at this time a general downward revision of rates on farm products, including livestock.

The commission admitted, however, that there are many inequalities in the rates structures in certain sections of the west which should be corrected, and said its conclusions, are without prejudice to the determination of issues in its general investigation of the country's freight rates as ordered by congress.

View of Commission.

While fuller information was said to be necessary before any action can be taken as to rates on agricultural products, which it was specifically reqquired to investigate under terms of the Hoch-Smith resolution, the commission suggested that the roads, in proposing rate changes to improve earnings or rectify inequalities, should ask no advances in rates on farm products except where particular charges need adjustment to remove inconsistencies or where it can be shown that the product is not affected by depression.

Carriers in the west, the commission said, appear to be both "financially and physically sound," although it was added that certain of the important carriers in the northwestern region and in western trunk line territory were not yielding 5.75 per cent, the figure held by it to be a fair return, upon any rate basis that could reasonably be adopted in advance of a final determination of present values for rate making purposes.

Improvement Seen.

The least favorable conditions, so far as carrier revenues are concerned, the commission said, appear to exist in western trunk-line territory. It was added, however, that in the entire western district conditions had recently shown an "improving tendency."

Provisions in section 15A of the transportation act, directing the commission to initiate, modify, establish or adjust rates so that carriers may earn a fair return were described as not relieving the railroads from the primary duty of "initiating' 'rates. That function, the commission said, belongs to management and not to regulation.

"It is the right and the duty of the carriers," it asserted, "to take the steps necessary to correct improper rate relations as they may be found to exist, and to supply revenue deficiencies by initiating suitable changes in rates."

"Not only did the carriers fail to present evidence with respect to the need for changes in individual rates between particular points or on particular classes of traffic," it continued, "but no state commission, shipper, security holder, or other representative of the public or of particular interests who appeared offered any feasible suggestions of this character."

Cars Rushed To Handle Heaped Up Wheat Of Kansas

KANSAS CITY, July 17.—(AP)—With thousands of bushels of the 120,000,000 Kansas wheat crop piled in the open because of lack of transportation facilities, railroads are rushing trains of empty boxcars into the grain belt in an effort to prevent damage from sun and rain.

Harvesting of the bumper crop has exhausted storage facilities and as the piles of wheat increased along the railroad right of ways, farmers and bankers found the situation acute. Demands for cars deluged railroad officers already taxed by movement of grain from other states.

Reinforced with extra crews, railroad officials concentrated on speeding the unloading of wheat at terminals and prompt dispatching of cars to the production centers.

COMMANDER OF LEGION COMING

John R. McQuigg Will Speak At Chamber Of Commerce Monday.

Local Post's Welcoming Committee To Escort Guest to State Capitol.

John R. McQuigg, national commander of the American Legion will arrive in Lincoln on the Burlington from Omaha at 9:40 a. m. Monday and be taken directly from there to the state house to talk with Governor McMullen who is planning to leave the city at 10 o'clock. At noon a luncheon will be held at the chamber of commerce at which Mr. McQuigg will be the principal speaker and he leaves here by auto at 2 o'clock for Grand Island.

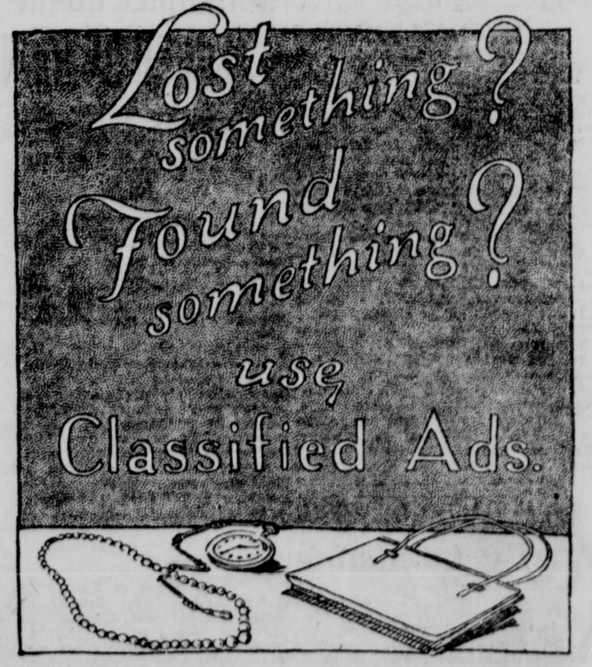

In the party with the national commande is James Barton, national adjutant, J. R. Kinder, state commander and C. W. Conklin, state adjutant.

Ex-service men, American Legion men, members of the Legion auxiliary and the public are invited to attend the luncheon. The committee in charge of arrangements consisting of R. L. Oddie, Elmer LaFollette and R. C. Van Kirk urges those who expect to attend to make their reservations early Monday morning at either the chamber of commerce or at the Legion headquarters, 133 South Twelfth street.

The following have been appointed as a welcoming committee to meet Mr. McQuigg at the depot and escort him to the state house and on a sightseeing tour about the city: Frank O'Connell, M. L. Wheat Being Held By Some Farmers

(Special to The Star.)

BEATRICE, Neb., July 17.—While much new wheat is being thrown on the market here and elsewhere in the county, growers are holding a portion of the crop for better prices, believing it will go to $1.50 a bushel by fall. The price is $1.24 and $1.25, an increase of about 5 cents during the past few days. Most of the grain is of excellent quality, weighing from 60 to 62 pounds to the bushel and grading No. 1 and No. 2 hard. A number of cars have been shipped this week to the Kansas City markets.

Aviator Injured Making Landing

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., July 17.—(AP)—O. E. Evans, commercial aviator, escaped serious injury here Friday night when forced to land and was unable, after once having passed and recognized it, to find the landing field, owing to the hazy atmosphere, and the darkness. Landing in a field west of the city the plane struck a grain stack, breaking the propeller and doing other slight damage, painful bruises about the head, arms and limbs and pain in the chest were suffered by the aviator, who expects, however, to resume his trip to North Platte from Fort Crook, in a few days.

OMAHA, July 17. — Kenneth Kinder and Charles Pullman were nursing minor injuries today but thankful for their miraculous escape in an accident here last night.

The two were automobile riding when the car struck a broken trolly wire. The car was lifted up in front and then spun around. Kinder said he tried to shut off the gas but his arm was paralyzed. A moment later the auto was hurtled against a gasoline filling station, badly wrecked. Kidder escaped with a stiff arm and Pullman with cuts on the lips.

Farm Home Struck By Lightning and Burns To Ground

COLUMBUS, Neb., July 17.—(AP)—Four persons had a narrow escape from death and their home was burned to the ground when the residence on a ranch near Silver Creek, owned by the C. H. Sheldon company here, was struck by lightning last night.

G. W. Waldron, tenant, his wife and son, Howard, and the hired man, Joe Carter, were in the kitchen when the lightning bolt struck the northeast corner of the roof, passed through a bedroom upstairs and grounded through the kitchen pump. Carter was stunned, fell to the floor, but soon revived. Others escaped injury. In passing through the bedroom, the lightning set fire to the bed clothes and the flames spread quickly, destroying the house.

ISSUE PERMIT FOR ADDITION

Improvement Project at Lincoln High School To Cost $260,000.

Two building permits aggregating $300,000 were issued by Building Inspector Peck Saturday. One was for the erection of an addition to the high school at Twenty-second and J streets at a cost of $260,000 and the other for the remodeling of the building at 1315-21 N street. This latter building will be two stories and is to be occupied by Freadrich Bros.

The high school addition will be one story and basement 287 by 166 feet on the ground, and will be of the same material as the old building.

The basement space will be used principally for storage purposes, according to the architect's plans. On the main floor will be eight class rooms, five on the west and three on the east. There will also be a large inside class room, and shops for wood workers, electrical students, and a machine and printing shop. Space is likewise assigned for offices, cafeteria and kitchen, a mechanical drawing department and two large art rooms.

Ammezzanine floor the length of the south side will have four lecture rooms, a moulder's practice room and a storage battery shop.

Wide corridors are located at each end between the class rooms and the main section of the building through the center of which there is another corridor.

ORDER RATES ON SUGAR REDUCED

Interior Nebraska Cities Benefit By Commerce Commission Ruling.

WASHINGTON, July 17.—Rates on sugar from New Orleans to Superior, Fairbury, Hastings, Grand Island, Columbus, Kearney, Norfolk, North Platte, Scottsbluff and Crawford, Neb., have been found unreasonable to a certain extent by the interstate commerce commission.

Rates on the same commodity from California, Utah-Idaho territory, and New Orleans to Rapid City, Deadwood and Lead, S. D., were found unduly prejudicial in some respects. Non-prejudicial rates were ordered prescribed in both instances.

Railroads were asked to establish on or before September 27, rates to the Nebraska points not exceeding those applicable from New Orleans to Kansas City and St. Joseph, Mo., Omaha, and Sioux City, Iowa, or to any of them as the through route may run, by more than 8 cents a hundred pounds to Fairbury, 10c to Hastings, 12 cents to Grand Island or by more than 13c to Columbus or Kearney.

Rates to Superior and Norfolk, the commission said, should not exceed those to Kansas City, St Joseph, Omaha and Sioux City by more than 8 cents for Superior or 15 cents to Norfolk

Rates to the South Dakota points, the commission asserted should not exceed those applicable from New Orleans to Omaha and Sioux City by more than 31 cents a hundred pounds to Rapid City or more than 33 cents to Deadwood or Lead.

MORE INDICTED ON POLL FRAUD

Fifty-five Now Charged With Irregularities In Cook County Primaries.

CHICAGO, July 17.—(By the Associated Press.) — Naming forty-four election judges and clerks for conspiracy and making a false canvass in the Cook county primary election of last April, a special grand jury investigating vote frauds brought to fifty-five yesterday the number of persons charged with irregularities in the tabulation of ballots cast at the primary.

The persons named Friday in eight indictments sent to Chief Justice Lynch of the Criminal court included William Paselli, state representative, and Harry Hockstein, Deneen faction committeeman.

Bail of the persons indicted was fixed at from $1,500 to $2,000 for each one named. Among them are five women who were officers at the polls.

Charles A. MacDonald, special prosecuting attorney in charge of the vote fraud grand jury, announced that Friday's indictments were "just a beginning" and that they touched principally on discoveries made in one ward, the twentieth, where two Crowe-Barrett republican leaders, Morris Eller and his son, Judge Emmanuel Eller, have been drawn into testimony before the jury.

The recount thus far has shown every faction the beneficiary of illegal votes. Two factions competed for the nomination in each party, the Crowe-Barrett and the Deneen groups in the republican fold, and the Brennan and Dunne-Harrison groups in the democratic ranks. The Crowe-Barrett group has been the heaviest loser in the recount

Wessel Files Suit To Secure Refund On Federal Taxes

A suit against the Federal government to recover $13,958 alleged to have been paid in income taxes which should not have been collected, has been filed in Federal court by Sam Wessel, owner of the Western Furniture & Manufacturing company of Lincoln.

Wessel claims that he made a return for 1920 and paid a tax of $5,043.23. Later, however, an additional assessment of $13,958.56 was made by the U. S. collector at Omaha. The government claimed that in the dissolution of the furniture company as a corporation, and the assumption of its assets by Wessel, the latter had made a profit of $43,900. The additional tax was assessed on this ground.

Wessel, however, claims that he was owner of all the stock in the corporation, and that when the corporation was dissolved and he took over the plant as sole owner, he merely took what wasalready his, and that he made no profit in the change.

He paid the additional tax assessment under protest and has attempted to obtain a refund, but his efforts have been unsuccessful thus far, the petition states.

LUST FOR LAND CAUSES ATTACK

Deckert Says Desire For Island Actuated His Assailants.

DECATUR, July 17.—Enmity over possession of farm lands on an island near the Iowa side of the Missouri river here was given as the motive for the attack on William Deckart, former German aviator, who was tossed into the river bound to a log July 6 when he rereturned here yesterday after four days with officers in searching for his assailants.

"Ownership of the sandbar farm which Gus Pohlman and I are operating is the motive for the attack on me," Deckert said. "I am no tpositive who the three men were who attacked me, and tossed me into the river where I spent 12 hours tied to a log before being rescued, but I think I could identify them if I saw them."

Sheriff Iler Jensen, who has been seeking the assailants for several days, would not divulge any clues.

INDIANS DANCE AROUND TOTEM

Over Thousand Tribesmen and Families Assemble At Pocatello.

POCATELLO, Idaho, July 17.—(By the Associated Press.)—A picked band of fifty Shoshone and Bannock braves from the Fort Hall Indian reservation this evening will start a three day marathon about a weird totem pole in a revival of the historic sun dance.

More than one thousand tribesmen and their families are assembled at the dance grounds at the big bend on the Port Neuf river to honor the sun god. The dance climaxes weeks of fasting and ceremonies which Indians believe will gain them spiritual and physical aid from the sun god.

Refusal of the red men to discontinue part of the barbaric rites led to an absolute ban on the dance four years ago. The revival was agreed to when the Indians promised to abandon the practice of clashing their chests with knives and suspending themselves from poles by means of deer sinews passed under the chest muscles

No food will be given the dancers during the ceremony which starts at sunset and is expected to reach its climax Monday night. The dancers will be allowed small quantities of water purified by the sun god.

Most of the participants drop from exhaustion at the conclusion of the dance and are then given small amounts of food in preparation for the feast which ends the ritual.

Although tribal leaders have promised no barbaric rites will be practiced, authorities will maintain rigid supervision fearing the leaders will be unable to control the excited braves.

W. C. T. U. Hears Candidates For County Attorney

Candidates for the office of county attorney appeared before the city federation of the W. C. T. U. at a meeting in the First Christian church Friday afternoon to outline their platforms and answer questions. Max Towle and John L. Mattox, candidates for the republican nomination, were both present and spoke briefly.

Wade A. Wilson, candidate for the democratic nomination, talked briefly on the duties of the office and his views, and Clarence J. Miles appeared in behalf of Clinton J. Campbell who is out of the city on a vacation trip to Yellowstone park.

About sixty men nad women were present. Further meetings of a similar nature are planned.

FNIANCIAL HEADS OFF FOR EUROPE

Mellon, Morgan, and Mackay Leave On Majestic For Vacation Trips.

NEW YORK, July 17.—(By the Associated Press.)—European vacation trips beginning today on the liner Majestic of Secretary Mellon, J. P. Morgan and Clarence H. Mackay, president of the Postal Telegraph Co., have aroused considerable speculation.

The secretary's announced destination was southern Europe. Montagu Norman, governor of the Bank of England, and Benjamin Strong, governor of the New York Federal Reserve bank, are in France and are supposed to have been holding conferences in Antibes on means to halt the tumbling of the franc in the international money markets.

All three of the Americans sailing today insisted before their departure that they were merely going on vacations. One suggestion was that the treasury secretary might stop in England to confer with Gen Lincoln C. Andrews, head of prohibition enforcement, who is negotiating to curb smuggling of liquor into the United States.

Mr. Mackay is accompanied by his son, John W. Mackay, and his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth O'Brien. Mr. Mackay's other daughter, Mrs. Irving Berlin, and her song writer husband are now in Europe, where they have been since a few weeks after the marriage that estranged Mrs. Berlin from her father. Mr. Mackay's last statement indicated no change in his attitude toward the Berlins.

TOURISTS REPORT HARSH WELCOME

Thirty-Five Mile Speed Limit Rigidly Enforced In Buffalo County.

Lincoln and Omaha Automobile clubs are routing tourists over the D. L. D. rather than the Lincoln highway now as a result of reports of arrests in Buffalo county for exceeding the thirty-five mile Nebraska speed limit Transcontinental tourists, unfamiliar with the Nebraska statute, have been promptly "pulled" and given stiff fines as they sped through those counties.

Four complaints were received at the office of the Lincoln Automobile club Friday. All were from members of the American Automobile Association of which the Lincoln club is an affiliated member, and all were forwarded to the national office.

The report of a tourist from California being arrested by fake officers in Buffalo county, which was given out by the club Friday, has been found to be false. The officers were not imposters, but regular officials of the county, it is said. The tourist, Carl Hardy, admitted going 40 miles an hour, but pleaded ignorance of the Nebraska law. A. D. Bailey of Chicago was another victim of the rigid law enforcement in Buffalo county.

The travelers reporting here claimed that their treatment was far from courteous.

(Special to The Star.)

FAIRBURY, July 17.—The local Kiwanis club members entertained the Bertrice and Superior clubs at the Mary-Etta hotel Thursday evening. About eighty guests were present. This district, which includes Iowa and Nebraska, observed interclub day, each club being host to another club or being the guest of one. Speakers at the banquet were Arthur Denney and W. E. Scott of Fairbury, Doane F. Kiechel and J. M. Peters of Beatrice and Judge Fred Messmore of Beatrice. The Fairbury club accepted an invitation to visit both the Beatrice and Superior clubs at some future date. W. F. Wratten, Rock Island shops foreman, presented the Superior club members with an attendance prize of a huge gavel. Thirty-two per cent of the Superior membership was present.

Wheat Being Held By Some Farmers

(Special to The Star.)

BEATRICE, Neb., July 17.—While much new wheat is being thrown on the market here and elsewhere in the county, growers are holding a portion of the crop for better prices, believing it will go to $1.50 a bushel by fall. The price is $1.24 and $1.25, an increase of about 5 cents during the past few days. Most of the grain is of excellent quality, weighing from 60 to 62 pounds to the bushel and grading No. 1 and No. 2 hard. A number of cars have been shipped this week to the Kansas City markets.

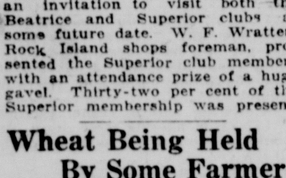

Aviator Injured Making Landing

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., July 17.—(AP)—O. E. Evans, commercial aviator, escaped serious injury here Friday night when forced to land and was unable, after once having passed and recognized it, to find the landing field, owing to the hazy atmosphere, and the darkness. Landing in a field west of the city the plane struck a grain stack, breaking the propeller and doing other slight damage, painful bruises about the head, arms and limbs and pain in the chest were suffered by the aviator, who expects, however, to resume his trip to North Platte from Fort Crook, in a few days.

The two were automobile riding when the car struck a broken trolly wire. The car was lifted up in front and then spun around. Kinder said he tried to shut off the gas but his arm was paralyzed. A moment later the auto was hurtled against a gasoline filling station, badly wrecked. Kidder escaped with a stiff arm and Pullman with cuts on the lips.

Farm Home Struck By Lightning and Burns To Ground

COLUMBUS, Neb., July 17.—(AP)—Four persons had a narrow escape from death and their home was burned to the ground when the residence on a ranch near Silver Creek, owned by the C. H. Sheldon company here, was struck by lightning last night.

G. W. Waldron, tenant, his wife and son, Howard, and the hired man, Joe Carter, were in the kitchen when the lightning bolt struck the northeast corner of the roof, passed through a bedroom upstairs and grounded through the kitchen pump. Carter was stunned, fell to the floor, but soon revived. Others escaped injury. In passing through the bedroom, the lightning set fire to the bed clothes and the flames spread quickly, destroying the house.

ISSUE PERMIT FOR ADDITION

Improvement Project at Lincoln High School To Cost $260,000.

Two building permits aggregating $300,000 were issued by Building Inspector Peck Saturday. One was for the erection of an addition to the high school at Twenty-second and J streets at a cost of $260,000 and the other for the remodeling of the building at 1315-21 N street. This latter building will be two stories and is to be occupied by Freadrich Bros.

The high school addition will be one story and basement 287 by 166 feet on the ground, and will be of the same material as the old building.

The basement space will be used principally for storage purposes, according to the architect's plans. On the main floor will be eight class rooms, five on the west and three on the east. There will also be a large inside class room, and shops for wood workers, electrical students, and a machine and printing shop. Space is likewise assigned for offices, cafeteria and kitchen, a mechanical drawing department and two large art rooms.

Ammezzanine floor the length of the south side will have four lecture rooms, a moulder's practice room and a storage battery shop.

Wide corridors are located at each end between the class rooms and the main section of the building through the center of which there is another corridor.

ORDER RATES ON SUGAR REDUCED

Interior Nebraska Cities Benefit By Commerce Commission Ruling.

WASHINGTON, July 17.—Rates on sugar from New Orleans to Superior, Fairbury, Hastings, Grand Island, Columbus, Kearney, Norfolk, North Platte, Scottsbluff and Crawford, Neb., have been found unreasonable to a certain extent by the interstate commerce commission.

Rates on the same commodity from California, Utah-Idaho territory, and New Orleans to Rapid City, Deadwood and Lead, S. D., were found unduly prejudicial in some respects. Non-prejudicial rates were ordered prescribed in both instances.

Railroads were asked to establish on or before September 27, rates to the Nebraska points not exceeding those applicable from New Orleans to Kansas City and St. Joseph, Mo., Omaha, and Sioux City, Iowa, or to any of them as the through route may run, by more than 8 cents a hundred pounds to Fairbury, 10c to Hastings, 12 cents to Grand Island or by more than 13c to Columbus or Kearney.

Rates to Superior and Norfolk, the commission said, should not exceed those to Kansas City, St Joseph, Omaha and Sioux City by more than 8 cents for Superior or 15 cents to Norfolk.

Rates to the South Dakota points, the commission asserted should not exceed those applicable from New Orleans to Omaha and Sioux City by more than 31 cents a hundred pounds to Rapid City or more than 33 cents to Deadwood or Lead.

MORE INDICTED ON POLL FRAUD

Fifty-five Now Charged With Irregularities In Cook County Primaries.

CHICAGO, July 17.—(By the Associated Press.) — Naming forty-four election judges and clerks for conspiracy and making a false canvass in the Cook county primary election of last April, a special grand jury investigating vote frauds brought to fifty-five yesterday the number of persons charged with irregularities in the tabulation of ballots cast at the primary.

The persons named Friday in eight indictments sent to Chief Justice Lynch of the Criminal court included William Paselli, state representative, and Harry Hockstein, Deneen faction committeeman.

Bail of the persons indicted was fixed at from $1,500 to $2,000 for each one named. Among them are five women who were officers at the polls.

Charles A. MacDonald, special prosecuting attorney in charge of the vote fraud grand jury, announced that Friday's indictments were "just a beginning" and that they touched principally on discoveries made in one ward, the twentieth, where two Crowe-Barrett republican leaders, Morris Eller and his son, Judge Emmanuel Eller, have been drawn into testimony before the jury.

The recount thus far has shown every faction the beneficiary of illegal votes. Two factions competed for the nomination in each party, the Crowe-Barrett and the Deneen groups in the republican fold, and the Brennan and Dunne-Harrison groups in the democratic ranks. The Crowe-Barrett group has been the heaviest loser in the recount.

Wessel Files Suit To Secure Refund On Federal Taxes

A suit against the Federal government to recover $13,958 alleged to have been paid in income taxes which should not have been collected, has been filed in Federal court by Sam Wessel, owner of the Western Furniture & Manufacturing company of Lincoln.

Wessel claims that he made a return for 1920 and paid a tax of $5,043.23. Later, however, an additional assessment of $13,958.56 was made by the U. S. collector at Omaha. The government claimed that in the dissolution of the furniture company as a corporation, and the assumption of its assets by Wessel, the latter had made a profit of $43,900. The additional tax was assessed on this ground.

Wessel, however, claims that he was owner of all the stock in the corporation, and that when the corporation was dissolved and he took over the plant as sole owner, he merely took what wasalready his, and that he made no profit in the change.

He paid the additional tax assessment under protest and has attempted to obtain a refund, but his efforts have been unsuccessful thus far, the petition states.

Reorganize Dry Enforcement Area At Philadelphia

WASHINGTON, July 17.—(AP)—Reorganization of the Philadelphia prohibition area was completed today with the approval by Frank Dow, acting chief of prohibition enforcement, of the employment of fty new prohibition agents.

BAPTISTS BEAT BEARCATS.

The Second Baptists of the Y. M. C. A. Sunday School league trimmed the East Lincoln Bearcats, 10 to 5 in a six-inning game played Friday evening on the Dudley street diamond. Lewis, on the mound for the Baptists, balked a Bearcat rally in the sixth frame when he fanned three batters with the bases full. Moore, Bearcat pitcher, homered with two on in the fourth. By innings:

Baptists	1	2	6	0	0	1	—10	15
Bearcats	1	0	0	4	0	0	— 5	6

Batteries—Lewis and Ryman; Moore and Brown.

Deckert Says Desire For Island Actuated His Assailants.

DECATUR, July 17.—Enmity over possession of farm lands on an island near the Iowa side of the Missouri river here was given as the motive for the attack on William Deckart, former German aviator, who was tossed into the river bound to a log July 6 when he returned here yesterday after four days with officers in searching for his assailants.

"Ownership of the sandbar farm which Gus Pohlman and I are operating is the motive for the attack on me," Deckert said. "I am no tpositive who the three men were who attacked me, and tossed me into the river where I spent 12 hours tied to a log before being rescued, but I think I could identify them if I saw them."

Sheriff Ller Jensen, who has been seeking the assailants for several days, would not divulge any clues.

INDIANS DANCE AROUND TOTEM

Over Thousand Tribesmen and Families Assemble At Pocatello.

POCATELLO, Idaho, July 17.—(By the Associated Press.)—A picked band of fifty Shoshone and Bannock braves from the Fort Hall Indian reservation this evening will start a three day marathon about a weird totem pole in a revival of the historic sun dance.

More than one thousand tribesmen and their families are assembled at the dance grounds at the big bend on the Port Neuf river to honor the sun god. The dance climaxes weeks of fasting and ceremonies which Indians believe will gain them spiritual and physical aid from the sun god.

Refusal of the red men to discontinue part of the barbaric rites led to an absolute ban on the dance four years ago. The revival was agreed to when the Indians promised to abandon the practice of clashing their chests with knives and suspending themselves from poles by means of deer sinews passed under the chest muscles.

No food will be given the dancers during the ceremony which starts at sunset and is expected to reach its climax Monday night. The dancers will be allowed small quantities of water purified by the sun god.

Most of the participants drop from exhaustion at the conclusion of the dance and are then given small amounts of food in preparation for the feast which ends the ritual.

Although tribal leaders have promised no barbaric rites will be practiced, authorities will maintain rigid supervision fearing the leaders will be unable to control the excited braves.

ACTS OF DESPERATION.

Belgium, although under the rule of a king, has been a liberty-loving nation.

Her monarch, King Albert, has a tight grip upon the affections of his people, largely because of his heroic conduct during the world war when he went into the trenches with his troops and endured the terrible hardships and sufferings which befell his subjects. He shortly acquired the distinction of the most democratic ruler of Europe But long before the war, Belgium had patterned her government along representative lines, with extensive powers vested in its assembly and the king more a figurehead than an administrator.

Now the Belgian Chamber of Deputies is seriously considering vesting unlimited authority in the king. The bill giving him unrestricted powers to take what steps he deems necessary for the stabilization of the finance of the country has already mustered strong support and seems certain of passage. There is only one consolation. Albert may be depended upon not to abuse the authority conferred upon him. He has shown a deep devotion to the interests of his countrymen, is able and efficient, and may be depended upon to take such steps as are necessary for the protection of human liberties in which he is himself a staunch believer.

The situation is significant, however, because Belgium is the third nation within recent months to consider proposals concentrating unlimited powers in the hands of one person. Italy has lately been discussing whether Premier Mussolini should be made responsible only to the king instead of the legislature and France debated giving the Briand Cabinet autocratic sway for the purpose of permitting it to proceed with the restoration of the French franc. Spain has had a dictator.

Truly Europe is in a bad way.

It is an act of desperation when peoples voluntarily surrender precious rights which were won after the most protracted struggle and at a frightful sacrifice of human life. Garibaldi was leading the Italian patriots in 1848 in the fight for liberty. Seventy-five years later an egotistical "superman" trampled them under foot because the resistance and moral courage of the people had been broken. France had her bloody revolution and established her republic only to forget the lessons of those days in the misery of the present. Belgian's assembly was peacefully secured but now is to be surrendered.

The greatest democratic government in the world has a duty to perform.

It must not permit the torch of liberty to be extinguished.

Most of Europe's distress today is directly attributable to the losses of the world war and the huge debts which have been accumulated as a result of it America has perfected the settlements of the obligations in which she is the creditor. She has imposed terms which she believes to be generous and fair. And yet, Europe does not so regard them. The recent protest parade of maimed and crippled French war veterans in Paris in opposition to the American debt settlement is an evidence of the bitter feeling. Other countries have been less open in their expression of feeling but throughout the entire continent there is the feeling that the richest and most prosperous nation in the world is bearing down upon crushed and broken peoples, who are no longer able to sustain themselves. There is little chance of a modification of these agreements but there is a way in which America may be of service at benefit to herself.

Europe's hope rests in demobilization and governmental reform. She is spending too much for military gestures and for incompetence in government. She paved the way for disarmament by suggesting a conference under the league of nations but America refused to co-operate. Now the American government can do nothing less than waive its previous objections if it wants to relieve these sorely-pressed nations of a portion of the load they are carrying. Failure to do so will lead to inevitable confusion and anarchy and the total annihilation of liberal government in Europe.

REGULATION FAILS AGAIN.

That the Florida real estate boom would eventually collapse and catch a multitude of "suckers" was as certain as the rising and setting of the sun. The picture there has changed so completely in the last six months that nowadays nobody would touch anything in the nature of a Florida investment with a 10-foot pole. It will take the peninsula state a long time to recover from the setback it has received. As concerns individuals who rushed thither to share in the fabulous gains of real estate speculation, the number who have gone broke is about as large as of those who made money by selling before the bottom dropped out.

What is now taking place in Florida and Georgia has another aspect. In involves not merely losses to individuals who foolishly put their money into town site promotion schemes, but claims a much larger circle of victims, many of whom had nothing to do with these "get-rich-quick" activities. The innocent are now being made to suffer with the guilty, through the failure of scores of banks in the two states, caused by the inevitable reaction from their wildcat financing operations.

The question may well be asked as to what the banking authorities of Georgia and Florida, as well as those of the United States, were doing all the time while millions of dollars of money belonging to depositors was being sunk in such highly speculative enterprises? Why did they not take steps to prevent the bankers from joining the wild orgy of frenzied finance?

Instead of exerting themselves in that direction and thus helping to protect depositors, the public officials who were supposed to be devoting themselves to that work gave their time and attention to poor old Ponzi, a man who was already in disrepute with investors because of his previous operations, which landed him in the Massachusetts penitentiary for a time Ponzi could not take anybody in except those who were looking for a chance to hand their money over to whoev " would promise them a big return on it, without investigating what he had to offer.

Thus, while raising a hue and cry against one comparatively harmless individual, they permitted reckless custodians of bank funds to go the limit. Now, as a result, many banks are going down in the states affected, and thousands of people will lose their savings.

Here is one more instance of the failure of regulatory governmental agencies to function in the manner and to the purpose for which they were created It was within the la ful power and authority of the state and federal bank supervisors to decree thumbs down on bankers engaging in Florida land speculation. In fact, it was their plain duty to do so. But they failed to act, just as they have done in numerous other cases.

Nebraska has had some experience in the past with the same sort of administration. Its citizens were swindled out of hundreds of millions of dollars a few years ago by smooth-tongued stock promoters, armed with certificates of authority issued by the state. More than 125 of its banks have failed with the last 5 or 6 years, in consequence of their owners and managers making unwise loans, indulging in wildcat speculation, and in some instances misappropriating bank funds, all carried on under the eyes and noses of state and federal regulators.

This sort of object lesson, many times repeated, is doing much to convince the American people that government supervision is a false remedy for business evils

THE MURDER OF DON MELLETT.

The gangsters and gunman of Canton, O., who under cover of darkness shot down and killed Don Mellett, publisher of the Canton, O., News, have insured the success of the journalist's crusade

Crime will have to go in Canton.

Law and decency will triumph.

The realization of this fact will not in anyway diminish or soften the sorrow and shock of a dastardly cold-blooded murder in the community where it occurred or throughout the nation There will be universal regret that a fine, clean, courageous young man should be sacrificed to the lawless elements which comprise the underworld.

Mellett was a brave soldier, who did not flinch in the face of what he conceived to be his duty. He had taken a vow that he would make Canton safe for law-abiding citizens. He knew that he was dealing with hardened and callous thugs, men who had enriched themselves through lawlessness, but that did not deter him in the slightest. The fight which Don Mellett was carrying on in Canton, single-handed against heavy odds, provides one of the most inspiring examples of exalted journalism to be found in recent years

The era of personal journalism has passed because the newspaper has grown too big to reflect the individuality of one man Generally its passing should occasion no regret.

But here and there may be found isolated instances of conscientious and high-minded journalists who have revived it to the everlasting benefit of their community. Such was Don Mellett. Canton will come to revere his memory for he lost his life in fighting to preserve the most sacred institutions in America.

Here's a chance for a new specialized college. There are only 300 first class bank robbers and safe blowers in the United States today, a speaker at a bar association meeting declared.

"Ma" Ferguson is a real politician. Instead of doing something more of the ordinary, she attracted the attention of the newspaper reporters by sleeping through a train wreck.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

Author of "Diet and Health" and "Diet for Children"

SAVING FOOD?

"I am 50 years old and weigh 246 pounds. I have been married for 20 years and commenced gaining in weight as soon as I was married (weighed 145 then), as my husband is a lover of sweets and I soon got his eating habits. I am a very heavy eater of all kinds of food. I'm very nervous about my eating; just seems as though I have to eat between meals, as though I were afraid something would go to waste if I didn't eat it! I'm troubled with stiff joints. Live on a farm and do my own work and care for my six children. I'm sending self-addressed, stamped envelope and ten cents in stamps for your booklet on reducing. —Mrs. P."

245 pounds in weight! 100 pounds' gain in 20 years—the rate of five pounds a year. One pound of fat represents 4,000 calories eaten. Five pounds a year means 20,000 calories in a year's time. Dividing by 365 you will find you have had around 50 calories extra, daily. That would mean about one-half slice of bread, or one-half pat of butter, extra, each day. No so very much, but it certainly worked havoc with you, didn't it?

You will never try to save food this way again, Mrs. P., if you realize that you are saving it in the form of fat on your own body. It is much better to throw away much good food than to eat it, if by so doing you overeat.

It's no wonder that you are troubled with stiff joints. I wnoder you're not on the borderline of diabetes. Perhaps you are. I had better frighten you a little bit to make you realize that you must follow the instruction contained in the reducing booklet which was sent to you.

Will you please write me a letter each time you register a loss of 15 pounds or so? After you've lost around 40 or 50 pounds, I advise you to stop for two weeks or so and go back to maintenance diet. You'll probably gain two or three pounds, but you needn't gain any more. That will be due to the retention of water.

Some of our followers who are reducing slowly, do not take this rest from reducing and they write that they experience no ill effects. If you reduce not more than one to one and one-half pounds a week it will be all right not to stop until you are down to normal weight. In 52 weeks, at the rate of one and one-half pounds a week, there will be a loss of around 75 pounds

(Those who are in need of instructions on reducing may have the booklet Mrs P. speaks of, by following the column rules: sending a fully self-addressed, stamped envelope and ten cent sin stamps with request. Allow at least two weeks for its receipt.)

Recommending Physicians.

Mrs. J.—I am sorry I cannot tell you particular physicians to go to, either through the column or personally. Many times I do not know the physicians in the locality from where the letters come. (This article is syndicated and appears all over the United States and Canada.)

Please ring up the County Medical Society of your locality and ask them for a list of doctors or institutions.

Miss F—Send for our article on Common Eye Troubles. That takes up Pink Eye, Styes, etc., and gives an eye wash which is very good, as many of our followers testify. (Send self-addressed, stamped envelope with request, and allow at least two weeks for its receipt.)

My dear Followers:

When sending for material which we offer you, please remember to enclose a STAMPED, SELF-ADDRESSED envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose TEN cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, NOTOVER 200 WORDS, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you invidual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible, if they are of general interest. Don't forget the STAMPED, SELF-ADDRESSED ENVELOPE if you expect me to send you the information

Man Guiding Evolution

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS,

Noted Astronomer and Writer on Scientific Topics of Popular Interest.

The study of evolution has led to some highly important practical results, entirely aside from any discussion of the attempts made to explain evolution

Dr. John M. Coulter, in a recent lecture, says:

"By means of carefully controlled pedigree cultures, DeVries discovered a plant in the actual performance of producing occasionally a new form among its numerous progeny . . . in other words it was a new species, or at least, a different species from its parent. Many such species have now been observed originating in this way, both in plants and animals. That one species can produce another one is no longer inferred, but demonstrated. . . . There is no longer any doubt, therefore, that evolution is a fact. It is quite a different question whether the proposed explanations are adequate."

Leaving the whole story of the past of evolution to inference, Dr. Coulter says biologists are only concerned in discovering experimentally how one species may produce another one To illustrate this he presents some practical results that the study of evolution has made possible, and which "the public in general do not appreciate."

Only the field of agriculture is called upon to furnish the examples adduced. During the ten years before the World War it was stated that our population had increased 20 per cent and our food production only about 1 per cent. The outlook was so alarming that the study of plant crops from the standpoint of genetics or heredity was vigorously undertaken, and "plant breeding became a science."

Three principal causes were found for the lack of crop production. These were, first, lack of adaptation of crops to environment; second, destruction by drought; third, destruction by disease. A world-wide examination of the environment necessary for a maximum yield of various kinds of crops "resulted in such an adjustment of crops to conditions that total food production was enormously increased."

Similar experimental methods are now solving the second difficulty through the development of drought-resisting races And this, in turn, serves to increase to a very great extent the area of land capable of producing crops.

The third source of loss, that from disease, is being successfully attacked by the same method, viz., that of seeking and developing races that possess a power of resistance to disease. "As a result," says Dr. Coulter, "food production is now beginning to overtake population, and we may thank the study of evolution for the result"

It will be seen that the source of all these developments is the property of variation inherent in organic life forms, together with the power of adaptation to changing conditions Such things are facts, but the problem of explanation is exceedingly complex, far more so than Darwin imagined, although the evidence for evolution as a fact has greatly increased since his time. The older reasoners on this subject, being relatively short of facts, undertook to proceed by the way of inference alone, and they extended this back to the origin of the plant and animal kingdoms, involving the origin of man. But, says Dr. Coulter, "in these days there is no such attempt, for experimental demonstration of the evolution of the whole series of organic forms culminating in man is clearly impossible."

This does not mean to say that evolution does not apply to the whole course of life development on the earth, but only that we do not know just what causes and processes brought about, in the remote past, the changes which we are sure occurred The modern biologist pursues the experimental method, and his results are demonstrations.

The worst joke I heard today was told to me by Paul Whiteman, the daddy of all the jazz craze. Paul just took jazz by the nap of the neck and dragged it right up within an ace of touching grand opera. He couldn't understand why two races of music could be so far apart. Well, Paul is a fine fellow, and it hasn't gone to his head any, and he has a fine bunch of boys with him. I saw them over here playing in London, and they are just as

An Englishman had been to America, and his American friend had showed him the stock exchange, of which he was a member. The American was telling him that it was very dull, that there wasn't much doing. He remarked to him, "Why, it's so dull down here now that you can't get a scent out of a Skunk."

Well, the Englishman thought that was a great joke, so he went back home and was telling it about his friend. "Why, he told me it was positively so dull on their exchange that you couldn't get even a dollar out of one of those Skunks."

REMOVE TRACKS ON R STREET

Rail Commission Issues Emergency Order At Traction Company Request.

Fares Averaged Eight Per Day—No Complaints From Citizens.

Abandonment of the Lincoln Traction Co.'s street car line, tracks and service on R and North Sixteenth streets is authorized by the state railway commission in an emergency order issued Saturday. The company is authorized to remove its tracks, poles and wires from Eleventh and R east to Sixteenth, and thence north to Vine street, and to cease service along that route.

This covers only a part of the Traction Co's recent application, heard a few days ago, relative to abandonment of car lines. The commission has reserved its ruling on the outlying sections of the penitentiary and state hospital lines, where bus service is proposed as a substitute for electric trolley cars.

On account of the fact that work is being started on the widening and resurfacing of R street, which made it necessary to remove trolley poles from where they now are, that phase of the application was considered and decided first, so that the company might not be put to useless expense by setting the poles elsewhere, in order to keep the service going.

Testimony taken at the hearing was that the average number of fares and transfers taken on the R and Sixteenth street line did not exceed 8 per day. No one in the territory where the line runs objected. The chancellor of the university favored its removal, as did the city attorney. The commission suggests that bus service will probably be arranged in the near future between the university and the farm campus.

Arrest Man Here Reported Wanted At Columbus, Neb.

E. T. Boston, who was arrested by Lincoln police Thursday, is wanted at Columbus, Neb., on a charge of obtaining property by false pretenses, according to a telegram received at the state sheriff's office Saturday morning.

Acording to the information State Sheriff Condit had, Boston is said to have purchased a bunch of hogs at Columbus, giving checks amounting to about $5,000 in payment for them. He is alleged to have shipped the hogs to Omaha and sold them. The checks which he gave in payment for the hogs are said to have been returned by the bank as being no good.

Officers at Columbus have been notified of the arrest of Boston. He is being held at the city jail until it is decided what action will be taken by the Columbus authorities.

Chapter XXXVIII.

Brier Halter, faultlessly dressed, stopped short and blocked Joslyn's progress his gray eyes suddenly lighted with pleasure.

"My luck is endless," he declared. "If Fate seems bent upon throwing us at each other's heads, why should we refuse to accept the hint? Whither bound?"

"Home," Joslyn told him. "I just felt like a stroll up Broadway before I turned in."

"Great minds," he said tritely, "run in the same channel. I was lonesome, too."

The though of a man worth millions being forced through loneliness to mingle in the Broadway throng struck Joslyn as the height of absurdity. It was in his power, she knew, to surround himself with any brilliant company he might choose.

"Don't you ever stay home?" she asked him, faintly mocking.

"If you but knew!" he returned cryptically.

Though halted for only a moment, they were already interfering with the flow of pedestrians, were being hustled by the living tide. Brierhalter took Joslyn's arm and steered her as he stuck precariously at her side, into the uptown current.

"The fact is I've been restless all day—ever since I drove you home," he said. "I actually believe it was my intense desire that directed us together again tonight. You can't tell me these things are accidents. I believe the human mind is a great deal like the compass on a ship—that it responds to a magnetic attraction as yet scarcely suspected."

His company, Joslyn decided, was not unpleasant; the more she had come to know him, the more he had revealed unexpected angles of a keen, imaginative intelligence. And apart from his obvious infatuation, he was the most interesting man she knew.

But his friendship was too impregnated with power for easy enjoyment. His wealth, for another thing, stirred a remote apprehension in Joslyn while it had an undoubted fascination it had also a potency that worried her.

"I'm tired of walking now," she said. "I think I'll get in the subway and ride on up home."

"We'll get a taxi and ride up," he told her. "I didn't bring my car out tonight."

She protested but he waved her objections aside and managed to segregate a taxicab out of the maze of traffic.

"We might go over to the Bombay—or any place else you like," he suggested, but she declined.

"Not tonight. I want to get a lot of sleep. I'll need all my energy for my rehearsal with De Costa tomorrow."

"I know you're determined to go through with that dancing business, but I certainly wish you wouldn't," he complained. "It's a strange thing. In Wall street I had very little trouble in swaying some rather important minds, but with a beautiful and desirable young lady like yourself I seem completely robbed of any influence."

"Do I have any influence with you?" she asked him innocently.

Brierhalter assured her that she had a great deal.

"Then I wonder if I could influence you not to take such a violent interest in me, and what I do," she said. It's flattering, but I've so many problems to face that I haven't room for any more complications."

"On the contrary, I could make things very simple for you, my dear. Here I am head and heels in love with you. I'm a great believer in the great god Money. Do you realize that you have within your grasp everything that money can buy—and that means practically everything?"

"Apparently it is not buying what you want," Joslyn could not help replying tartly.

"That's your fault," Brierhalter retorted. "I want you, but your sense of values is so ridiculously distorted that you don't realize what almost unlimited wealth can do for you."

In rapid order the three appeals that were being urged upon her flashed through Joslyn's mind—the thrilling animal magnetism of James Kelvin, the comradely honorable love of Lee Rogers, the stark commercialism of Brierhalter.

"It might interest you to know," she said, without undue hostility, "that if you ever could have had any chance with me, you continue to blast it by trying to put me on a purchasable basis. I should think that even a millionaire would know women better than that."

"That," Brierhalter told her, "is a perfect idiotic and dishonest conclusion. Nine-tenths of the happiness and unhappiness of life hinges on money. Only the sentimental fools doubt it Money, plus brains, can accomplish all but the sheerest impossibilities."

"Money, plus brains, won't get me," Joslyn said coolly.

"Some man, however, is going to get you," Brierhalter stated. "I'm so sure that I'm the man that the pursuit isn't even exciting—its merely tedious."

His effrontery, incredible as it was,—perhaps for that very reason ——impressed Joslyn, brought the tiniest tremor of uncertainty to her heart. Slowly she was beginning to understand the bulldog in the man, the steel will behind his well-groomed exterior. In him she sensed daring of a high, almost invincible order.

"I can't believe you mean all you say," she said "You say you want me—yet you have never said anything about marriage. I asked you that the other night and you got around it."

Brierhalter smiled, rather kindly. "I was wondering how long it would take you to get to that. Well, I'll tell you about it—"

Inform Man Of Baby's Illness After Four Hour Search

After searching for four hours, police Friday evening located John Kelly, of Omaha, and delivered to him a message that his baby was very ill and that he was wanted at home immediately.

Night Driver Gillespie started the search when Omaha police called the police station, giving the information that it was thought Kelly was camping in a tent on the outskirts of Lincoln. Driver Gillespie made trips on west O street, the S. Y. A. highway, and north Ninth street, but was unable to locate Kelly. Officers checked up several of the "Kellys" living in Lincoln and Officers Davis and Schrup were finally successful, at 1:30 a. m. Saturday in locating the Omaha man.

June Gas Tax Revenue Shows Gain Over May

State gasoline tax colections for June remitted by 477 licensed dealers in Nebrsaka aggergate $271,172, with 29 still to report. A gain of $13,224 over payments made by the same dealers for May is shown by the records of the state collection bureau Chief Bass thinks the June total will reach a figure near $280,000 when all are heard from.

For June, 1925, the receipts from gasoline tax amounted to $245,948, so that a gain of $25,000, or over 10 per cent, is already shown over that month. For May this year, the revenue was $265,604.

Since the gasoline tax law became effective on April 1, 1925—a period of fifteen and a half months—it ha syielded a total of $3,603,406, but several thousands dollars of this has been refunded to agricultural users.

Auditor Ignores Summons In Suit

A summons addressed to "State of Nebraska," not designating any individual officer, reached State Auditor Marsh in the mail Saturday, from Trenton, Neb. It was issued by Carl H. Swanson, acting county judge, in a garnishment suit brought against Philip Shepard at that place. Marsh does not know who Shepard is, but supposes him to be an employed in some department of the state government.

Under a law enacted by the 1925 legislature, garnishment actions may be brought against the state or any of its subdivisions to collect indebtedness of their employes, and money due the latter as salary may be taken to satisfy debts.

Auditor Marsh was advised by the attorney general's office that he need not attend the trial He will therefore disregard the summons.

Grand Island Y. W. Secretary Leaves

(Special to The Star.)

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., July 17.—Miss Harriett Draper, for the past eighteen months secretary of the local Y. W. C. A., has resigned her position and left for Stanton and Niobrara for an extended visit with relatives and friends. Miss Pierce, secretary of that organization at Norfolk, will succeed Miss Draper here, beginning her duties September 1.

CHIEF LEAVES FOR CONVENTION

Peter Johnstone to Attend International Association Of Police Heads.

Chief of Police Peter Johnstone was to leave at 4:40 Saturday afternoon for Chicago, where he will attend the thirty-third annual convention of the International Association of Chiefs of Police next week.

Chief Johnstone will attend all of the meetings, which will be held every day from Monday to Friday. More than one thousand police chiefs from the United States and Canada are expected to atend.

Exhibitions dealing with methods of identification, and police methods in general will feature the meetings. Government representatives will attend and the National Bureau of Criminal Information and Identification will be well-represented.

Exhibits will show the use of radio, gas bombs, first aid, patrols, laboratories, motorcycles and schools in police work, and special clothing and weapons will be discussed.

Notifies Schools Minimum Age For Teachers Dropped

In accordance with the recent decision of the Nebraska Supreme court allowing a writ of mandamus against State Superintendent Matzen to compel the issuance of a teachers' certificate to Miss Darlene Johnson of Tilden, 17 years old, notice is being sent by Mr Matzen in a circular letter to 23 universities, colleges and normal schools and to all county superintendents that the 18-years minimum age limit heretofore in effect will be dropped.

"Beginning with July 11, the date the writ was granted, no age requirement is necessary for certificates issued by the state superintendent," says Matzen in this communication.

"If you know of any applicants who have filed applications at this office, were rejected on account of their age, please advise them if they desire certificates to again make formal application to this office on the usual blank, accompanied by the legal fee of one dollar in currency, draft or money order. It will not be necessary for applicants in the future to answer the question appearing on the application blank with reference to their age, if they do not wish to do so."

Nickel Plate Plans To Take Over An Indiana Railroad

WASHINGTON, July 17.—(AP)—Evidence that the Nickel Plate plans to take over the Chicago Attica and Southern railroad which serves about fifty cities and towns in Indiana, is contained in a letter received by Interstate Commerce Commissioner Meyer, from M J. Van Sweringen, one of the operators of the Nickel Plate consolidation plan.

TRAP AND KILL YOUNG ROBBER

Officers Shoot Youth Fleeing From Scene Of Hold-Up At Chicago.

CHICAGO, July 17.—(By the Associated Press)—Trapped by the sudden appearance of a police patrol, one of two youths was shot and killed last night shortly after they had held up a summer session co-ed and her escort near the University of Chicago campus

The slain robber was identified by papers on his person as Arthur Carmichael, 24, of Milan, Mo. He had been employed in a restaurant.

The two had just robbed George Gray of $14 while Miss Lavern Lane of Cherokee, Okla., looked on, and were walking away when the police car approached. Gray called the officers who opened fire as the fugitives plunged into an alleyway.

Several hours later the police traced a telephone number found among Carmichael's papers and arrested D. C. Harrison, 25, formerly of Battle Creek, Mich., and reported his confession as the slain youth's companion.

Decree Modified—District Judge Brady Saturday morning made a modification of the decree of divorce granted Eva Winifred Weston against Plummer Parker Weston by awarding the custody of the two children to the father, instead of the mother, as originally specified.

ACTS OF DESPERATION.

Belgium, although under the rule of a king, has been a liberty-loving nation.

Her monarch, King Albert, has a tight grip upon the affections of his people, largely because of his heroic conduct during the world war when he went into the trenches with his troops and endured the terrible hardships and sufferings which befell his subjects. He shortly acquired the distinction of the most democratic ruler of Europe. But long before the war, Belgium had patterned her government along representative lines, with extensive powers vested in its assembly and the king more a figurehead than an administrator.

Now the Belgian Chamber of Deputies is seriously considering vesting unlimited authority in the king. The bill giving him unrestricted powers to take what steps he deems necessary for the stabilization of the finance of the country has already mustered strong support and seems certain of passage. There is only one consolaion. Albert may be depended upon not to abuse the authority conferred upon him. He has shown a deep devotion to the interests of his countrymen, is able and efficient, and may be depended upon to take such steps as are necessary for the protection of human liberties in which he is himself a staunch believer.

The situation is significant, however, because Belgium is the third nation within recent months to consider proposals concentrating unlimited powers in the hands of one person. Italy has lately been discussing whether Premier Mussolini should be made responsible only to the king instead of the legislature and France debated giving the Briand Cabinet autocratic sway for the purpose of permitting it to proceed with the restoration of the French franc. Spain has had a dictator.

Truly Europe is in a bad way.

It is an act of desperation when peoples voluntarily surrender precious rights which were won after the most protracted struggle and at a frightful sacrifice of human life. Garibaldi was leading the Italian patriots in 1848 in the fight for liberty. Seventy-five years later an egotistical "superman" trampled them under foot because the resistance and moral courage of the people had been broken. France had her bloody revolution and established her republic only to forget the lessons of those days in the misery of the present. Belgian's assembly was peacefully secured but now is to be surrendered.

The greatest democratic government in the world has a duty to perform.

It must not permit the torch of liberty to be extinguished.

Most of Europe's distress today is directly attributable to the losses of the world war and the huge debts which have been accumulated as a result of it. America has perfected the settlements of the obligations in which she is the creditor. She has imposed terms which she believes to be generous and fair. And yet, Europe does not so regard them. The recent protest parade of mained and crippled French war veterans in Paris in opposition to the American debt settlement is an evidence of the bitter feeling. Other countries have been less open in their expression of feeling but throughout the entire continent there is the feeling that the richest and most prosperous nation in the world is bearing down upon crushed and broken peoples, who are no longer able to sustain themselves. There is little chance of a modification of these agreements but there is a way in which America may be of service at benefit to herself.

Europe's hope rests in demobilization and governmental reform. She is spending too much for military gestures and for incompetence in government. She paved the way for disarmament by suggesting a conference under the league of nations but America refused to co-operate. Now the American government can do nothing less than waive its previous objections if it wants to relieve these sorely-pressed nations of a portion of the load they are carrying. Failure to do so will lead to inevitable confusion and anarchy and the total annihilation of liberal government in Europe.

REGULATION FAILS AGAIN.

That the Florida real estate boom would eventually collapse and catch a multitude of "suckers" was as certain as the rising and setting of the sun. The picture there has changed so completely in the last six months that nowadays nobody would touch anything in the nature of a Florida investment with a 10-foot pole. It will take the peninsula state a long time to recover from the setback it has received. As concerns individuals who rushed thither to share in the fabulous gains of real estate speculation, the number who have gone broke is about as large as of those who made money by selling before the bottom dropped out.

What is now taking place in Florida and Georgia has another aspect. In involves not merely losses to individuals who foolishly put their money into town site promotion schemes, but claims a much larger circle of victims, many of whom had nothing to do with these "get-rich-quick" activities. The innocent are now being made to suffer with the guilty, through the failure of scores of banks in the two states, caused by the inevitable reaction from their wildcat financing operations.

The question may well be asked as to what the banking authorities of Georgia and Florida, as well as those of the United States, were doing all the time while millions of dollars of money belonging to depositors was being sunk in such highly speculative enterprises? Why did they not take steps to prevent the bankers from joining the wild orgy of frenzied finance?

Instead of exerting themselves in that direction and thus helping to protect depositors, the public officials who were supposed to be devoting themselves to that work gave their time and attention to poor old Ponzi, a man who was already in disrepute with investors because of his previous operations, which landed him in the Massachusetts penitentiary for a time. Ponzi could not take anybody in except those who were looking for a chance to hand their money over to whoev " would promise them a big return on it, without investigating what he had to offer.

Thus, while raising a hue and cry against one comparatively harmless individual, they permitted reckless custodians of bank funds to go the limit. Now, as a result, many banks are going down in the states affected, and thousands of people will lose their savings.

Here is one more instance of the failure of regulatory governmental agencies to function in the manner and to the purpose for which they were created. It was within the la ful power and authority of the state and federal bank supervisors to decree thumbs down on bankers engaging in Florida land speculation. In fact, it was their plain duty to do so. But they failed to act, just as they have done in numerous other cases.

Nebraska has had some experience in the past with the same sort of administration. Its citizens were swindled out of hundreds of millions of dollars a few years ago by smooth-tongued stock promoters, armed with certificates of authority issued by the state. More than 125 of its banks have failed within the last 5 or 6 years, in consequence of their owners and managers making unwise loans, indulging in wildcat speculation, and in some instances misappropriating bank funds, all carried on under the eyes and noses of state and federal regulators.

This sort of object lesson, many times repeated, is doing much to convince the American people that government supervision is a false remedy for business evils.

THE MURDER OF DON MELLETT.

The gangsters and gunman of Canton, O., who under cover of darkness shot down and killed Don Mellett, publisher of the Canton, O., News, have insured the success of the journalist's crusade.

Crime will have to go in Canton.

Law and decency will triumph.

The realization of this fact will not in anyway diminish or soften the sorrow and shock of a dastardly cold-blooded murder in the community where it occurred or throughout the nation. There will be universal regret that a fine, clean, courageous young man should be sacrificed to the lawless elements which comprise the underworld.

Mellett was a brave soldier, who did not flinch in the face of what he conceived to be his duty. He had taken a vow that he would make Canton safe for law-abiding citizens. He knew that he was dealing with hardened and callous thugs, men who had enriched themselves through lawlessness, but that did not deter him in the slightest. The fight which Don Mellett was carrying on in Canton, single-handed against heavy odds, provides one of the most inspiring examples of exalted journalism to be found in recent years.

The era of personal journalism has passed because the newspaper has grown too big to reflect the individuality of one man. Generally its passing should occasion no regret.

But here and there may be found isolated instances of conscientious and high-minded journalists who have revived it to the everlasting benefit of their community. Such was Don Mellett. Canton will come to revere his memory for he lost his life in fighting to preserve the most sacred institutions in America.

Here's a chance for a new specialized college. There are only 300 first class bank robbers and safe blowers in the United States today, a speaker at a bar association meeting declared.

"Ma" Ferguson is a real politician. Instead of doing something more of the ordinary, she attracted the attention of the newspaper reporters by sleeping through a train wreck.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

SAVING FOOD?

"I am 50 years old and weigh 245 pounds. I have been married for 20 years and commenced gaining in weight as soon as I was married (weighed 145 then), as my husband is a lover of sweets and I soon got his eating habits. I am a very heavy eater of all kinds of food. I'm very nervous about my eating; just seems as though I have to eat between meals, as though I were afraid something would go to waste if I didn't eat it! I'm troubled with stiff joints. Live on a farm and do my own work and care for my six children. I'm sending self-addressed, stamped envelope and ten cents in stamps for your booklet on reducing. —Mrs. P."

245 pounds in weight! 100 pounds' gain in 20 years—the rate of five pounds a year. One pound of fat represents 4,000 calories eaten. Five pounds a year means 20,000 calories in a year's time. Dividing by 365 you will find you have had around 50 calories extra, daily. That would mean about one-half slice of bread, or one-half pat of butter, extra, each day. No so very much, but it certainly worked havoc with you, didn't it?

You will never try to save food this way again, Mrs. P., if you realize that you are saving it in the form of fat on your own body. It is much better to throw away much good food than to eat it, if by so doing you overeat.

It's no wonder that you are troubled with stiff joints. I wnoder you're not on the borderline of diabetes. Perhaps you are. I had better frighten you a little bit to make you realize that you must follow the instruction contained in the reducing booklet which was sent to you.

Will you please write me a letter each time you register a loss of 15 pounds or so? After you've lost around 40 or 50 pounds, I advise you to stop for two weeks or so and go back to maintenance diet. You'll probably gain two or three pounds, but you needn't gain any more. That will be due to the retention of water.

Some of our followers who are reducing slowly, do not take this rest from reducing and they write that they experience no ill effects. If you reduce not more than one to one and one-half pounds a week it will be all right not to stop until you are down to normal weight. In 52 weeks, at the rate of one and one-half pounds a week, there will be a loss of around 75 pounds.

(Those who are in need of instructions on reducing may have the booklet Mrs. P. speaks of, by following the column rules: sending a fully self-addressed, stamped envelope and ten cent sin stamps with request. Allow at least two weeks for its receipt.)

Recommending Physicians.

Mrs. J.—I am sorry I cannot tell you particular physicians to go to, either through the column or personally. Many times I do not know the physicians in the locality from where the letters come. (This article is syndicated and appears all over the United States and Canada.)

Please ring up the County Medical Society of your locality and ask them for a list of doctors or institutions.

Miss F.—Send for our article on Common Eye Troubles. That takes up Pink Eye, Styes, etc., and gives an eye wash which is very good, as many of our followers testify. (Send self-addressed, stamped envelope with request, and allow at least two weeks for its receipt.)

My dear Followers:

When sending for material which we offer you, please remember to enclose a STAMPED, SELF-ADDRESSED envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose TEN cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, NOTOVER 200 WORDS, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you invidual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible, if they are of general interest. Don't forget the STAMPED, SELF-ADDRESSED ENVELOPE if you expect me to send you the information

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS,

Noted Astronomer and Writer on Scientific Topics of Popular Interest.

The study of evolution has led to some highly important practical results, entirely aside from any discussion of the attempts made to explain evolution.

Dr. John M. Coulter, in a recent lecture, says:

"By means of carefully controlled pedigree cultures, DeVries discovered a plant in the actual performance of producing occasionally a new form among its numerous progeny . . . in other words it was a new species, or at least, a different species from its parent. Many such species have now been observed originating in this way, both in plants and animals. That one species can produce another one is no longer inferred, but demonstrated. . . . There is no longer any doubt, therefore, that evolution is a fact. It is quite a different question whether the proposed explanations are adequate."

Leaving the whole story of the past of evolution to inference, Dr. Coulter says biologists are only concerned in discovering experimentally how one species may produce another one. To illustrate this he presents some practical results that the study of evolution has made possible, and which "the public in general do not appreciate."

Only the field of agriculture is called upon to furnish the examples adduced. During the ten years before the World War it was stated that our population had increased 20 per cent and our food production only about 1 per cent. The outlook was so alarming that the study of plant crops from the standpoint of genetics or heredity was vigorously undertaken, and "plant breeding became a science."

Three principal causes were found for the lack of crop production. These were, first, lack of adaptation of crops to environment; second, destruction by drought; third, destruction by disease. A world-wide examination of the environment necessary for a maximum yield of various kinds of crops "resulted in such an adjustment of crops to conditions that total food production was enormously increased."

Similar experimental methods are now solving the second difficulty through the development of drought-resisting races. And this, in turn, serves to increase to a very great extent the area of land capable of producing crops.

The third source of loss, that from disease, is being succesfully attacked by the same method, viz., that of seeking and developing races that possess a power of resistance to disease. "As a result," says Dr. Coulter, "food production is now beginning to overtake population, and we may thank the study of evolution for the result."

It will be seen that the source of all these developments is the property of variation inherent in organic life forms, together with the power of adaptation to changing conditions. Such things are facts, but the problem of explanation is exceedingly complex, far more so than Darwin imagined, although the evidence for evolution as a fact has greatly increased since his time. The older reasoners on this subject, being relatively short of facts, undertook to proceed by the way of inference alone, and they extended this back to the origin of the plant and animal kingdoms, involving the origin of man. But, says Dr. Coulter, "in these days there is no such attempt, for experimental demonstration of the evolution of the whole series of organic forms culminating in man is clearly impossible."

This does not mean to say that evolution does not apply to the whole course of life development on the earth, but only that we do not know just what causes and processes brought about, in the remote past, the changes which we are sure occurred. The modern biologist pursues the experimental method, and his results are demonstrations.

Paul just took jazz by the nap of the neck and dragged it right up within an ace of touching grand opera. He couldn't understand why two races of music could be so far apart. Well, Paul is a fine fellow, and it hasn't gone to his head any, and he has a fine bunch of boys with him. I saw them over here playing in London, and they are just as

An Englishman had been to America, and his American friend had showed him the stock exchange, of which he was a member. The American was telling him that it was very dull, that there wasn't much doing. He remarked to him, "Why, it's so dull down here now that you can't get a scent out of a Skunk."

Well, the Englishman thought that was a great joke, so he went back home and was telling it about his friend. "Why, he told me it was positively so dull on their exchange that you couldn't get even a dollar out of one of those Skunks."

REMOVE TRACKS ON R STREET

Rail Commission Issues Emergency Order At Traction Company Request.

Fares Averaged Eight Per Day—No Complaints From Citizens.

Abandonment of the Lincoln Traction Co.'s street car line, tracks and service on R and North Sixteenth streets is authorized by the state railway commission in an emergency order issued Saturday. The company is authorized to remove its tracks, poles and wires from Eleventh and R east to Sixteenth, and thence north to Vine street, and to cease service along that route.

This covers only a part of the Traction Co.'s recent application, heard a few days ago, relative to abandonment of car lines. The commission has reserved its ruling on the outlying sections of the penitentiary and state hospital lines, where bus service is proposed as a substitute for electric trolley cars.

On account of the fact that work is being started on the widening and resurfacing of R street, which made it necessary to remove trolley poles from where they now are, that phase of the application was considered and decided first, so that the company might not be put to useless expense by setting the poles elsewhere, in order to keep the service going.

Testimony taken at the hearing was that the average number of fares and transfers taken on the R and Sixteenth street line did not exceed 8 per day. No one in the territory where the line runs objected. The chancellor of the university favored its removal, as did the city attorney. The commission suggests that bus service will probably be arranged in the near future between the university and the farm campus.

Arrest Man Here Reported Wanted At Columbus, Neb.

E. T. Boston, who was arrested by Lincoln police Thursday, is wanted at Columbus, Neb., on a charge of obtaining property by false pretenses, according to a telegram received at the state sheriff's office Saturday morning.

Acording to the information State Sheriff Condit had, Boston is said to have purchased a bunch of hogs at Columbus, giving checks amounting to about $5,000 in payment for them. He is alleged to have shipped the hogs to Omaha and sold them. The checks which he gave in payment for the hogs are said to have been returned by the bank as being no good.

Officers at Columbus have been notified of the arrest of Boston. He is being held at the city jail until it is decided what action will be taken by the Columbus authorities.

Chapter XXXVIII.

Brier Halter, faultlessly dressed, stopped short and blocked Joslyn's progress his gray eyes suddenly lighted with pleasure.

"My luck is endless," he declared. "If Fate seems bent upon throwing us at each other's heads, why should we refuse to accept the hint? Whither bound?"

"Home," Joslyn told him. "I just felt like a stroll up Broadway before I turned in."

"Great minds," he said tritely, "run in the same channel. I was lonesome, too."

The though of a man worth millions being forced through loneliness to mingle in the Broadway throng struck Joslyn as the height of absurdity. It was in his power, she knew, to surround himself with any brilliant company he might choose.

"Don't you ever stay home?" she asked him, faintly mocking.

"If you but knew!" he returned cryptically.

Though halted for only a moment, they were already interfering with the flow of pedestrians, were being hustled by the living tide. Brierhalter took Joslyn's arm and steered her as he stuck precariously at her side, into the uptown current.

"The fact is I've been restless all day—ever since I drove you home," he said. "I actually believe it was my intense desire that directed us together again tonight. You can't tell me these things are accidents. I believe the human mind is a great deal like the compass on a ship—that it responds to a magnetic attraction as yet scarcely suspected."

His company, Joslyn decided, was not unpleasant; the more she had come to know him, the more he had revealed unexpected angles of a keen, imaginative intelligence. And apart from his obvious infatuation, he was the most interesting man she knew.

But his friendship was too impregnated with power for easy enjoyment. His wealth, for another thing, stirred a remote apprehension in Joslyn while it had an undoubted fascination it had also a potency that worried her.

"I'm tired of walking now," she said. "I think I'll get in the subway and ride on up home."

"We'll get a taxi and ride up," he told her. "I didn't bring my car out tonight."

She protested but he waved her objections aside and managed to segregate a taxicab out of the maze of traffic.

"We might go over to the Bombay—or any place else you like," he suggested, but she declined.

"Not tonight. I want to get a lot of sleep. I'll need all my energy for my rehearsal with De Costa tomorrow."

"I know you're determined to go through with that dancing business, but I certainly wish you wouldn't," he complained. "It's a strange thing. In Wall street I had very little trouble in swaying some rather important minds but with a beautiful and desirable young lady like yourself I seem completely robbed of any influence."

"Do I have any influence with you?" she asked him innocently.

Brierhalter assured her that she had a great deal.

"Then I wonder if I could influence you not to take such a violent interest in me, and what I do," she said. It's flattering, but I've so many problems to face that I haven't room for any more complications."

"On the contrary, I could make things very simple for you, my dear. Here I am head and heels in love with you. I'm a great believer in the great god Money. Do you realize that you have within your grasp everything that money can buy—and that means practically everything?"

"Apparently it is not buying what you want," Joslyn could not help replying tartly.

"That's your fault," Brierhalter retorted. "I want you, but your sense of values is so ridiculously distorted that you don't realize what almost unlimited wealth can do for you."

In rapid order the three appeals that were being urged upon her flashed through Joslyn's mind—the thrilling animal magnetism of James Kelvin, the comradely honorable love of Lee Rogers, the stark commercialism of Brierhalter.

"It might interest you to know," she said, without undue hostility, "that if you ever could have had any chance with me, you continue to blast it by trying to put me on a purchasable basis. I should think that even a millionaire would know women better than that."

"That," Brierhalter told her, "is a perfect idiotic and dishonest conclusion. Nine-tenths of the happiness and unhappiness of life hinges on money. Only the sentimental fools doubt it. Money, plus brains, can accomplish all but the sheerest impossibilities."

"Money, plus brains, won't get me," Joslyn said coolly.

"Some man, however, is going to get you," Brierhalter stated. "I'm so sure that I'm the man that the pursuit isn't even exciting—its merely tedious."

His effrontery, incredible as it was,—perhaps for that very reason ——impressed Joslyn, brought the tiniest tremor of uncertainty to her heart. Slowly she was beginning to understand the bulldog in the man, the steel will behind his well-groomed exterior. In him she sensed daring o fa high, almost invincible order.

"I can't believe you mean all you say," she said. "You say you want me—yet you have never said anything about marriage. I asked you that the other night and you got around it."

Brierhalter smiled, rather kindly. "I was wondering how long it would take you to get to that. Well, I'll tell you about it—"

Inform Man Of Baby's Illness After Four Hour Search

After searching for four hours, police Friday evening located John Kelly, of Omaha, and delivered to him a message that his baby was very ill and that he was wanted at home immediately.

Night Driver Gillespie started the search when Omaha police called the police station, giving the information that it was thought Kelly was camping in a tent on the outskirts of Lincoln. Driver Gillespie made trips on west O street, the S. Y. A. highway, and north Ninth street, but was unable to locate Kelly. Officers checked up several of the "Kellys" living in Lincoln and Officers Davis and Schrup were finally successful, at 1:30 a. m. Saturday in locating the Omaha man.

June Gas Tax Revenue Shows Gain Over May

State gasoline tax colections for June remitted by 477 licensed dealers in Nebrsaka aggergate $271,172, with 29 still to report. A gain of $13,224 over payments made by the same dealers for May is shown by the records of the state collection bureau. Chief Bass thinks the June total will reach a figure near $280,000 when all are heard from.

For June, 1925, the receipts from gasoline tax amounted to $245,948, so that a gain of $25,000, or over 10 per cent, is already shown over that month. For May this year, the revenue was $265,604.

Since the gasoline tax law became effective on April 1, 1925—a period of fifteen and a half months—it ha syielded a total of $3,603,496, but several thousands dollars of this has been refunded to agricultural users.

Auditor Ignores Summons In Suit

A summons addressed to "State of Nebraska," not designating any individual officer, reached State Auditor Marsh in the mail Saturday, from Trenton, Neb. It was issued by Carl H. Swanson, acting county judge, in a garnishment suit brought against Philip Shepard at that place. Marsh does not know who Shepard is, but supposes him to be an employed in some department of the state government.

Under a law enacted by the 1925 legislature, garnishment actions may be brought against the state or any of its subdisivions to collect indebtedness of their employes, and money due the latter as salary may be taken to satisfy debts.

Auditor Marsh was advised by the attorney general's office that he need not attend the trial. He will therefore disregard the summons.

CHIEF LEAVES FOR CONVENTION

Peter Johnstone to Attend International Association Of Police Heads.

Chief of Police Peter Johnstone was to leave at 4:40 Saturday afternoon for Chicago, where he will attend the thirty-third annual convention of the International Association of Chiefs of Police next week.

Chief Johnstone will attend all of the meetings, which will be held every day from Monday to Friday. More than one thousand police chiefs from the United States and Canada are expected to atend.

Exhibitions dealing with methods of identification, and police methods in general will feature the meetings. Government representatives will attend and the National Bureau of Criminal Information and Identification will be well-represented.

Exhibits will show the use of radio, gas bombs, first aid, pairols, laboratories, motorcycles and schools in police work, and special clothing and weapons will be discussed.

Notifies Schools Minimum Age For Teachers Dropped

In accordance with the recent decision of the Nebraska Supreme court allowing a writ of mandamus against State Superintendent Matzen to compel the issuance of a teachers' certificate to Miss Darlene Johnson of Tilden, 17 years old, notice is being sent by Mr. Matzen in a circular letter to 23 universities, colleges and normal schools and to all county superintendents that the 18-years minimum age limit heretofore in effect will be dropped.

"Beginning with July 11, the date the writ was granted, no age requirement is necessary for certificates issued by the state superintendent," says Matzen in this communication.

"If you know of any applicants who have filed applications at this office, were rejected on account of their age, please advise them if they desire certificates to again make formal application to this office on the usual blank accompanied by the legal fee of one dollar in currency, draft or money order. It will not be necessary for applicants in the future to answer the question appearing on the application blank with reference to their age, if they do not wish to do so."

Nickel Plate Plans To Take Over An Indiana Railroad

WASHINGTON, July 17.—(AP)—Evidence that the Nickel Plate plans to take over the Chicago Attica and Southern railroad which serves about fifty cities and towns in Indiana, is contained in a letter received by Interstate Commerce Commissioner Meyer, from M. J. Van Sweringen, one of the operators of the Nickel Plate consolidation plan.

TRAP AND KILL YOUNG ROBBER

Officers Shoot Youth Fleeing From Scene Of Hold-Up At Chicago.

CHICAGO, July 17.—(By the Associated Press.)—Trapped by the sudden appearance of a police patrol, one of two youths was shot and killed last night shortly after they had held up a summer session co-ed and her escort near the University of Chicago campus.

The slain robber was identified by papers on his person as Arthur Carmichael, 24, of Milan, Mo. He had been employed in a restaurant.

The two had just robbed George Gray of $14 while Miss Lavern Lane of Cherokee, Okla., looked on, and were walking away when the police car approached. Gray called the officers who opened fire as the fugitives plunged into an alleyway.

Several hours later the police traced a telephone number found among Carmichael's papers and arrested D. C. Harrison, 25, formerly of Battle Creek, Mich., and reported his confession as the slain youth's companion.

Decree Modified—District Judge Broady Saturday morning made a modification of the decree of divorce granted Eva Winifred Weston against Plummer Parker Weston by awarding the custody of the two children to the father, instead of the mother, as originally specified.

Briefly Told News From The Wires

CALCUTTA — (AP) — Deaths among the wounded in the hospitals Friday brought the list of fatalities in Thursday's Hindu-Moslem clash here to fourteen. The injured number 126.

CHICAGO—(AP)—The drum and bugle corps of St. Paul lodge B. P. O. E. was judged the best corps participating in the parade Thursday, which closed the Elks national convention here, it was announced last night. The corps from Racine, Wis., was second.

LONDON—(AP)—The Press Association says that a member of the executive committee of the British miners' federation stated Friday afternoon that peace proposals suggested by a group of Anglican bishops have been accepted. The ministers' executive was quoted as saying that the proposal to return to work for four months under the present conditions had been accepted by the committee with few minor alterations. He expressed the belief that negotiations would be undertaken next week. It would be the action of the government as a result of the bishops' appeal rather than that of the owners which would unlock the door to peace, he asserted.

MILAN—(AP)—Street traffic in Milan was seriously impeded Friday by an invasion of flying ants which filled the air of the entire city. The phenomon was caused by their dropping to earth while making a flight common during the breeding season. It is asserted that a similar invasion of ants occurred in Breslau in 1887.

OSKALOOSA, Ia.—(AP) — The robbery of the Standard Oil Co's safe here Thursday of $200 is believed by authorities to have been the work of three armed men who Wednesday night appropriated a sedan belonging to M. C. Curtis of Minneapolis, and forced Curtis and two others to accompany them to the edge of the city. No trace of the robber trio has been found. All three are described as young men, wearing dark suits and caps and light shirts. One is of slight build, one heavy and one tall and slender.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Subway and elevated strikers appealed to the state department of labor Friday in an effort to obtain back pay impounded by the Interborough Rapid Transit Co., pending suit for damages against the strikers on the ground that they had broken a contract. Pay of sixty-two strikers amounting to about $1,800 is held back by the transit company.

Barn Struck By Lightning Burns And Horse Dies

(Special to The Star.)

DAVID CITY, Neb., July 17.—A barn owned by Joe Andel near Appleton and about six miles northeast of David City was struck by lightning and burned to the ground about nine o'clock Thursday evening. One horse, five tons of hay, a load of oats and several sets of harness were burned. The fire was discovered by Mr. Andel who immediately attempted to rescue the horses. There were four in the barn and three were taken out. The neighbors came to Mr. Andel's assistance but the blaze was beyond control. The barn was large and was built to keep eight teams of horses. Insurance to the amount of $800 was carried on the barn which only partially covered the loss. Mr. Andel did not know the total loss but thought that it might be around $1,500. The barn was in good shape and was nearly new.

To Enjoin Farmer From Preventing Tubercular Tests

(Special to The Star.)

FREMONT, Neb., July 17.—An injunction suit has been started in District court by the Nebraska department of Agriculture against Herman Suhr asking the court to make an order preventing defendant, a well known Dodge county farmer, from hindering state officials from testing his dairy herd.

Suhr, according to the petition, ordered the state men off his premises and has persistently refused to have the herd tested. Dodge county, it is contended, has been prevented from securing the benefits of a tested county on account of the attitude of Suhr.

Oscar Hinds Goes To Weeping Water

(Special to The Star.)

DAVID CITY, Neb., July 17.—Oscar Hinds, assistant cashier in the Butler County State bank in David City, has resigned and has accepted a position as cashier in the First National bank at Weeping Water. Mr. Hinds will succeed the late Thomas Murtey, who was the cashier at Weeping Water. Mr. Hinds will move his family there some time before the first of August.

Judge Pemberton To Western Coast

(Special to The Star.)

BEATRICE, Neb., July 17.—Judge L. M. Pemberton, who has served three terms as judge of this judicial district, left Friday on an extended trip to the coast and while away will visit his two daughters at Tacoma and Seattle. The judge is nearly 82 years of age and is enjoying good health. He is a great pedestrian and seldom rides to and from his home which is nearly a mile from the business part of the city.

THIS WOMAN'S BATTLE

Wins Against Ill Health

"At times I was hardly able to do my housework," writes Mrs. Margaret Wallace, of 1847 Safford Ave., Columbus, Ohio.

How many women have found themselves in this same condition! How many women have fought bravely on, day after day, cooking, washing, ironing, doing the dishes and keeping the house clean, when they were in a weakened condition and had not sufficient strength to perform these duties.

A friend advised her to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and she gave it a fair trial. "I just can't give enough thanks to it," she writes. "Now I can eat anything at all and I am feeling better than I have for years. I shall never be without your medicine again."

A woman who is fighting for her health and her family's happiness is a valiant soldier. She wages her battle in her own kitchen. She has no thrilling bugles to cheer her on, no waving banners.

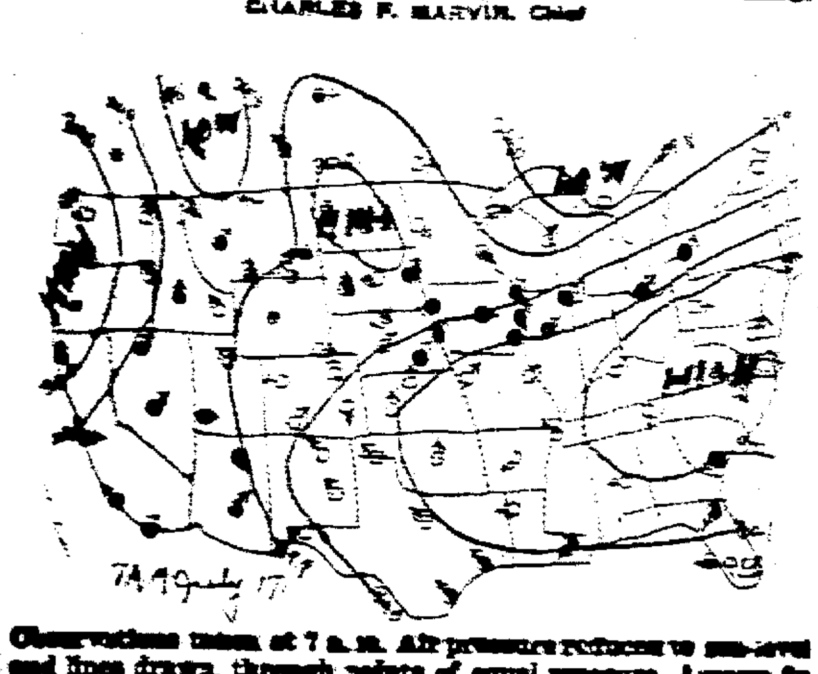

Many other women tell us, as Mrs. Wallace did that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored their health.

Market Quotations

GRAIN MARKETS.

CHICAGO, Ill., July 17.

Grains closed steady to a shade firmer today with wheat ⅛ to ⅞c higher, corn ⅝c higher to ¼c lower, oats ⅛ to ⅝c higher.

WHEAT—Opened steady to ⅝c down on the weak cables from Liverpool, but firmness in northwest markets offset this and the market went slightly higher with July showing the most firmness. The buying was by shorts and commission houses, bullish oriental crop news also helped the market advance. Later there was a let up in active buying and realizing sales and prices again sagged. Trade was moderate. Estimated receipts were 167 cars.

CORN—Steady to ⅛c down early on scattered selling by locals and commission houses. Buying power was small and scattered. On the break there was good buying of July and this delivery went higher while other futures were lower. Receipts were estimated at 150 cars.

OATS—Opened ⅛c lower to ⅛c higher. Houses with northwest connections were best buyers. Trade was light and the market moved within a narrow range. Receipts were estimated at 41 cars.

PROVISIONS—Closed easier.

WEEKLY TRADE REVIEW.

NEW YORK, July 17.—(AP)—Bradstreet's today said:

"A fairly prompt rally from Mid-year dullness is visible in trade and industry, retail trade showing visible evidences of intensive advertising of sales," while industry, largely in constructive lines, has quickened after a shorter than normal period of stock taking shutdowns. Wholesale and jobbing has been slower to gather force, for which corn uncertainties in the south and spring wheat northwest have been mainly responsible. Consideration of current crop developments vies wit hreviews of the business done in the first half of the year, with coniderable variance still shown in opinions as to what faces the business world in the world second half of the year.

"Crop reports for the week have dwelt on some excesses of rain, cool weather and insect pests affecting the cotton crop, but there has seemed to be a disposition to regard the cotton flea damage prospect as less threatening than was indicated a week or two ago."

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

NEW YORK, July 17.

General Motors and United States Steel today led a brisk upward movement in the stock market.

At one stage of the bullish session, General Motors had advanced to 169, a gain of 4⅛ points, and U. S. Steel has jumped to 145, a gain of 1⅜. These were new high levels for both stocks. At the close, however, profit-taking developed and General Motors slipped back to 168¼, a 3⅜'s gain for the day, and U. S. Steel fell back to 143⅝, a ⅝'s advance for the day.

Trading was very active. Sales for the short session today totaled 1,074,200 shares as compared with 689,300 at the close of the second hour on Friday.

Bullish sentiment was stimulated by Friday's advances in standard industrials and by further encouragement expressed by weekly mercantile reviews which were optimistic regarding business conditions.

Mack Trucks closed at 126¼, 3⅜ higher, and the best price of the current advance. American Can moved up ⅝ during the day to 58⅞, the highest figure by the present shares since it was cut.

Shortly before the close there was a wild outburst of buying in General Motors and U. S. Steel which shot the prices of these stocks upward. Then the profit-taking set in and some recessions took place, but on the whole the general list maintained its buoyant tone.

American Telephone & Telegraph was one of the stocks which showed a decline late in the day, easing off ⅛ to 141⅞. Hudson Motor fell off ¼ to 57.

Other leading stocks, however, closed active and higher. American Can finished the day up ⅛ at 58⅜; Allied Chemical & Dye up ⅝ at 130⅜; Dodge Brothers up 1⅛ at 34⅜; Chrysler up a full point at 36⅛; General Electric new up 1 at 89⅝; International Combustoin Engineering jumped 1⅛ to 56⅜; Marland Oil rose ⅜ to 59; North American Company was up ½ at 51⅞ and Woolworth advanced 1⅛ to 169⅝.

Rails were rather neglected and showed a somewhat uneasy tendency in view of the confident undertone in other stocks. Chicago & Northwestern declined ⅝ to 71⅝; Wabash eased off ⅛ to 46¼; Pere Marquette advanced ⅝ to 99½ and Canadian Pacific closed 1 point higher at 164.

Opening prices in the stock market today were firm. Chesapeake & Ohio advanced a point to 143, U. S. Steel gained ½ at 143¾, Chrysler Motor was up ⅛ at 35½, Hudson Motor up ¼ at 56½, New York, New Haven & Hartford ¼ higher at 47⅝, Southern Railway advanced ¼ to 117⅞, Studebaker up ⅜ at 56, Mack Truck up ½ at 124, International Combustion Engineering up ½ at 54⅞, American Smelting ¼ higher at 136⅝ and Marland Oil up ⅝ at 58⅞.

Stock sales on the floor of the New York stock exchange today totaled 1,074,200 shares; bonds, $5,412,000.

Grain Notes

CHICAGO, July 17.—(AP)— Decidedly bullish news from the northwest and a belated reaction at Liverpool has watched wheat experience a sweeping advance within a week.

There was heavy profit taking toward the close yesterday, after the day's smart rise, but the market undertone seemed very strong. Sentiment is divided as to what course will be taken now, but the trend is bullish.

Scattered rains have visited the Canadian northwest, but advices are that the fall has been too slight to materially aid drouth conditions. The outlook appears pessimistic.

The trade is watching Liverpool, which for a long time ignored the northwest situation. The foreigners bought on the bulge yesterday although the day's purchase was for only 500,000 bushels of new winter and Manitobas.

Local experts report large areas in North Dakota as virtually a failure.

Corn was active yesterday with tendency to sell somewhat offset by late reports of hot winds over parts of Iowa. Weather conditions throughout the belt seem to be generally improving, after a period of cool weather that has further handicapped the late crop.

The Chicago trade hears that buying by the Pacific coast in the Missouri river valley lately, and the prices paid have drawn corn fro the Chicago territory.

A BIG REWARD IS NOW OFFERED IN MELLETT KILLING

have semi-private funeral services with only members of the family, a few very close friends and employes of the News in attendance.

In the meantime the outstanding development in the case was the public attack made upon the Canton police department by Lloyd Mellett, city editor of the News and brother of the victim of the gunmen.

While not actually established, it is generally believed that the men who shot Mellett were hired for that purpose by organized bootleggers or organized dope peddlers. Mellett had been merciless in his war on the dope ring and the bootlegging industry in Canton and he had incurred the hatred of every individual connected with the underworld.

The gunmen who struck down Mellett had evidently been in the city for several days and were well acquainted with the terrain in the vicinity of the publisher's home and with some of his personal habits. It was this careful campaign of preparation that enabled them to strike and make good their escape unseen.

Description Lacking.

There has not been a person found who can give any description of the slayers. There is not a soul who can say definitely in what kind of an automobile the murderers fled. Although more than forty persons have been questioned by police nothing that looks like a live clue has been unearthed.

"We want to get the parties and punish them for their crime," said Chief of Police S. A. Lengel today. It was with Lengel and Police Captain Ben Clark that Mellett went to war over alleged police inefficiency here.

With the arrival of ex-Governor Cox here, expected today, new impetus will be giver the hunt for the slayers. Mr. Cox has stated that all his resources would back the search.

Other developments were:

The arrival of C. H. Sisson, special investigator of Gov. Vic Donahey, who began an immediate probe of his own.

The calling of a special session of the city council for Monday night for the hiring of some famous detective. Ora Slater, Cincinnati sleuth, who solved the mysterious Jacob Nesbitt killing at Troy, O., was believed certain of the appointment.

The declaration by Judge H. C. Pontius, Mellett's legal adviser, that "there would be hell to pay in Canton if Mellett's slayers were not apprehended."

The posting of a $1,000 reward by the Brush-Moore newspapers of Ohio.

from state hatcheries and are furnishing good sport with rod and line for people from a large territory around Fremont. The lakes average 30 feet in depth, with sloping banks, and in a few places are 50 feet deep having been formed by the excavation of sand and gravel beds. The water is clear and its level is constantly maintained by seepage from the Platte.

Bought for $50 an Acre.

It will cost the state approximately $8,250 to get this site for a public recreation camp with such ample facilities for fishing, camping, bathing and boating. The price paid is $50 an acre, Chief Game Warden O'Connell announced Saturday.

"This is a very satisfactory price for land on a main paved highway, within 4 miles of one of the principal cities of eastern Nebraska, and accessible to 500,00 people in this part of the state for week-end outings." Mr. O'Connell declared. "I don't know where else we could have done better, particularly when it is taken into account that the lakes are assured of a never-failing supply of water."

The purchase was made from the Lyman-Ritchie Sand Co., of Omaha. It is still dredging sand and gravel from one of the lakes, but has finished working the others. It also puts u pice during the winter season from some of the lakes.

The state will take immediate possession of the tract, though the company will continue to operate its remaining gravel pit for the rest of this saeson, thereby deepening the last lake in the chain. It agrees to remove all its tracks, machinery and equipment of every sort from the land by May 1, 1927.

Improvements to be Made.

Work wil start soon on improving the ground for use as a recreation park. The first undertaking will be to level down the piles of "strippings," or surface earth which was taken off to uncover sand and gravel deposits. Part of this earth will be dumped into the water along the shores of the lakes, to provide suitable soil for aquatic vegetation on which fish feed. Sandy beaches will be left a good deal as they are.

There are three houses on the land, two of which will be moved off by the company, the largest one being left to serve as a residence for the state's caretaker when one is installed. The caretaker will be vested with the powers of a deputy game warden to enforce the laws and prosecute offenders.

The new state fishing and camping park is within 60 miles of Lincoln and 40 miles of Omaha, highly improved with federal and state highways leading to it from all directions. Agriculture Secretary McLaughlin, who negotiated the purchase, and Chief Game Warden O'Connell think it will attract hundreds and thousands of visitors every week during the camping and fishing season.

CALL ISSUED FOR DEMO CONVENTION IN GRAND ISLAND

ing for Seattle on a business trip, gave out the following explanation as to why the state convention was located at Grand Island:

"The democratic state committee has selected Grand Island as the place to hold its state convention on September 2. The majority of the executive committee favored Grand Island because of the fact that the city is centrally located, has amipe auditorium facilities, good hotel and restaurant accommodations, and is located on five state highways.

The chamber of commerce, the mayor, and many leading citizens urge the committee to select Grand Island.

Omaha had also asked for the convention, and invitations had been received from Lincoln and other cities.

came into the bank. He was immediately covered with a gun by one of the bandits and was made to lie down on the floor with the other men.

Then all five of them were forced into the bank's vault, the door was closed, and the two bandits made a hurried exit. Cashier Stech was able to open the door of the vault from the inside and the five victims escaped from the vault as soon as they heard the bandits leave the building.

No one outside the bank saw the robbery nor saw the bandits leave the bank, but several said they saw the car speeding south. After going a short distance south the bandits turned east. After going a block east they turned north and then headed west. A man at a filling station reported that he saw the car headed west, and shortly afterwards a farmer said he had seen a car answering the description of the bandits' car speeding north on the road that leads to Milford. That was the last time the bandit car was definitely identified. Several other reports were received from various parts of the state saying that a car which seemed to answer the description had been seen, but the officers were unable to get any accurate report of the direction in which the robbers had made their escape.

The best description of the men that could be obtained was given by Herman Harms, filling station operator, who sold the men some gasoline an hour or so before the robbery. Those who were in the bank at the time of the robbery had little opportunity to get a good look at the men. They were ordered several times by the bandits not to look at them.

Two Are Described.

The best description of the men that could be obtained indicated that all of them were between the ages of twenty-five and thirty. One was very tall, nearly six feet, but was rather thin and it was said that he probably weighed 150 pounds. He was light complexioned and rathter good looking.

The second man was about five feet seven or eight inches tall and weighed probably 165 or 170 pounds. His face had a noticeably red and sunburned hue. Neither of the men was shaven. No accurate description could be obtained of the third man, who is believed to have been the one who remained in the car.

Several persons are said to have noticed the car in town and it was fairly well agreed that it bore an Otoe county license number, the key number of which is 11. Reports received here last night said that an auto license number, 11-587 was stolen from a car at Unadilla Thursday night.

Another report from Oskaloosa, Ia., said that three men answering very closely the description of the bandit trio had held up a filling station there Thursday and had also stolen a Chrysler coach which answers the description of the one used by the bandits at Dorchester.

One report received was that the bandits had stopped a few miles northwest of Dorchester and had removed their overalls. They were said to have been dressed in light grey suits when they were seen in Dorchester earlier in the afternoon.

Roads Patroled.

Reports of the robbery were received by the state, county and police officers in Lincoln about 3:15 and a dozen or more county officers left Lincoln immediately for Dorchester, and to patrol all roads leading into Lincoln and east from Dorchester. State Deputies Hasson and Dudschus went to Dorchester where they attempted to obtain some clue to the identity of the bandits. State Sheriff Condit, who was in Omaha, was notified, and he immediately got busy on the phone and had guards stationed at all bridges across the Platte river.

Local officers all over southeastern Nebraska were called by phone from the state sheriff's office and were given descriptions of the bandits, and were asked to be on the lookout for them.

Captain of Detectives Walter Anderson and five police officers patrolled the highways west of Lincoln. News of the robbery and descriptions of the bandits and their car were broadcast from the Nebraska Buick station.

Descriptions Tally.

The three bandits have been practically identified as being the same three men who blew the Standard Oil filling station safe at Oskaloosa, Ia., Wednesday and escaped in a Chrysler coach which they stole at the same time.

Descriptions of the men who were seen at Oskaloosa and those who were seen at Dorchester coincide in many respects. State Sheriff Condit is working on this theory in his effort to catch the bandits.

The car stolen at Oskaloosa had a Minnesota license late on it, while the car used at Dorchester bore a Nebraska license with an Otoe county key number, 11. The motor and serial numbers of the Oskaloosa car were obtained this morning by Condit. The motor number is C134207 and the serial number is PW6990. The original license number was 365-208.

Several reports of Chrysler coaches answering the description of the bandit car have been received by Condit. Railroad workers reported seeing a car with three men in it speeding along a side road near Fairbury about 5 o'clock Friday afternoon.

Expect to Find Car.

The night marshal at Eagle, Neb., east of Lincoln, told Condit this morning that a Chrysler coach with two men in it drove into Eagle at midnight from the south and then turned around and left in the same direction.

The officers believe that it is more probable that the three men, if they are the ones who came from Oskaloosa, went south and west in their flight. They are expecting to receive a report at any time stating that the car used by the bandits has been found abandoned some place. Another possibility is that they may attempt another robbery.

Condit is planning this morning to make arrangements with the Standard Aircraft corporation for the use of a plane and a pilot to aid in locating the bandits if any report of them in this part of the state is received.

clared, arose because his wife's mother, the defendant in the suit, didn't want her to have a child. He declared that the grandmother wrote letters opposing such an event.

Gorman also denied that he had ever urged the adoption of the child by strangers or by anyone, but said that his wife had urged that he make such arrangements. This was before the baby was born, Gorman said, and added that his wife now wants to take care of her own child.

Answer Is Filed.

In an answer filed Saturday morning Mrs. Semenec declares that her daughter and son-in-law made arrangements to have the child adopted immediately upon birth, "stating that they did not want the child and did not care to be bothered with a child." She was asked to take the child, the answer states.

Mrs. Semenec also declared in the answer that her daughter has never cared for the child and "has repeatedly said that she did not even want the child near her."

On several occasions, the answer states, the young couple have tried to make arrangements to have the child adopted by strangers, to which the grandmother has objected and urged her daughter to learn to care for her baby.

She alleges that the father made much noise about the home, slamming doors and quarreling with his wife. When she remonstrated he replied that "the kid should get used to it," the petition states.

Mrs. Semenec also asserts that the son-in-law has never made a living and that the house, all of the meat, butter, eggs, and a part of the flour and coal, as well as clothing for the baby, has been furnished by Joseph Semenec, the child's grandfather.

She urges that the child is not likely to have good care by the young folks and requests that the petition be denied.

EXPLAINS RULES OF REGISTRATION

Dale P. Stough announced that every Saturday until election time a democratic candidate would speak to the club members in brief and a topic of general interest would be discussed.

A general discussion followed the talk of Mr. Berg. It was pointed out that 10,000 eligible voters are not registered, that 2,000 of those registered did not vote at the 1924 presidential election, that 10,000 did not vote at the city elections and that nearly 20,000 did not vote at the special charter change election in May. There are about 35,000 citizens in Lincoln who are eligible to vote and about 24,000 registered.

A CONFIDENCE VOTE REFUSED BY CHAMBER

ter M. Dechappedelaine had outlined the finance committee's conclusions and asked the chamber to ratify the government bill quickly because only 700,000,000 francs remained for the Bank of France to advance to the state.

Herriot declared the government's proposal for full powers had profoundly shocked all the republican members of the chamber. He could not vote for the government's project, he said. He urged the government not to leave the chamber outside the decisions it proposed to take.

While he was talking bets were laid in the lobibes at even money that the cabinet would fall.

It is rumored in the lobbies that M. Herriot-Bokanowski-Tardieu ministry had already been framed on paper, awaiting President Daumergue's summons for a new cabinet.

During his speech against the bill, M. Herriot declared he would resign the presidency of the chamber if the powers of the lower house were curtailed as the government proposed.

Premier Briand then rose to reply.

M. Briand denied energetically that the government desired to attack republican institutions. He added amid applause from the center and right benches that an encounter between M. Herriot and himself in the present crisis amounted to a tragedy.

"I don't know what will be the outcome of this duel," he said.

"No, it is not a duel," M. Herriot interrupted.

STORMS AND HEAT CLAIM HEAVY TOLL

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Johnson, parents of the dead girls are both in the hospital critically injured.

A swath from 300 feet to a quarter of a mile wide was cut at intervals for fifty miles, southeast of Ashland. Torrents of rain and large hail stones preceded the tornado. The funnel-shaped cloud appeared to originate about ten miles west of Ashland.

One family knelt in prayer in the cellar during the storm and the entire house was lifted and hurled for a radius of a hundred yards. A few minor injuries resulted.

Relief measures are being planned today by the citizens of Ashland. A somewhat similar tornado killed six near here about two years ago.

AN ECONOMIC "CRISIS" GOAL OF CHURCHES

need scare or awaken the scruples of the people, because it is a life or death struggle being carried out against the Catholic church of Mexico," the circular says.

The circular declares the campaign will be fully supported by the venerable committee of the national Episcopacy of which Archbishop Mora Del Rio is president and the Bishop of Tabasco is secretary.

WOUND FATAL TO CRAZED SLAYER

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., July 17.—(AP)—Without regaining consciousness to offer any explanation for his act, W. M. Johnson, negro, who early Friday morning shot and killed J. F. Anderson, switchman, and wounded F. C. Knop and A. T. Rohweder on a Rock Island train here, died late yesterday in a local hospital.

Surgeons said his having lived more than 12 hours after directing a bullet through his brain was unusual.

THE WEATHER.

Temperatures above 100 degrees occurred yesterday at places in Nebraska, South Dakota, Minnesota, and Iowa under the influence of a "low" which is now centered over Lake Superior. It is followed by rising pressure and cooler weather in the Dakotas and Minnesota. There were scattered thundershowers in western South Dakota and in the upper Mississippi valley and the upper Lake region; elsewhere fair weather prevails in all parts of the country.

Market Quotations

GRAIN MARKETS.

CHICAGO, Ill., July 17.

Grains closed steady to a shade firmer today with wheat ⅛ to ⅞c higher, corn ⅞c higher to ¼c lower, oats ¼ to ⅜c higher.

WHEAT—Opened steady to ⅝c down on the weak cables from Liverpool, but firmness in northwest markets offset this and the market went slightly higher with July showing the most firmness. The buying was by shorts and commission houses, bullish oriental crop news also helped the market advance. Later there was a let up in active buying and realizing sales and prices again sagged. Trade was moderate. Estimated receipts were 167 cars.

CORN—Steady to ¼c down early on scattered selling by locals and commission houses. Buying power was small and scattered. On the break there was good buying of July and this delivery went higher while other futures were lower. Receipts were estimated at 150 cars.

OATS—Opened ⅛c lower to ⅛c higher. Houses with northwest connections were best buyers. Trade was light and the market moved within a narrow range. Receipts were estimated at 41 cars.

PROVISIONS—Closed easier.

WEEKLY TRADE REVIEW.

NEW YORK, July 17.—(AP)—Bradstreet's today said:

"A fairly prompt rally from Mid-year dullness is visible in trade and industry, retail trade showing visible evidences of intensive advertising of sales," while industry, largely in constructive lines, has quickened after a shorter than normal period of stock taking shutdowns. Wholesale and jobbing has been slower to gather force, for which corn uncertainties in the south and spring wheat northwest have been mainly responsible. Consideration of current crop developments vies wit hreviews of the business done in the first half of the year, with coniderable variance still shown in opinions as to what faces the business world in the world second half of the year.

"Crop reports for the week have dwelt on some excesses of rain, cool weather and insect pests affecting the cotton crop, but there has seemed to be a disposition to regard the cotton flea damage prospect as less threatening than was indicated a week or two ago."

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

NEW YORK, July 17.

General Motors and United States Steel today led a brisk upward movement in the stock market.

At one stage of the bullish session, General Motors had advanced to 169, a gain of 4¼ points, and U. S. Steel has jumped to 145, a gain of 1¾. These were new high levels for both stocks. At the close, however, profit-taking developed and General Motors slipped back to 168⅛, a 3⅜'s gain for the day, and U. S. Steel fell back to 143⅝, a ⅝'s advance for the day.

Trading was very active. Sales for the short session today totaled 1,074,200 shares as compared with 689,300 at the close of the second hour on Friday.

Bullish sentiment was stimulated by Friday's advances in standard industrials and by further encouragement expressed by weekly mercantile reviews which were optimistic regarding business conditions.

Mack Trucks closed at 126¼, 3¾ higher, and the best price of the current advance. American Can moved up ⅝ during the day to 58⅞, the highest figure by the present shares since it was cut.

Shortly before the close there was a wild outburst of buying in General Motors and U. S. Steel which shot the prices of these stocks upward. Then the profit-taking set in and some recessions took place, but on the whole the general list maintained its buoyant tone.

American Telephone & Telegraph was one of the stocks which showed a decline late in the day, easing off ⅛ to 141⅞. Hudson Motor fell off ¼ to 57.

Other leading stocks, however, closed active and higher. American Can finished the day up ¼ at 58⅞; Allied Chemical & Dye up ⅝ at 130⅝; Dodge Brothers up 1½ at 34⅝; Chrysler up a full point at 36⅛; General Electric new up 1 at 89¾; International Combustoin Engineering jumped 1⅛ to 55⅝; Marland Oil rose ¾ to 59; North American Company was up ½ at 51⅞ and Woolworth advanced 1¼ to 169⅝.

Rails were rather neglected and showed a somewhat uneasy tendency in view of the confident undertone in other stocks. Chicago & Northwestern declined ⅝ to 71⅝; Wabash eased off ⅛ to 46⅛; Pere Marquette advanced ⅝ to 99¼ and Canadian Pacific closed 1 point higher at 164.

Opening prices in the stock market today were firm. Chesapeake & Ohio advanced a point to 143, U. S. Steel gained ½ at 143¾, Chrysler Motor was up ¼ at 35½, Hudson Motor up ¼ at 56½, New York, New Haven & Hartford ¼ higher at 47⅜, Southern Railway advanced ¼ to 117⅜, Studebaker up ⅜ at 56, Mack Truck up ⅛ at 124, International Combustion Engineering up ½ at 54⅜, American Smelting ¼ higher at 136⅝ and Marland Oil up ⅝ at 58⅞.

Stock sales on the floor of the New York stock exchange today totaled 1,074,200 shares; bonds, $5,412,000.

Grain Notes

CHICAGO, July 17.—(AP)— Decidedly bullish news from the northwest and a belated reaction at Liverpool has watched wheat experience a sweeping advance within a week.

There was heavyy profit taking toward the close yesterday, after the day's smart rise, but the market undertone seemed very strong. Sentiment is divided as to what course will be taken now, but the trend is bullish.

Scattered rains have visited the Canadian northwest, but advices are that the fall has been too slight to materially aid drouth conditions. The outlook appears pessimistic.

The trade is watching Liverpool, which for a long time ignored the northwest situation. The foreigners bought on the bulge yesterday although the day's purchase was for only 500,000 bushels of new winter and Manitobas.

Local experts report large areas in North Dakota as virtually a failure.

Corn was active yesterday with tendency to sell somewhat offset by late reports of hot winds over parts of Iowa. Weather conditions throughout the belt seem to be generally improving, after a period of cool weather that has further handicapped the late crop.

The Chicago trade hears that buying by the Pacific coast in the Missouri river valley lately, and the prices paid have drawn corn fro the Chicago territory.

A BIG REWARD IS NOW OFFERED IN MELLETT KILLING

have semi-private funeral services with only members of the family, a few very close friends and employes of the News in attendance.

In the meantime the outstanding development in the case was the public attack made upon the Canton police department by Lloyd Mellett, city editor of the News and brother of the victim of the gunmen.

While not actually established, it is generally believed that the men who shot Mellett were hired for that purpose by organized bootleggers or organized dope peddlers. Mellett had been merciless in his war on the dope ring and the bootlegging industry in Canton and he had incurred the hatred of every individual connected with the underworld.

The gunmen who struck down Mellett had evidently been in the city for several days and were well acquainted with the terrain in the vicinity of the publisher's home and with some of his personal habits. It was this careful campaign of preparation that enabled them to strike and make good their escape unseen.

Description Lacking.

There has not been a person found who can give any description of the slayers. There is not a soul who can say definitely in what kind of an automobile the murderers fled. Although more than forty persons have been questioned by police nothing that looks like a live clue has been unearthed.

"We want to get the parties and punish them for their crime," said Chief of Police S. A. Lengel today. It was with Lengel and Police Captain Ben Clark that Mellett went to war over alleged police inefficiency here.

With the arrival of ex-Governor Cox here, expected today, new impetus will be given the hunt for the slayers. Mr. Cox has stated that all his resources would back the search.

Other developments were:

The arrival of C. H. Sisson, special investigator of Gov. Vic Donahey, who began an immediate probe of his own.

The calling of a special session of the city council for Monday night for the hiring of some famous detective, Ora Slater, Cincinnati sleuth, who solved the mysterious Jacob Nesbitt killing at Troy, O., was believed certain of the appointment.

The declaration by Judge H. C. Pontius, Mellett's legal adviser, that "there would be hell to pay in Canton if Mellett's slayers were not apprehended."

The posting of a $1,000 reward by the Brush-Moore newspapers of Ohio.

from state hatcheries and are furnishing good sport with rod and line for people from a large territory around Fremont. The lakes average 30 feet in depth, with sloping banks, and in a few places are 50 feet deep having been formed by the excavation of sand and gravel beds. The water is clear and its level is constantly maintained by seepage from the Platte.

Bought for $50 an Acre.

It will cost the state approximately $8,250 to get this site for a public recreation camp with such ample facilities for fishing, camping, bathing and boating. The price paid is $50 an acre, Chief Game Warden O'Connell announced Saturday.

"This is a very satisfactory price for land on a main paved highway, within 4 miles of one of the principal cities of eastern Nebraska, and accessible to 500,00 people in this part of the state for week-end outings." Mr. O'Connell declared. "I don't know where else we could have done better, particularly when it is taken into account that the lakes are assured of a never-failing supply of water."

The purchase was made from the Lyman-Ritchie Sand Co., of Omaha. It is still dredging sand and gravel from one of the lakes, but has finished working the others. It also puts u plce during the winter season from some of the lakes.

The state will take immediate possession of the tract, though the company will continue to operate its remaining ~ravel pit for the rest of this saeson, thereby deepening the last lake in the chain. It agrees to remove all its tracks, machinery and equipment of every sort from the land by May 1, 1927.

Improvements to be Made.

Work wil start soon on improving the ground for use as a recreation park. The first undertaking will be to level down the piles of "strippings," or surface earth which was taken off to uncover sand and gravel deposits. Part of this earth will be dumped into the water along the shores of the lakes, to provide suitable soil for aquatic vegetation on which fish feed. Sandy beaches will be left a good deal as they are.

There are three houses on the land, two of which will be moved off by the company, the largest one being left to serve as a residence for the state's caretaker when one is installed. The caretaker will be vested with the powers of a deputy game warden to enforce the laws and prosecute offenders.

The new state fishing and camping park is within 60 miles of Lincoln and 40 miles of Omaha, highly improved with federal and state highways leading to it from all directions. Agriculture Secretary McLaughlin, who negotiated the purchase, and Chief Game Warden O'Connell think it will attract hundreds and thousands of visitors every week during the camping and fishing season.

ing for Seattle on a business trip, gave out the following explanation as to why the state convention was located at Grand Island:

"The democratic state committee has selected Grand Island as the place to hold its state convention on September 2. The majority of the executive committee favored Grand Island because of the fact that the city is centrally located, has amlpe auditorium facilities, good hotel and restaurant accommodations, and is located on five state highways.

The chamber of commerce, the mayor, and many leading citizens urge the committee to select Grand Island.

Omaha had also asked for the convention, and invitations had been received from Lincoln and other cities.

came into the bank. He was immediately covered with a gun by one of the bandits and was made to lie down on the floor with the other men.

Then all five of them were forced into the bank's vault, the door was closed, and the two bandits made a hurried exit. Cashier Stech was able to open the door of the vault from the inside and the five victims escaped from the vault as soon as they heard the bandits leave the building.

No one outside the bank saw the robbery nor saw the bandits leave the bank, but several said they saw the car speeding south. After going a short distance south the bandits turned east. After going a block east they turned north and then headed west. A man at a filling station reported that he saw the car headed west, and shortly afterwards a farmer said he had seen a car answering the description of the bandits' car speeding north on the road that leads to Milford. That was the last time the bandit car was definitely identified. Several other reports were received from various parts of the state saying that a car which seemed to answer the description had been seen, but the officers were unable to get any accurate report of the direction in which the robbers had made their escape.

The best description of the men that could be obtained was given by Herman Harms, filling station operator, who sold the men some gasoline an hour or so before the robbery. Those who were in the bank at the time of the robbery had little opportunity to get a good look at the men. They were ordered several times by the bandits not to look at them.

Two Are Described.

The best description of the men that could be obtained indicated that all of them were between the ages of twenty-five and thirty. One was very tall, nearly six feet, but was rather thin and it was said that he probably weighed 150 pounds. He was light complexioned and rathter good looking.

The second man was about five feet seven or eight inches tall and weighed probably 165 or 170 pounds. His face had a noticeably red and sunburned hue. Neither of the men was shaven. No accurate description could be obtained of the third man, who is believed to have been the one who remained in the car.

Several persons are said to have noticed the car in town and it was fairly well agreed that it bore an Otoe county license number, the key number of which is 11. Reports received here last night said that an auto license number, 11-887 was stolen from a car at Unadilla Thursday night.

Another report from Oskaloosa, Ia., said that three men answering very closely the description of the bandit trio had held up a filling station there Thursday and had also stolen a Chrysler coach which answers the description of the one used by the bandits at Dorchester.

One report received was that the bandits had stopped a few miles northwest of Dorchester and had removed their overalls. They were said to have been dressed in light grey suits when they were seen in Dorchester earlier in the afternoon.

Roads Patroled.

Reports of the robbery were received by the state, county and police officers in Lincoln about 3:15 and a dozen or more county officers left Lincoln immediately for Dorchester, and to patrol all roads leading into Lincoln and east from Dorchester. State Deputies Hasson and Dudschus went to Dorchester where they attempted to obtain some clue to the identity of the bandits. State Sheriff Condit, who was in Omaha, was notified, and he immediately got busy on the phone and had guards stationed at all bridges across the Platte river.

Local officers all over southeastern Nebraska were called by phone from the state sheriff's office and were given descriptions of the bandits, and were asked to be on the lookout for them.

Captain of Detectives Walter Anderson and five police officers patrolled the highways west of Lincoln. News of the robbery and descriptions of the bandits and their car were broadcast from the Nebraska Buick station.

Descriptions Tally.

The three bandits have been practically identified as being the same three men who blew the Standard Oil filling station safe at Oskaloosa, Ia., Wednesday and escaped in a Chrysler coach which they stole at the same time.

Descriptions of the men who were seen at Oskaloosa and those who were seen at Dorchester coincide in many respects. State Sheriff Condit is working on this theory in his effort to catch the bandits.

The car stolen at Oskaloosa had a Minnesota license late on it, while the car used at Dorchester bore a Nebraska license with an Otoe county key number, 11. The motor and serial numbers of the Oskaloosa car were obtained this morning by Condit. The motor number is C134207 and the serial number is PW6990. The original license number was 265-208.

Several reports of Chrysler coaches answering the description of the bandit car have been received by Condit. Railroad workers reported seeing a car with three men in it speeding along a side road near Fairbury about 5 o'clock Friday afternoon.

Expect to Find Car.

The night marshal at Eagle, Neb., east of Lincoln, told Condit this morning that a Chrysler coach with two men in it drove into Eagle at midnight from the south and then turned around and left in the same direction.

The officers believe that it is more probable that the three men, if they are the ones who came from Oskaloosa, went south and west in their flight. They are expecting to receive a report at any time stating that the car used by the bandits has been found abandoned some place. Another possibility is that they may attempt another robbery.

Condit is planning this morning to make arrangements with the Standard Aircraft corporation for the use of a plane and a pilot to aid in locating the bandits if any report of them in this part of the state is received.

PARENTS TRYING TO REGAIN CHILD

clared, arose because his wife's mother, the defendant in the suit, didn't want her to have a child. He declared that the grandmother wrote letters opposing such an event.

Gorman also denied that he had ever urged the adoption of the child by strangers or by anyone, but said that his wife had urged that he make such arrangements. This was before the baby was born, Gorman said, and added that his wife now wants to take care of her own child.

Answer Is Filed.

In an answer filed Saturday morning Mrs. Semenec declares that her daughter and son-in-law made arrangements to have the child adopted immediately upon birth, "stating that they did not want the child and did not care to be bothered with a child." She was asked to take the child, the answer states.

Mrs. Semenec also declared in the answer that her daughter has never cared for the child and "has repeatedly said that she did not even want the child near her."

On several occasions, the answer states, the young couple have tried to make arrangements to have the child adopted by strangers, to which the grandmother has objected and urged her daughter to learn to care for her baby.

She alleges that the father made much noise about the home, slamming doors and quarreling with his wife. When she remonstrated he replied that "the kid should get used to it," the petition states.

Mrs. Semenec also asserts that the son-in-law has never made a living and that the house, all of the meat, butter, eggs, and a part of the flour and coal, as well as clothing for the baby, has been furnished by Joseph Semenec, the child's grandfather.

She urges that the child is not likely to have good care by the young folks and requests that the petition be denied.

Dale P. Stough announced that every Saturday until election time a democratic candidate would speak to the club members in brief and a topic of general interest would be discussed.

A general discussion followed the talk of Mr. Berg. It was pointed out that 10,000 eligible voters are not registered, that 2,000 of those registered did not vote at the 1924 presidential election, that 10,000 did not vote at the city elections and that nearly 20,000 did not vote at the special charter change election in May. There are about 35,000 citizens in Lincoln who are eligible to vote and about 24,000 registered.

A CONFIDENCE VOTE REFUSED BY CHAMBER

ter M. Dechappedelaine had outlined the finance committee's conclusions and asked the chamber to ratify the government bill quickly because only 700,000,000 francs remained for the Bank of France to advance to the state.

Herriot declared the government's proposal for full powers had profoundly shocked all the republican members of the chamber. He could not vote for the government's project, he said. He urged the government not to leave the chamber outside the decisions it proposed to take.

While he was talking bets were laid in the lobibes at even money that the cabinet would fall.

It is rumored in the lobbies that M. Herriot-Bokanowski-Tardieu ministry had already been framed on paper, awaiting President Doumergue's summons for a new cabinet.

During his speech against the bill, M. Herriot declared he would resign the presidency of the chamber if the powers of the lower house were curtailed as the government proposed.

Premier Briand then rose to reply.

M. Briand denied energetically that the government desired to attack republican institutions. He added amid applause from the center and right benches that an encounter between M. Herriot and himself in the present crisis amounted to a tragedy.

"I don't know what will be the outcome of this duel," he said.

"No, it is not a duel," M. Herriot interrupted.

STORMS AND HEAT CLAIM HEAVY TOLL

Irvine Anderson, 12, son of Albert Anderson, farmer.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Johnson, parents of the dead girls are both in the hospital critically injured.

A swath from 300 feet to a quarter of a mile wide was cut at intervals for fifty miles, southeast of Ashland. Torrents of rain and large hail stones preceded the tornado. The funnel-shaped cloud appeared to originate about ten miles west of Ashland.

One family knelt in prayer in the cellar during the storm and the entire house was lifted and hurled for a radius of a hundred yards. A few minor injuries resulted.

Relief measures are being planned today by the citizens of Ashland. A somewhat similar tornado killed six near here about two years ago.

AN ECONOMIC "CRISIS" GOAL OF CHURCHES

need scare or awaken the scruples of the people, because it is a life or death struggle being carried out against the Catholic church of Mexico," the circular says.

The circular declares the campaign will be fully supported by the venerable committee of the national Episcopacy of which Archbishop Mora Del Rio is president and the Bishop of Tabasco is secretary.

WOUND FATAL TO CRAZED SLAYER

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., July 17.—(AP)—Without regaining consciousness to offer any explanation for his act, W. M. Johnson, negro, who early Friday morning shot and killed J. F. Anderson, switchman, and wounded F. C. Knop and A. T. Rohweder on a Rock Island train here, died late yestterday in a local hospital.

Surgeons said his having lived more than 12 hours after directing a bullet through his brain was unusual.

THE WEATHER.

Temperatures above 100 degrees occurred yesterday at places in Nebraska, South Dakota, Minnesota, and Iowa under the influence of a "low" which is now centered over Lake Superior. It is followed by rising pressure and cooler weather in the Dakotas and Minnesota. There were scattered thundershowers in western South Dakota and in the upper Mississippi valley and the upper Lake region; elsewhere fair weather prevails in all parts of the country.

Economy Marches Through These Columns Hand In Hand With Opportunity

GRANTHAM GOES ON HIT RAMPAGE

Smoky City's First-Sacker Crowds Bressler For Lead In Batting.

The sensation of the National league the past week was the hitting of George Grantham of the Pittsburgh Pirates. In six games he got 15 hits including a home run, three triples and four two-baggers. Although the Pirates failed to do better than break even in games on the week, Grantham's hitting shoved the team from fourth place to second in team batting. Herman of Brooklyn, the leader among the regulars last week, slumped badly the past week. Bressler, the present leader, was in only one game the past week and fell off five points. Bubbles Hargrave, the Red's catcher fell from his high mark of .412 to .395 the past week.

Hornsby In Sixth Place.

Rogers Hornsby, the St. Louis slugger, celebrated his return to the game by collecting ten hits in seven games, moving from seventh to sixth place in the standings. Paralleling the stick work of Grantham was Jacobson of Brooklyn, who made 11 hits in the last six games, coming from far down in the ruck into the first ten hitters with a gain of 40 points.

Youngs of the Giants slid into a tie for the stolen base leadership by getting three this week, equalling the mark of his teammate, Frisch at 17. Cuyler of Pittsburgh is just behind the two Giants with 16.

Wilson First In Homers.

Hack Wilson of the Cubs added another round trip this week and still leads the National leaguers with 13 home runs. Bottomley of St. Louis got two, but is still one behind the Chicago outfielder. Rogers Hornsby also got two home runs this week and is tied with his teammate, Bell, and Jack Fournier of Brooklyn at nine.

The Reds fell off a bit in team hitting, but their veteran pitching staff still holds the laurels. Rixey leads the league in effectiveness among the regulars and Donohue has won the most games, 12. Rhem of St. Louis and "Specs" Meadows of Pittsburgh are close behind Rixey and fourth among the regulars is Doug McWeeny of Brooklyn, former White Sox discard.

Leading hitters in the National league in 40 or more games: Hargrave, Cincinnati, .395; Bressler, Cincinnati, .372; Grantham, Pittsburgh, .366; Herman, Brooklyn, .356; Traynor, Pittsburgh, .352; Hornsby, St. Louis, .344; Christensen, Cincinnati, .342; Jacobson, Brooklyn, .340; E. Smith, Pittsburgh, .336; Cuyler, Pittsburgh, .335.

'BABE' TUMBLES TO THIRD PLACE

Ruth Trails Fothergill and Falk In Ban Johnson League Batting.

Babe Ruth has slipped from the batting leadership of the American league in the official batting averages issued today and has been replaced at the top by Bib Falk, White Sox outfielder. In the last six games, including that of Wednesday, Ruth got but five hits, four singles and a homer, and fell off 15 points. Fothergill of Detroit ranks above Falk, but has been at bat less than half the number of times.

The rest of the Yankees slumped a bit with Ruth, while the Washington Senators generally were improving in their hitting. McNeely of the Senators made the greatest gain of the week in hitting, landing among the select ten with a gain of 22 points.

Falk Clouts Furiously.

Among Falk's ten hits the past week were two home runs, a triple, and two doubles. In two-baggers, he is just two behind the league leaders, Burns of Cleveland. As runners-up to the Bambino in home runs, Simmons of the Athletics and Lazzeri of the Yankees each added one to their string this week, and are tied at 12, while Ruth added one to reach 27.

The stolen base mark of the crippled Meusel of the Yankees was tied by Sam Rice of Washington, who, however, dropped out of the ten leading hitters this week. Hunnefield and Mostil of the White Sox are just a step behind.

Uhle Leading Pitcher.

George Uhle leads the moundsmen in victories with 14, just one more than Ted Lyons of the White Sox, who ranks the Indian pitcher slightly in innings pitched. Pate of the Athletics has a clean slate, being credited with eight victories, although he has pitched only the equivalent of seven and one-half games.

Leading hitters of the American league in 50 or more games: Fothergill, Detroit, .403; Falk, Chicago, .375; Heilmann, Detroit, .368; Ruth, New York, .367; Meusel, New York, .366; Burns, Cleveland, .365; Mostil, Chicago, .358; Goslin, Washington, .352; McNeely, Washington, .352; Manush, Detroit, .348.

Smith Sets Pace In Golf Classic: Sarazen Second

GARDEN CITY, N. Y., July 17.—(I. N. S.)—Macdonald Smith, Lakeview professional, still retained the lead—but only by three strokes—when the third round of eighteen par, yesterday, which added to his sensational 67 of the day before, ship at Salisbury Plains.

Smith shot a 72, which is exactly metropolitan open golf championholes was started today in the gave him a total of 140.

Gene Sarazen, who is defending the title, was second with 143. Bill Mehlhorn has 146.

The best round yesterday was shot by Tommy Armour of Washington, D. C., who registered a straight- [illegible]

Economy Marches Through These Columns Hand In Hand With Opportunity

GRANTHAM GOES ON HIT RAMPAGE

Smoky City's First-Sacker Crowds Bressler For Lead In Batting.

The sensation of the National league the past week was the hitting of George Grantham of the Pittsburgh Pirates. In six games he got 15 hits including a home run, three triple sand four two-baggers. Although the Pirates failed to do better than break even in games on the week, Grantham's hitting shoved the team from fourth place to second in team batting. Herman of Brooklyn, the leader among the regulars last week, slumped badly the past week. Bressler, the present leader, was in only one game the past week and fell off five points. Bubbles Hargrave, the Red's catcher fell from his high mark of .411 to .395 the past week.

Hornsby In Sixth Place.

Rogers Hornsby, the St. Louis slugger, celebrated his return to the game by collecting ten hits in seven games, moving from seventh to sixth place in the standings. Paralleling the stick work of Grantham was Jacobson of Brooklyn, who made 11 hits in the last six games, coming from far down in the ruck into the first ten hitters with a gain of 40 points.

Youngs of the Giants slid into a tie for the stolen base leadership by getting three this week, equalling the mark of his teammate, Frisch at 17. Cuyler of Pittsburgh is just behind the two Giants with 16.

Wilson First in Homers.

Hack Wilson of the Cubs added another round trip this week and still leads the National leaguers with 13 home runs. Bottomley of St. Louis got two, but is still one behind the Chicago outfielder. Rogers Hornsby also got two home runs this week and is tied with his teammate, Bell, and Jack Fournier of Brooklyn at nine.

The Reds fell off a bit in team hitting, but their veteran pitching staff still holds the laurels. Rixey leads the league in effectiveness among the regulars and Donohue has won the most games, 13. Rhem of St. Louis and "Specs" Meadows of Pittsburgh are close behind Rixey and fourth among the regulars is Doug McWeeny of Brooklyn, former White Sox discard.

Leading hitters in the National league in 40 or more games: Hargrave, Cincinnati, .395; Bressler, Cincinnati, .372; Grantham, Pittsburgh, .365; Herman, Brooklyn, .356; Traynor, Pittsburgh, .351; Hornsby, St. Louis, .344; Christensen, Cincinnati, .342; Jacobson, Brooklyn, .340; E. Smith, Pittsburgh, .336; Cuyler, Pittsburgh, .334.

'BABE' TUMBLES TO THIRD PLACE

Ruth Trails Fothergill and Falk In Ban Johnson League Batting.

Babe Ruth has slipped from the batting leadership of the American league in the official batting averages, issued today, and has been replaced at the top by Bib Falk, White Sox outfielder. In the last six games, including that of Wednesday, Ruth got but five hits, four singles and a homer, and fell off 15 points. Fothergill of Detroit ranks above Falk, but has been at bat less than half the number of times.

The rest of the Yankees slumped a bit with Ruth, while the Washington Senators generally were improving in their hitting. McNeely of the Senators made the greatest gain of the week in hitting, landing among the select ten with a gain of 22 points.

Falk Clouts Furiously.

Among Falk's ten hits the past week were two home runs, a triple, and two doubles. In two-baggers, he is just two behind the league leader, Burns of Cleveland. As runners-up to the Bambino in home runs, Simmons of the Athletics and Lazzeri of the Yankees each added one to their string this week, and are tied at 12, while Ruth added one to reach 27.

The stolen base mark of the crippled Meusel of the Yankees was tied by Sam Rice of Washington, who, however, dropped out of the ten leading hitters this week. Hunnefield and Mostil of the White Sox are just a step behind.

Uhle Leading Pitcher.

George Uhle leads the moundsmen in victories with 14, just one more than Ted Lyons of the White Sox, who ranks the Indian pitcher slightly in innings pitched. Pate of the Athletics has a clean slate, being credited with eight victories, although he has pitched only the equivalent of seven and one-half games.

Leading hitters of the American league in 50 or more games: Fothergill, Detroit, .422; Falk, Chicago, .375; Heilmann, Detroit, .368; Ruth, New York, .367; Meusel, New York, .366; Burns, Cleveland, .365; Mostil, Chicago, .358; Goslin, Washington, .352; McNeely, Washington, .352; Manush, Detroit, .348.

Smith Sets Pace In Golf Classic; Sarazen Second

GARDEN CITY, N. Y., July 17.—(I. N. S.)—Macdonald Smith, Lakeview professional, still retained the lead—but only by three strokes—when the third round of eighteen holes was started today in the metropolitan open golf championship at Salisbury Plains.

Smith shot a 73, which is exactly par, yesterday, which hadded to his sensational 67 of the day before gave him a total of 140.

Gene Sarazen, who is defending the title, was second with 142. Bill Mehlhorn has 146.

The best round yesterday was shot by Tommy Armour of Washington, D. C., who registered a sprightly 68.

THE LINCOLN STAR Classified Advertising

The Lincoln Star is a member of The Association of Newspaper Classified Advertising Managers, which includes leading newspapers throughout the country, and has for its aim the elimination of fraudulent and misleading classified advertising. The Lincoln Star as well as every other member of the Association, endeavors to print only truthful Want Ads and will appreciate having its attention called to any advertisement not conforming to the highest standard of honesty.

Berlenbach Passes Out as Possessor of Title

Delaney Rules Roost As Champ of Light-Heavies

French-Canadian Fighting Gent From Connecticut Wrests Title Crown From Brow of Berlenbach; Victor Outboxes His Opponent and Qualifies With Ease for Official Decision.

BY DAVIS J. WALSH.

NEW YORK, July 17.—(I. N. S.)—Jack Delaney, nee Ovilla Chapelaine, fooled 'em, 45,000 of 'em, and that includes the wise ones from here to Banff.

Delaney would win, said long headed wise men from under their green eye-shades, but he would have to win early. If he failed to put Paulie to sleep before the sixth frame, Paulie would keep his glittering light-heavyweight crown. He would wear down the French-Canadian from Bridgeport with body punches, and he would depart with his scepter intact.

But Delaney fooled 'em. He went the full distance and right merily. Paulie was his sand-bag and, though he remained upright, Paulie lost the fight.

Paul Fought Too Cautiously.

Berlenbach, in his own ponderous way, did a little fooling of his own. He fooled the boys at the ringside, but, most of all, he fooled Jack Deloney, a very hard man to fool. He beat him out of a bull's eye, or a knock-out, as it is referred to in the vernacular. Burly Paul, showing the result of careful coaching, failed to resort to his crude shift which Monsieur Chapelaine solved with a knockout victory in their first meeting and a knockdown that was almost fatal in the second. That is how it came to pass that "Punch 'Em Paul," as he is affectionately described, escaped that which is worse than death to a champion—a knockout.

Rushing Tactics Missing.

The customers are agreed that last night's Berlenbach was a different Berlenbach than they had expected. Paul did not rush in where angels fear to stub their toes. He thought so much about evading that sure-shot right mitt that he forgot that it is the business, if not the duty, of a good box-fighter to do damage to his opponent. Paul did a lot of rushing, but little punching, with the result that a consensus of experts at the ringside gave him only two of the fifteen rounds. One was even.

The fight was really decided in the eleventh and twelfth rounds, which went to Delaney by a wide margin. Up to this point it more or less of a toss-up, with Delaney's advantage in the first five rounds being offset by Berly's rally from the sixth to the eleventh. Paul was giving the good old college try, but it wasn't so good.

Delaney the Better Boxer.

The new champion upset the calculations of the experts by boxing carefully in the first few rounds. And then in the closing rounds, when it was figured that Jack would be a weary athlete and Berlenbach would throw caution to the winds, Delaney utterly confused his opponent by driving home his best licks.

In defeat, Paul was a sportsman and Delaney a gracious winner. The fight was waged cleanly and with no show of animosity. There was no doubt that the better man won.

Berlenbach has no excuses. His friends advanced the theory that almost constant training for two championship fights, hardly more than a month apart, and a last-minute struggle to make weight had robbed him of endurance. Paul, however, fought better as a loser against Delaney than he did as a winner against Stribling.

Won the Fight On Science.

Delaney won on sheer, cold science. He easily outboxed Paul and carried him along at his own pace. Jack tried many a well meant smash for the chin. He landed many a shot, too. But Berly, rugged and tough as the forest oaks, took them and shook them off.

There isn't much for Delaney to do now, except to enter the honest-to-goodness heavyweight ranks. There are no light-heavies in sight who appear able to give him a battle.

Dempsey, Wills and Tunney appear to be pugilistically out for the nonce. Also for the time being.

New King Wears Crown.

NEW YORK, July 17.—(AP)—The world's light-heavyweight ring crown, jolted from championship heads five times in the last six years, found a new resting place today atop the handsome countenance of Jack Delaney of Bridgeport, Conn., whose real name is Chapdelaine.

A sensational victory, under the unanimous decision of the judges brought the roving diadem to Delaney before a capacity throng of 45,000 which paid $420,000 to see the rivals of two years' standing grapple last night at Ebbets field for the third time.

Popular Victory.

The verdict for Delaney, who only seven months before had failed to lift the championship crown from his rugged rival, was as popular as only such a victory could be for a ring warrior who had gathered around him probably the greatest following of any challenger since the days of Knockout Brown. And it came as fandom likes its heroes crowned—with a spectacular rally in the last five rounds of the 15 round struggle, after Berlenbach appeared to be closing in to duplicate the powerful finish he made last December against Delaney.

Won Despite Broken Thumb.

Delaney's impressive exhibition of ring craft, punching power and stamina was a conquest of more than a stout-hearted, iron-armed gladiator of the old puglistic school. It was a triumph over a tremendous weight advantage, surmounted despite the fracture of a small bone in his left thumb during the second round.

While officially the weight of Berlenbach was recorded as 174 1-4 and that of Delaney as 166½, postponement of the fight one day, because of rain, actually gave the defending titleholder a margin of 12 pounds over his opponent. When they entered the ring Berlenbach tipped the scales at 181, six pounds over his class limit, while the challenger's mark was put at 169.

Delaney's Margin Decisive.

Delaney's margin on points was decisive, in the estimation of critics at the ringside. Up until the last five rounds, however, there was little to choose between them, as the big advantage of the challenger in the early rounds faded before the dogged, determined attack of the champion in the seventh, eighth, ninth and tenth.

Delaney opened with a sensational rally in the eleventh, sending a thrill through the throng by driving a terrific smash to the pit of the champion's stomach. That blow turned the tide of battle. Delaney had appeared to be tiring under the sledgehammer body punches of Berlenbach, but at this point Delaney stepped forth with renewed vigor, to pummel the titleholder with lightning lefts and rights.

Berlenbach Was Groggy.

Delaney repeatedly in the last five rounds nailed Berlenbach on the jaw with his famous right and once in the fourteenth it appeared as if the passing champion would crumple. But Berlenbach, who was knocked out two years ago in four rounds by Delaney and who was floored in their second battle last winter, weathered the storm of punches without going down.

The dethroned king held his title only a little more than a year. But his brief career was an eventful one and he achieved the reputation of being the most active champion in pugilism.

French-Canadian by Birth.

Delaney, 26 years old, and a French-Canadian by birth, has been boxing since 1919 to compile a record studded with notable knockout triumphs and two stunning defeats. In 1922 he was twice stopped—once by Augie Ratner and once by Young Fisher. But a year later Delaney redeemed himself by outpointing Ratner, while Fisher faded into obscurity as Delaney rapidly climbed the ladder.

Delaney's victory marks the passing of the title to its eleventh holder. Jack Root, the first champion, was knocked out by George Gardner, who held the crown until the great Bob Fitzsimmons strode up on the resined battlefield. Bob, in turn, was succeeded by Jack O'Brien.

Roster of Champions.

Jack Dillon mounted the throne after a period of inactivity, only to be outpointed by Battling Levinsky. Then came Georges Carpentier, Battling Siki, Mike McTigue and Berlenbach.

When the new champion was a preliminary boy an announcer pronounced his name to the best of his ability, as "Chap-de-lay-nie." The crowd got it as "Jack Delaney" and the name stuck.

Delaney's share of last night's fight is estimated at $70,000. Berlenbach receives something more than $150,000. During his career in the ring, Berlenbach has collected a quarter million dollars. He aims to enter the heavyweight ranks, having found it almost impossible to train down to 175 pounds.

O'Brieen Fooled By Delaney's Finish

NEW YORK, July 17.—(I. N. S.)—Philadelphia Jack O'Brien, a former light-heavyweight champion, was just as badly fooled as any layman by Jack Delaney's surprisingly strong finish in his fight with Paul Berlenbach last night.

O'Brien, an interested spectator at the fight, turned to friends at the end of the seventh round, when Berlenbach was making his strongest bid.

"Delaney is all shot," he said. "He had to win in the first five or six rounds. He can't hit a lick now."

Twenty minutes later, Delaney had Berlenbach fairly reeling. He seemed to be hitting several "licks."

O'Sheas Lose To Hawthorne Team

O'Shea-Rogers dropped a 6-5 game to the state reformatory on the Hawthorne diamond Thursday evening. The work of the two infields featured the game.

The O'Shea-Rogers club will play at Falls City Sunday. Manager Joe Munson is in the market for an out-of-town game for August 1. By innings:

O'Shea-Rogers ..1 0 0 2 2 0—5 10 2
Reformatory ....1 4 0 0 1 x—6 9 1

Batteries—Brown, Masters and Losey; Moore, Jones and Cornell.

Last Night's Fights.

At New York—Jack Delaney decisioned Paul Berlenbach, light-heavyweight champion, 15 rounds; Ted Moore, British light-heavyweight, won from Jimmy Francis, Union City, N. J., eight rounds; Julius Weiss, German light-heavyweight, drew with Tommy Walsh, Dublin, four rounds; Arthur De Kuh, Italian heavyweight, knocked out Sergeant Jack Adams, St. Louis, in the second round; Monte Munn, Nebraska heavyweight, outpointed Gordon Munce, four rounds.

At Steubenville, Ohio—Pete Latzo, welterweight champion, knocked out Ted Nelson, Richmond, Va., in the fourth round.

At Tampa, Fla.—Pedro Campo, Phillippine Islands, beat Hilario Martinez, lightweight champion of Spain, 10 rounds.

At Waterloo, Ia.—Harry Soo Quong Bill, China, won a newspaper decision over Eddie Lewis, Minneapolis, eight rounds.

At San Francisco—Lefty Cooper, Minneapolis middleweight, fought a draw with Charley Long, Omaha, 10 rounds.

At Hollywood, Cal.—Jackie Fields, Los Angeles, lightweight, won a decision over Roscoe Hall, Iowa boxer, 10 rounds.

Veteran Mound Corps Needed To Win Flags

BY AL DEMAREE.

Connie Mack's recent eleventh-hour trade, whereby he acquired Howard Ehmke, the elongated veteran hurler, from the Boston Red Sox, shows that Mack has finally seen the "handwriting on the wall."

I can't remember one club that ever won a pennant without a veteran pitching staff—the Chicago Cubs of 1906-7-8, the old Athletics of 1911-13-14, the New York Giants, Pittsburgh Pirates, Brooklyn Dodgers, the Washington Senators and other pennant winners.

The New York Yankees with Pennock, Hoyt, Jones and Shawkey, and the Cincinnati Reds with Rixey, Luque, Donohue and Mays, are demonstrating the value of a veteran pitching staff this year.

CHAMPIONS KEEP TENNIS LAURELS

Mahood and Archard Retain Capital City Racquets Title In Doubles.

BY CREGG McBRIDE.

Paul Mahood and Fred Archard retained the Lincoln tennis doubles crown Saturday morning when they defeated John Moritz and B. E. McProud in an after-breakfast match on the University of Nebraska courts. The city title-holders, however, had a strenuous battle on their hands, the champions winning, 6-4, 6-3, 5-7, 3-6, 6-4. It was the third consecutive time Mahood and Archard have copped the city doubles title.

Mahood and Archard started by taking the first two sets in a fairly easy fashion. McProud's drives were sailing wide of the white lines and the champions won the first two sets, 6-4, 6-3, never being headed during the play.

Challengers Win Third Set.

Moritz uncorked some sparkling overhead play during the third set and, with McProud taking his service consistently, the challengers pulled out the third set, 7-5, staving off a last-minute rally on the part of Mahood and Archard.

The fourth sent went to Moritz and McProud without much trouble. Moritz began steaming his first service across the net and the challengers seemed to take new life, pulling ou the fourth set by a 6-3 score.

The fifth and deciding set was a fairly even battle, Moritz and McProud having a 3-2 and 4-3 game-advantage, only to lose out when the title-holders began to crowd the net and score via the placement route.

Moritz Plays Brilliantly.

The work of John Moritz stood out prominently even in defeat, the former Seward player displaying some of the best overhead scoring shots uncovered during the present tournament. His service toward the close of the match was also good for an assortment of aces. McProud, erratic during the first two sets, found himself in the third and fourth, the veteran suburbanites deucing the game on three match points during the final set.

The Mahood-Archard combination worked much the same as in past years, the pair taking their stand at the net to score on cross-court smashes or drives, but rushing back on the defense when their opponents were driving to score. Mahood's overhead and Archard's work at the net factored materially in the victory.

Archard and Mahood worked their way into the finals by defeating Ralph Weaverling and Joe Stanton late Friday evening, 6-2, 6-3, 4-6, 6-3. Weaverling and Stanton defeated Kenneth Hattori and Sig North, 6-4, preceding the semi-final match, the set being a hang-over from a match halted by darkness Thursday evening.

Stanton vs. Mahood.

Paul Mahood, two-time state champion and former city champion, and Joe Stanton, veteran racqueteer, were scheduled to meet this afternoon in the final match for the singles trophy. It was the first time Stanton has reached single finals in city play.

Mahood won a decisive victory over Don Elliott in the Friday semi-finals, 6-1, 6-2, 6-4. The state champion reached into his bag of tricks and pulled out a nice assortment of passing shots, kills and cross-court drives. He displayed the best game he has shown during his play on the university courts, his all-around game being close to faultless.

Stanton Defeats McProud.

The feature match of the afternoon was Joe Stanton's victory over B. E. McProud. Stanton stopped McProud in the fourth set with the game-score 5-5 and the set-call 2-1 in McProud's favor.

Stanton had McProud chasing all over the court, veteran Joe using a lobb and teasing chop for offensive and defensive play. A broiling sun beat down all the while and after McProud had staved off a set-point to deuce the set, he announced he would default.

LINKS TAKE RAP AT LOSING HABIT

Stueland Hurls Four-Hitter And Links Go the Pace Without Error.

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 17.—Exasperated by a string of seven straight defeats on their southern tour, the Links proceeded to take revenge yesterday by pummeling Roberts, Pillette and Lyons for 17 safe raps. Meantime, George Stueland was smothering the Indians, allowing only four scattered hits, and the Links romped home easy winners, 12 to 0.

The Links got after Roberts in the first round, when a walk to Zwilling, Purdy's triple and Gunther's double drove in two runs. The Zwillings repeated in the third registering a second pair of markers on another free pass and three safe knocks.

Roberts stood the gaff until the seventh, when the Links uncorked another bombardment and drove the Redskins' veteran pitcher to the shower. Successive triples by Zwilling, Purdy and Gunther manufactured three runs.

Jumped on Ted Pillette.

Ted Pillette, former Link, took a stiff lacing in the eighth, his ex-teammates plastering his slants for five hits and as many runs. Gottleber set the swatting pace for the Links with four hits, while Veltman, Purdy and Gunther each clouted three blows in one of the most effective hitting exhibitions on display this season at the Oklahoma City park.

Stueland had the Indians mystified in every inning with the single exception of the sixth. After hurling five hitless innings, Stueland allowed two hits and a free pass to fill the bases in the sixth after one Indian was out.

The Lincoln flinger pitched his way out of the hole, getting Conway on an easy popup and disposing of McDaniel on a high fly to Purdy.

Macks Close Up On Yanks; Trim Brownies Twice

PHILADELPHIA, July 17.—(AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics crept a little closer to the league-leading New York Yanks yesterday, by winning two games from St. Louis, 3 to 2 and 5 to 4. The Mackmen won both games by batting rallies in the third inning of each game, giving them the entire series of three games with the Browns. Red Hargrave of St. Louis hit a home run with one on base in the second game. The Athletics have won twelve of the last fourteen games played. By innings:

Yanks Win In Ninth.

NEW YORK, July 17.—(AP)—Staging another sensatoinal ninth-inning rally, which netted three runs, the Yanks nosed out Detroit yesterday, 4 to 3, giving them an even break in the four-game series. Johns pitched brilliantly for the Tigers, yielding only one hit in seven and two-thirds innings, but then lost control. Stoner, Cooper and Holloway succeeded him in the box and after Lazzeri's triple scored Ruth and Combs with the tying runs, Dugan drove out a single, bringing Lazzeri in with the winning tally. Lincoln Boxers On Dakota Card

Two Lincoln fighters—Check Fulmer and Sid Socklyn—are booked to do some mitten whirling on a glove program dated for Wednesday night, July 21, at Rapid City, S. D.

Socklyn is scheduled to mix with Mike Dale, former Grand Island welter, in the 10-round main event, while Fulmer, rising youngster in the welter division, will square off against Felix Byrnes of Sturgis, S. D., in an eight-round semi-windup.

LATZO TURNS IN ANOTHER 'KAYO'

Welter Champ Hangs Sleep Punch On Ted Nelson In Fourth Round.

STEUBENVILLE, O., July 17.—(INS)—Pete Latzo, welter champion of the world, had another knockout victory to his credit today. He put Ted Nelson, Richmond, Va., challenger, to sleep in the fourth round of a scheduled 19-round title bout here last night.

Paddy Mullins, manager of Latzo, announced after the fight that Latzo would meet Joe Dundee at the Yankee stadium, New York, September 7, but that Latzo would be a fighting champion and meet all comers prior to that date.

Fields Decisions Hall.

LOS ANGELES, July 17.—(INS)—Ringside critics gave every round to Jackie Fields of Los Angeles in his 10-round bout here last night with Roscoe Hall of Des Moines. A packed house witnessed the bout, which was a lively go from the start to finish, the Iowan testing Field's gameness to the limit.

Long Draw With Cooper.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 17.—(INS)—Following 10 rounds of clinching and listless fighting here last night, the referee called the affair a draw between Lefty Cooper, San Francisco, and Charley Long, colored boxer from Omaha.

"Par Sam" Plays "Kid" Pollard In Golf Title Final

OMAHA FIELD CLUB, Omaha, July 17.—(AP)—With the weather ideal and the difficult Omaha Field club course primed with its fearful hazards, "Par Sam" Reynolds, Omaha Field club ace, today met Jack Pollard, only survivor of Omaha's famous "kid threesome," in the finals of the annua lNebraska state golf tournament.

"Par Sam," a name attached to the veteran because of his uncanny ability to drop the elusive pellet in the cup consistently near at or below perfect figures, is after his seventh state title. And dope favors him, although Pollard's brilliancy in coming through a field of stellar stars stamps him to give the Field club veteran plenty of competition. Pollard reached the finals yesterday by downing Foye Porter, six and five.

Pollard Plots Revenge.

Another thought possessed the youthful Poolard as he teed off. That was the hope that he might be able to avenge the defeat of his friends, Frank Siedlik and Johnny Goodman, members of the "kid threesome," who were eliminated by "Par Sam's" deadly shots. Siedlik was eliminated in the third round ,after a desperate battle, when Sam won the thirty-ninth hole after the regular 36-hole match found them tied.

Goodman, medalist of the tourney, failed miserably in the semi-finals yesterday, Reynolds beating him eight up and seven to play.

Reynolds Always Ahead.

Reynolds shot the first eighteen in 72 and Goodman in 74. In the afternoon round, however, Sam turned in a 36 for the first nine to Johnny's 40, and thne settled it all by halving the tenth and taking the eleventh with a five, while Johnny fumbled with a high seven.

Today's match play was 36 holes, eighteen holes this morning and eighteen this afternoon.

Reynolds Off In Lead.

Reynolds continued to live up to his sobriquet in the championship round, playing par golf. They halved the first hole, then Sam won the second and third and lost the fourth to Pollard, being one up on the 17-year-old star at the end of the fourth.

Pollard was shooting only one over par, but that was not good enough for sharpshooting Sam.

Sam continued to take the breaks and was two up on the youngster at the end of the ninth.

At the end of the 12th Reynolds gained another hole, being three up.

Western Brick Wins Easy Game

BURCH PROTESTS TO LEAGUE CHIEF

Omaha Magnate Complains Indians Not Observing Rookie Rule.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., July 17.—(AP)—Barney Burch, owner and manager of the Omaha Western league club, has entered a protest with Dale Gear, president of the Western league, on three games played at Oklahoma City July 10 and 11-11 on the grounds that Oklahoma City was not abiding by the rfookie rule.

Burch said Oklahoma City had only one rookie pitcher, Lyons, on the roster when his team played there. The Western league rule on this matter calls for two rookie pitchers.

Munce Target For Sound Beating By Monte Munn

BY JAMES L. KILGALLEN.

EBBETS FIELD, BROOKLYN, July 17.—Monte Munn of Lincoln, Neb., demonstrated last night before fifty thousand fight fans that he is no false alarm as a heavyweight championship prospect when he won a clean cut decision over Gordon Munce of New York, former amateur heavyweight champion, in a four-round bout. Munn knocked Munce down no less than seven times and throughout the battle had the New Yorker on the verge of a knockout.

The bout was on the same card as the Berlenbach-Delaney battle for the light-heavyweight championship of the world, which was won by Delaney, who got the decision after 15 rounds of milling.

Makes Good In East.

Munn made a distinct impression with the fans that jammed every nook and corner of Ebbets field. He will be in as much demand in the east from now on as Ace Hudkins.

The Nebraska ex-legislator was the first to enter the ring. He wore black tights and his opponent light blue. Munn weighed 208 pounds, Munce 196.

A few seconds after the opening bell, Munn landed a terrific right to the chin and the big blonde Munce sank to the floor. He took a short count and came back at Munn, who let him have rights and lefts to the face. Then the Nebraskan belted him a left to the jaw and Munce went down again, this time for a count of eight. He was taking a heavy bombardment when the bell rang and went to his corner groggy

Munce Again On Floor.

The second round was replete with action and the crowd was on its feet throughout. Munce tried to spar, but Munn made a fight of it and, tearing in, shot a left hook and then a right cross and put Munce on the floor for the third time. This time Munce got up quickly, only to be put down by a smashing right flush on the jaw. Munce rolled over in the resin and seemed to be out.

Munn cooly waited for his opponent to get up, which he finally did, after taking a count of nine. Munn rushed his man and Munce started to sink under a flurry of blows, but grabbed the Nebraskan around the hips and saved himself. Munn straightened him up with an uppercut and then gave Munce a shove Munce was so weak that the shove-punch put him down for the fifth time. Munce scrambled up quickly and Munn was measuring for a knockout at the bell.

The fourth round had no sooner started that Munn floored Munce again with a left hook. Munce took a count of five. He scrambled to his feet and managed to get in two good lefts, the only decent blows he had struck during the fight. He staggered groggily around the ring until the bell rang ending the fight. It was so clearly the Nebraskan's fight that the announcer did not go through the formality of announcing the winner. Both fighters were cheered as they left the ring.

Amateur Games At Landis Lot

Lincoln amateurs will pastime in another baseball doubleheader at Landis Field Sunday afternoon.

The Aro Rootbeers, after their warm tussle with the Shogo Lithias last Sunday, are set to give the Varsity Cleaners a tough engagement. The two teams will collide at 3:30 p. m. The M. W. A. 2266 team and Shogo Lithias will tangle in the curtain-raiser at 1:30 p. m.

LEADERS SLUMP IN BAT WIELDING

Blakesley Of Omaha In Rut Past Week, But Retains Lead With .420.

Blakesley of Omaha conducted a stubborn retreat during the week's play in the Western league. He was not alone in his slump in hitting and so retained his leadership. Orsatti, his teammate, put in a full week in the outfield and dropped 30 points from his topheavy mark.

The consecutive hitting streak of Patterson of Tulsa came to an end with 35 games and he dropped a few points in the percentage column in consequence. Ginglardi of Denver and Henry of Omaha, among the leaders, also suffered setbacks.

Tied for Most Runs.

There is a close race among the contenders for most runs between Patterson and Sturdy, his teammate, with totals of 92 apiece, while Henry of Omaha and Ginglardi of Denver are respectively one and two behind them

There is the same close race for doubles, in which Wetzel of Des Moines is the leader with 35. A smash or two would bring Ginglardi, Henry and Brown of Omaha or Lewis of Tulsa on even terms with Wetzel.

The leading home run hitters, Sturdy and Blakesley, were unable to lift the ball over the fence this week. Omaha, Tulsa and Oklahoma City fell back together in team hitting, four points apiece, and Des Moines dropped five points to land at the bottom in team percentage at bat.

Brown Leads the Pitchers.

Brown of Oklahoma City added one victory to his string and remained the nominal leader of the Western league pitchers, but Blaeholder of Tulsa with seventeen has the most victories, followed by Hall of Denver with 15.

Leading hitters in the Western league: Blakesley, Omaha .420; Ginglardi, Denver, .390; Casey, Tulsa, .390; Henry, Omaha, .373; Patterson, Tulsa, .368; Brickell, Wichita, .367; O'Brien, Denver, .365; Compton, Wichita, .357; Sturdy, Tulsa, .355; Wetzel, Des Moines .354.

Berlenbach Passes Out as Possessor of Title

French-Canadian Fighting Gent From Connecticut Wrests Title Crown From Brow of Berlenbach; Victor Outboxes His Opponent and Qualifies With Ease for Official Decision.

BY DAVIS J. WALSH.

NEW YORK, July 17.—(I. N. S.)—Jack Delaney, nee Ovilla Chapelaine, fooled 'em, 45,000 of 'em, and that includes the wise ones from here to Banff.

Delaney would win, said long headed wise men from under their green eye-shades, but he would have to win early. If he failed to put Paulie to sleep before the sixth frame, Paulie would keep his glittering light-heavyweight crown. He would wear down the French-Canadian from Bridgeport with body punches, and he would depart with his scepter intact.

But Delaney fooled 'em. He went the full distance and right merily. Paulie was his sand-bag and, though he remained upright, Paulie lost the fight.

Paul Fought Too Cautiously.

Berlenbach, in his own ponderous way, did a little fooling of his own. He fooled the boys at the ringside, but, most of all, he fooled Jack Deloney, a very hard man to fool. He beat him out of a bull's eye, or a knock-out, as it is referred to in the vernacular. Burly Paul, showing the result of careful coaching, failed to resort to his crude shift which Monsieur Chapelaine solved with a knockout victory in their first meeting and a knockdown that was almost fatal in the second. That is how it came to pass that "Punch 'Em Paul," as he is affectionately described, escaped that which is worse than death to a champion—a knockout.

Rushing Tactics Missing.

The customers are agreed that last night's Berlenbach was a different Berlenbach than they had expected. Paul did not rush in where angels fear to stub their toes. He thought so much about evading that sure-shot right mitt that he forgot that it is the business, if not the duty, of a good box-fighter to do damage to his opponent. Paul did a lot of rushing, but little punching, with the result that a consensus of experts at the ringside gave him only two of the fifteen rounds. One was even.

The fight was really decided in the eleventh and twelfth rounds, which went to Delaney by a wide margin. Up to this point it more or less of a toss-up, with Delaney's advantage in the first five rounds being offset by Berly's rally from the sixth to the eleventh. Paul was giving the good old college try, but it wasn't so good.

Delaney the Better Boxer.

The new champion upset the calculations of the experts by boxing carefully in the first few rounds. And then in the closing rounds, when it was figured that Jack would be a weary athlete and Berlenbach would throw caution to the winds, Delaney utterly confused his opponent by driving home his best licks.

In defeat, Paul was a sportsman and Delaney a gracious winner. The fight was waged cleanly and with no show of animosity. There was no doubt that the better man won.

Berlenbach has no excuses. His friends advanced the theory that almost constant training for two championship fights, hardly more than a month apart, and a last-minute struggle to make weight had robbed him of endurance. Paul, however, fought better as a loser against Delaney than he did as a winner against Stribling.

Won the Fight On Science.

Delaney won on sheer, cold science. He easily outboxed Paul and carried him along at his own pace. Jack tried many a well meant smash for the chin. He landed many a shot, too. But Berly, rugged and tough as the forest oaks, took them and shook them off.

There isn't much for Delaney to do now, except to enter the honest-to-goodness heavyweight ranks. There are no light-heavies in sight who appear able to give him a battle.

Dempsey, Wills and Tunney appear to be pugilistically out for the nonce. Also for the time being.

New King Wears Crown.

NEW YORK, July 17.—(AP)—The world's light-heavyweight ring crown, jolted from championship heads five times in the last six years, found a new resting place today atop the handsome countenance of Jack Delaney of Bridgeport, Conn., whose real name is Chapdelaine.

A sensational victory, under the unanimous decision of the judges brought the roving diadem to Delaney before a capacity throng of 45,000 which paid $420,000 to see the rivals of two years' standing grapple last night at Ebbets field for the third time.

Popular Victory.

The verdict for Delaney, who only seven months before had failed to lift the championship crown from his rugged rival, was as popular as only such a victory could be for a ring warrior who had gathered around him probably the greatest following of any challenger since the days of Knockout Brown. And it came as fandom likes its heroes crowned—with a spectacular rally in the last five rounds of the 15 round struggle, after Berlenbach appeared to be closing in to duplicate the powerful finish he made last December against Delaney.

Won Despite Broken Thumb.

Delaney's impressive exhibition of ring craft, punching power and stamina was a conquest of more than a stout-hearted, iron-armed gladiator of the old puglistic school. It was a triumph over a tremendous weight advantage, surmounted despite the fracture of a small bone in his left thumb during the second round.

While officially the weight of Berlenbach was recorded as 174 1-4 and that of Delaney as 166¼, postponement of the fight one day, because of rain, actually gave the defending titleholder a margin of 12 pounds over his opponent. When they entered the ring Berlenbach tipped the scales at 181, six pounds over his class limit, while the challenger's mark was put at 169.

Delaney's Margin Decisive.

Delaney's margin on points was decisive, in the estimation of critics at the ringside. Up until the last five rounds, however, there was little to choose between them, as the big advantage of the challenger in the early rounds faded before the dogged, determined attack of the champion in the seventh, eighth, ninth and tenth.

Delaney opened with a sensational rally in the eleventh, sending a thrill through the throng by driving a terrific smash to the pit of the champion's stomach. That blow turned the tide of battle. Delaney had appeared to be tiring under the sledgehammer body punches of Berlenbach, but at this point Delaney stepped forth with renewed vigor, to pummel the titleholder with lightning lefts and rights.

Berlenbach Was Groggy.

Delaney repeatedly in the last five rounds nailed Berlenbach on the jaw with his famous right and once in the fourteenth it appeared as if the passing champion would crumple. But Berlenbach, who was knocked out two years ago in four rounds by Delaney and who was floored in their second battle last winter, weathered the storm of punches without going down.

The dethroned king held his title only a little more than a year. But his brief career was an eventful one and he achieved the reputation of being the most active champion in pugilism.

French-Canadian by Birth.

Delaney, 26 years old, and a French-Canadian by birth, has been boxing since 1919 to compile a record studded with notable knockout triumphs and two stunning defeats. In 1922 he was twice stopped—once by Augie Ratner and once by Young Fisher. But a year later Delaney redeemed himself by outpointing Ratner, while Fisher faded into obscurity as Delaney rapidly climbed the ladder.

Delaney's victory marks the passing of the title to its eleventh holder. Jack Root, the first champion, was knocked out by George Gardner, who held the crown until the great Bob Fitzsimmons strode up on the resined battlefield. Bob, in turn, was succeeded by Jack O'Brien.

Roster of Champions.

Jack Dillon mounted the throne after a period of inactivity, only to be outpointed by Battling Levinsky. Then came Georges Carpentier, Battling Siki, Mike McTigue and Berlenbach.

When the new champion was a preliminary boy an announcer pronounced his name to the best of his ability, as "Chap-de-lay-nie." The crowd got it as "Jack Delaney" and the name stuck.

Delaney's share of last night's fight is estimated at $70,000. Berlenbach receives something more than $150,000. During his career in the ring, Berlenbach has collected a quarter million dollars. He aims to enter the heavyweight ranks, having found it almost impossible to train down to 175 pounds.

O'Brieen Fooled By Delaney's Finish

NEW YORK, July 17.—(I. N. S.)—Philadelphia Jack O'Brien, a former light-heavyweight champion, was just as badly fooled as any layman by Jack Delaney's surprisingly strong finish in his fight with Paul Berlenbach last night.

O'Brien, an interested spectator at the fight, turned to friends at the end of the seventh round, when Berlenbach was making his strongest bid.

"Delaney is all shot," he said. "He had to win in the first five or six rounds. He can't hit a lick now."

Twenty minutes later, Delaney had Berlenbach fairly reeling. He seemed to be hitting several "licks."

O'Sheas Lose To Hawthorne Team

O'Shea-Rogers dropped a 6-5 game to the state reformatory on the Hawthorne diamond Thursday evening. The work of the two infields featured the game.

The O'Shea-Rogers club will play at Falls City Sunday. Manager Joe Munson is in the market for an out-of-town game for August 1. By innings:

O'Shea-Rogers	..1 0 0 2 2 0—5	10	2
Reformatory	....1 4 0 0 1 x—6	9	1

Last Night's Fights.

At New York—Jack Delaney decisioned Paul Berlenbach, light-heavyweight champion, 15 rounds; Ted oMore, British light-heavyweight, won from Jimmy Francis, Union City, N. J., eight rounds; Julius Weisse, German light-heavyweight, drew with Tommy Walsh, Dublin, four rounds; Arthur De Kuh, Italian heavyweight, knocked out Sergeant Jack Adams, St. Louis, in the second round. Monte Munn, Nebraska heavyweight, outpointed Gordon Munce, four rounds.

At Steubenville, Ohio—Pete Latzo, welterweight champion, knocked out Ted Nelson, Richmond, Va., in the fourth round.

At Tampa, Fla.—Pedro Campo, Philippine Islands, beat Hilario Martinez, lightweight champion of Spain, 10 rounds.

At Waterloo, Ia.—Harry Soo Quong Bill, Chino, won a newspaper decision over Eddie Lewis, Minneapolis, eight rounds.

At San Francisco—Lefty oCoper, Minneapolis middleweight, fought a draw with Charley Long, Omaha, 10 rounds.

Veteran Mound Corps Needed To Win Flags

BY AL DEMAREE.

Connie Mack's recent eleventh-hour trade, whereby he acquired Howard Ehmke, the elongated veteran hurler, from the Boston Red Sox, shows that Mack has finally seen the "handwriting on the wall."

I can't remember one club that ever won a pennant without a veteran pitching staff—the Chicago Cubs of 1906-7-8, the old Athletics of 1911-13-14, the New York Giants, Pittsburgh Pirates, Brooklyn Dodgers, the Washington Senators and other pennant winners.

The New York Yankees with Pennock, Hoyt, Jones and Shawkey, and the Cincinnati Reds with Rixey, Luque, Donohue and Mays, are demonstrating the value of a veteran pitching staff this year.

CHAMPIONS KEEP TENNIS LAURELS

BY CREGG McBRIDE.

Paul Mahood and Fred Archard retained the Lincoln tennis doubles crown Saturday morning when they defeated John Moritz and B. E. McProud in an after-breakfast match on the University of Nebraska courts. The city title-holders, however, had a strenuous battle on their hands, the champions winning, 6-4, 6-3, 5-7, 3-6, 6-4. It was the third consecutive time Mahood and Archard have copped the city doubles title.

Mahood and Archard started by taking the first two sets in a fairly easy fashion. McProud's drives were sailing wide of the white lines and the champions won the first two sets, 6-4, 6-3, never being headed during the play.

Challengers Win Third Set.

Moritz uncorked some sparkling overhead play during the third set and, with McProud taking his service consistently, the challengers pulled out the third set, 7-5, staving off a last-minute rally on the part of Mahood and Archard.

The fourth sent went to Moritz and McProud without much trouble. Moritz began steaming his first service across the net and the challengers seemed to take new life, pulling ou the fourth set by a 6-3 score.

The fifth and deciding set was a fairly even battle, Moritz and McProud having a 3-2 and 4-3 game-advantage, only to lose out when the title-holders began to crowd the net and score via the placement route.

Moritz Plays Brilliantly.

The work of John Moritz stood out prominently even in defeat, the former Seward player displaying some of the best overhead scoring shots uncovered during the present tournament. His service toward the close of the match was also good for an assortment of aces. McProud, erratic during the first two sets, found himself in the third and fourth, the veteran suburbanites deucing the game on three match points during the final set.

The Mahood-Archard combination worked much the same as in past years, the pair taking their stand at the net to score on cross-court smashes or drives, but rushing back on the defense when their opponents were driving to score. Mahood's overhead and Archard's work at the net factored materially in the victory.

Archard and Mahood worked their way into the finals by defeating Ralph Weaverling and Joe Stanton late Friday evening, 6-2, 6-3, 4-6, 6-3. Weaverling and Stanton defeated Kenneth Hattori and Sig North, 6-4, preceding the semi-final match, the set being a hang-over from a match halted by darkness Thursday evening.

Stanton vs. Mahood.

Paul Mahood, two-time state champion and former city champion, and Joe Stanton, veteran racqueteer, were scheduled to meet this afternoon in the final match for the singles trophy. It was the first time Stanton has reached single finals in city play.

Mahood won a decisive victory over Don Elliott in the Friday semifinals, 6-1, 6-2, 6-4. The state champion reached into his bag of tricks and pulled out a nice assortment of passing shots, kills and cross-court drives. He displayed the best game he has shown during his play on the university courts, his all-around game being close to faultless.

Stanton Defeats McProud.

The feature match of the afternoon was Joe Stanton's victory over B. E. McProud. Stanton stopped McProud in the fourth set with the game-score 5-5 and the set-call 2-1 in McProud's favor.

Stanton had McProud chasing all over the court, veteran Joe using a lobb and teasing chop for offensive and defensive play. A broiling sun beat down all the while and after McProud had staved off a set-point to deuce the set, he announced he would default.

LINKS TAKE RAP AT LOSING HABIT

Stueland Hurls Four-Hitter And Links Go the Pace Without Error.

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 17.—Exasperated by a string of seven straight defeats on their southern tour, the Links proceeded to take revenge yesterday by pummeling Roberts, Pillette and Lyons for 17 safe raps. Meantime, George Stueland was smothering the Indians, allowing only four scattered hits, and the Links romped home easy winners, 12 to 0.

The Links got after Roberts in the first round, when a walk to Zwilling, Purdy's triple and Gunther's double drove in two runs. The Zwillings repeated in the third registering a second pair of markers on another free pass and three safe knocks.

Roberts stood the gaff until the seventh, when the Links uncorked another bombardment and drove the Redskins' veteran pitcher to the shower. Successive triples by Zwilling, Purdy and Gunther manufactured three runs.

Jumped on Ted Pillette.

Ted Pillette, former Link, took a stiff lacing in the eighth, his ex-teammates plastering his slants for five hits and as many runs. Gottleber set the swatting pace for the Links with four hits, while Veltman, Purdy and Gunther each clouted three blows in one of the most effective hitting exhibitions on display this season at the Oklahoma City park.

Stueland had the Indians mystified in every inning with the single exception of the sixth. After hurling five hitless innings, Stueland allowed two hits and a free pass to fill the bases in the sixth after one Indian was out.

The Lincoln flinger pitched his way out of the hole, getting Conway on an easy popup and disposing of McDaniel on a high fly to Purdy.

Macks Close Up On Yanks; Trim Brownies Twice

PHILADELPHIA, July 17.—(AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics crept a little closer to the league-leading New York Yanks yesterday, by winning two games from St. Louis, 3 to 2 and 5 to 4. The Mackmen won both games by batting rallies in the third inning of each game, giving them the entire series of three games with the Browns. Red Hargrave of St. Louis hit a home run with one on base in the second game. The Athletics have won twelve of the last fourteen games played. by innings:

Yanks Win In Ninth.

NEW YORK, July 17.—(AP)—Staging another sensatoinal ninth-inning rally, which netted three runs, the Yanks nosed out Detroit yesterday, 4 to 3, giving them an even break in the four-game series. Johns pitched brilliantly for the Tigers, yielding only one hit in seven and two-thirds innings, but then lost control. Stoner, Cooper and Holloway succeeded him in the box and after Lazzeri's triple scored Ruth and Combs with the tying runs, Dugan drove out a single, bringing Lazzeri in with the winning tally. Lincoln Boxers On Dakota Card

Two Lincoln fighters—Check Fulmer and Sid Socklyn—are booked to do some mitten whirling on a glove program dated for Wednesday night, July 21, at Rapid City, S. D.

Socklyn is scheduled to mix with Mike Dale, former Grand Island welter, in the 10-round main event, while Fulmer, rising youngster in the welter division, will square off against Felix Byrnes of Sturgis, S. D., in an eight-round semi-windup.

LATZO TURNS IN ANOTHER 'KAYO'

Welter Champ Hangs Sleep Punch On Ted Nelson In Fourth Round.

STEUBENVILLE, O., July 17.—(INS)—Pete Latzo, welter champion of the world, had another knockout victory to his credit today. He put Ted Nelson, Richmond, Va., challenger, to sleep in the fourth round of a scheduled 19-round title bout here last night.

Paddy Mullins, manager of Latzo, announced after the fight that Latzo would meet Joe Dundee at the Yankee stadium, New York, September 7, but that Latzo would be a fighting champion and meet all comers prior to that date.

Fields Decisions Hall.

LOS ANGELES, July 17.—(INS)—Ringside critics gave every round to Jackie Fields of Los Angeles in his 10-round bout here last night with Roscoe Hall of Des Moines. A packed house witnessed the bout, which was a lively go from the start to finish, the Iowan testing Field's gameness to the limit.

Long Draw With Cooper.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 17.—(INS)—Following 10 rounds of clinching and listless fighting here last night, the referee called the affair a draw between Lefty Cooper, San Francisco, and Charley Long, colored boxer from Omaha.

"Par Sam" Plays "Kid" Pollard In Golf Title Final

OMAHA FIELD CLUB, Omaha, July 17.—(AP)—With the weather ideal and the difficult Omaha Field club course primed with its fearful hazards, "Par Sam" Reynolds, Omaha Field club ace, today met Jack Pollard, only survivor of Omaha's famous "kid threesome," in the finals of the annual Nebraska state golf tournament.

"Par Sam," a name attached to the veteran because of his uncanny ability to drop the elusive pellet in the cup consistently near at or below perfect figures, is after his seventh state title. And dope favors him, although Pollard's brilliancy in coming through a field of stellar stars stamps him to give the Field club veteran plenty of competition. Pollard reached the finals yesterday by downing Foye Porter, six and five.

Pollard Plots Revenge.

Another thought possessed the youthful Poolard as he teed off. That was the hope that he might be able to avenge the defeat of his friends, Frank Siedlik and Johnny Goodman, members of the "kid threesome," who were eliminated by "Par Sam's" deadly shots. Siedlik was eliminated in the third round, after a desperate battle, when Sam won the thirty-ninth hole after the regular 36-hole match found them tied.

Goodman, medalist of the tourney, failed miserably in the semi-finals yesterday, Reynolds beating him eight up and seven to play.

Reynolds Always Ahead.

Reynolds shot the first eighteen in 72 and Goodman in 74. In the afternoon round, however, Sam turned in a 36 for the first nine to Johnny's 40, and thne settled it all by halving the tenth and taking the eleventh with a five, while Johnny fumbled with a high seven.

Today's match play was 36 holes, eighteen holes this morning and eighteen this afternoon.

Reynolds Off In Lead.

Reynolds continued to live up to his sobriquet in the championship round, playing par golf. They halved the first hole, then Sam won the second and third and lost the fourth to Pollard, being one up on the 17-year-old star at the end of the fourth.

Pollard was shooting only one over par, but that was not good enough for sharpshooting Sam.

Sam continued to take the breaks and was two up on the youngster at the end of the ninth.

BURCH PROTESTS TO LEAGUE CHIEF

Omaha Magnate Complains Indians Not Observing Rookie Rule.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., July 17.—(AP)—Barney Burch, owner and manager of the Omaha Western league club, has entered a protest with Dale Gear, president of the Western league, on three games played at Oklahoma City July 10 and 11-11 on the grounds that Oklahoma City was not abiding by the rfookie rule.

Burch said Oklahoma City had only one rookie pitcher, Lyons, on the roster when his team played there. The Western league rule on this matter calls for two rookie pitchers.

Munce Target For Sound Beating By Monte Munn

BY JAMES L. KILGALLEN.

EBBETS FIELD, BROOKLYN, July 17.—Monte Munn of Lincoln, Neb., demonstrated last night before fifty thousand fight fans that he is no false alarm as a heavyweight championship prospect when he won a clean cut decision over Gordon Munce of New York, former amateur heavyweight champion, in a four-round bout. Munn knocked Munce down no less than seven times and throughout the battle had the New Yorker on the verge of a knockout.

The bout was on the same card as the Berlenbach-Delaney battle for the light-heavyweight championship of the world, which was won by Delaney, who got the decision after 15 rounds of milling.

Makes Good In East.

Munn made a distinct impression with the fans that jammed every nook and corner of Ebbets field. He will be in as much demand in the east from now on as Ace Hudkins.

The Nebraska ex-legislator was the first to enter the ring. He wore black tights and his opponent light blue. Munn weighed 208 pounds, Munce 196.

A few seconds after the opening bell, Munn landed a terrific right to the chin and the big blonde Munce sank to the floor. He took a short count and came back at Munn, who let him have rights and lefts to the face. Then the Nebraskan belted him a left to the jaw and Munce went down again, this time for a count of eight. He was taking a heavy bombardment when the bell rang and went to his corner groggy.

Munce Again On Floor.

The second round was replete with action and the crowd was on its feet throughout. Munce tried to spar, but Munn made a fight of it and, tearing in, shot a left hook and then a right cross and put Munce on the floor for the third time. This time Munce got up quickly, only to be put down by a smashing right flush on the jaw. Munce rolled over in the resin and seemed to be out.

Munn cooly waited for his opponent to get up, which he finally did, after taking a count of nine. Munn rushed his man and Munce started to sink under a flurry of blows, but grabbed the Nebraskan around the hips and saved himself. Munn straightened him up with an uppercut and then gave Munce a shove. Munce was so weak that the shove-punch put him down for the fifth time. Munce scrambled up quickly and Munn was measuring for a knockout at the bell.

The fourth round had no sooner started that Munn floored Munce again with a left hook. Munce took a count of five. He scrambled to his feet and managed to get in two good lefts, the only decent blows he had struck during the fight. He staggered groggily around the ring until the bell rang ending the fight. It was so clearly the Nebraskan's fight that the announcer did not go through the formality of announcing the winner. Both fighters were cheered as they left the ring.

Amateur Games At Landis Lot

Lincoln amateurs will pastime in another baseball doubleheader at Landis Field Sunday afternoon.

The Aro Rootbeers, after their warm tussle with the Shogo Lithias last Sunday, are set to give the Varsity Cleaners a tough engagement. The two teams will collide at 3:30 p. m. The M. W. A. 2266 team and Shogo Lithias will tangle in the curtain-raiser at 1:30 p. m.

LEADERS SLUMP IN BAT WIELDING

Blakesley Of Omaha In Rut Past Week, But Retains Lead With .420.

Blakesley of Omaha conducted a stubborn retreat during the week's play in the Western league. He was not alone in his slump in hitting and so retained his leadership. Orsatti, his teammate, put in a full week in the outfield and dropped 30 points from his topheavy mark.

The consecutive hitting streak of Patterson of Tulsa came to an end with 35 games and he dropped a few points in the percentage column in consequence. Ginglardi of Denver and Henry of Omaha, among the leaders, also suffered setbacks.

Tied for Most Runs.

There is a close race among the contenders for most runs between Patterson and Sturdy, his teammate, with totals of 92 apiece, while Henry of Omaha and Ginglardi of Denver are respectively one and two behind them.

There is the same close race for doubles, in which Wetzel of Des Moines is the leader with 35. A smash or two would bring Ginglardi, Henry and Brown of Omaha or Lewis of Tulsa on even terms with Wetzel.

The leading home run hitters, Sturdy and Blakesley, were unable to lift the ball over the fence this week. Omaha, Tulsa and Oklahoma City fell back together in team hitting, four points apiece, and Des Moines dropped five points to land at the bottom in team percentage at bat.

Brown Leads the Pitchers.

Brown of Oklahoma City added one victory to his string and remained the nominal leader of the Western league pitchers, but Blaeholder of Tulsa with seventeen has the most victories, followed by Hall of Denver with 15.

Leading hitters in the Western league: Blakesley, Omaha .420; Ginglardi, Denver, .390; Casey, Tulsa, .390; Henry, Omaha, .373; Patterson, Tulsa, .368; Brickell, Wichita, .367; O'Brien, Denver, .365; Compton, Wichita, .357; Sturdy, Tulsa, .355; Wetzel, Des Moines .354.
